BEER SELLERS GET WARNING ON VIOLATIONS

Reported Sales to Minors Cause Threat.

"ACROSS BAR" HELD ILLEGAL

Police Scrutiny Today May Bring Prosecutions.

An ultimatum to temporary licensees to cease immediately "across the bar" beer dispensing and reported sales to minors—including high school children—was issued last night by the District Commissioners.

The warning, issued through Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, came after word had come to the District Building that youths and girls of high school age had been sold beer by the glass and bottle and after protests of considerable beer business across the bar.

The Federal Dispensary Tax Reduction League, Inc., early in the day had filed with the Commissioners a complaint that "old saloon days" conditions were extant in many places throughout the city. Other complaints were said to have been made, verbally and in written form.

Bar Not Table, West Says.

Regulations permit "on sale" licensees to serve beer at tables. Vernon E. West, chairman of the beverage board, sharply disagreed yesterday with any theory that a bar might be loosely interpreted as a table under the ordinance.

During the day the number of temporary licensees of all types grew to 330. At this number, reached about 6 o'clock last night, the tired beer board adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

Meanwhile, the imbibing of the long prohibited fluid proceeded with increasing enthusiasm all over the city. Local brewing supplies gave out early in the afternoon. Baltimore beer trucks and some from Philadelphia kept most dispensaries adequately supplied.

Text of Bride's Warning.

"Numerous reports have come to the District authorities that many and serious violations of beverage permits are occurring. The police have been instructed to watch very carefully for violations. I am instructed by the Board of Commissioners to notify permitees that temporary permits which they have are subject to revocation without further hearing. In case violations are reported and proven, temporary permits will immediately be withdrawn and it then will be extremely difficult for permanent licenses to be issued to violators.

Proposal Goes to Congress Monday; $50,000,000 Would Start Work.

The terms of the Muscle Shoals-Tennessee Basin development bill, which will be sent to Congress Monday by President Roosevelt, were virtually agreed upon last night at a White House conference between the President and congressional leaders.

The bill will authorize experimental production of fertilizer at Muscle Shoals for three years. It also will carry provisions for reforestation, flood control, power development, navigational improvements and industrial and agricultural development in the Tennessee Basin. The navigational articles of the bill provide for dredging the Tennessee River and building dams to deepen it. Included in the power development there is understood to be a provision for the Government to build its own power transmission lines.

The bill will carry an original appropriation of $50,000,000 to start the project. Of this $2,000,000 will be spent at Muscle Shoals and $34,000,000 on the Cove Creek Dam. The Cove Creek project can be finished for this amount, it is estimated. An agency to be called the Tennessee Valley Authority is to be set up to carry out the work, which will require 40 to 50 years to complete.

John Eckler Is Selected Akron Bank Conservator

(Associated Press.)

John Eckler, former Pittsburgh banker, yesterday was appointed conservator for the first Central Trust Co. of Akron, Ohio.

Eckler's appointment was announced here last night by Jesse H. Jones, a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which plans to assist in forming a new bank at Akron. Eckler's appointment was made by the Treasury Department at the request of the Reconstruction Corporation.

Iowa Liberates Beer Passing Through State

Council Bluffs, Iowa, April 7 (A. P.).—A challenge by County Attorney Robert Organ of the legality of an interstate shipment of 3.2 per cent beer from one "wet" State to another across "dry" Iowa died late today after State officials at Des Moines had ruled the shipment was lawful.

Two truck drivers who had been arrested while driving 600 cases of beer from St. Joseph, Mo., to Marshall, Minn., were released, along with the beer.

Capitol at Raleigh Damaged by Winds

Six Airplanes Wrecked in Storm Which Tears Down Trees.

Raleigh, N. C., April 7 (A.P.).—Winds whipping out of the northwest in gale force early today ripped off a small section of the roof of the State Capitol, wrecked six of eleven Army airplanes parked at the Raleigh airport, blew down trees and did other damage in this vicinity.

At the height of the storm, accompanied by sharp electrical display and rain, a dairy barn at N. C. State College was burned to the ground.

The extent of the damage of the capitol had not been determined today, but it was thought to be only slight.

Rules Committee Backs Motion Picture Inquiry

(Associated Press.)

The Sirovich resolution calling for a broad congressional investigation of the motion picture industry and its financial affiliates yesterday received the approval of the powerful House Rules Committee.

Only adoption by the House remains to set up a select committee of seven representatives to conduct the inquiry, sponsored by Representative Sirovich (Democrat), of New York, playwright and scenario writer.

SUSPECT SHOT IN CHASE AFTER HOLDUP EFFORT

Motorists Block Robbery and Pistol Battle Follows.

ONE OF PAIR ESCAPES AT GASOLINE STATION

Detective Strange Captures Armed Man Cornered in Dark Alley.

A bold gasoline station holdup was frustrated last night and one of two bandit suspects was trapped in a dark alley by two bystanders after he had been engaged and wounded in a gun battle with an elderly delicatessen proprietor.

Jeremiah Breen, of no fixed address, was being held by police last night after treatment for a gunshot wound in the foot. He was said to have taken $15 at gun point from the till of a filling station at Ninth and N streets northwest.

The alleged bandit, according to witnesses, drove into the gasoline station while another car, unperceived by the purported robbers, was getting gasoline. Breen thrust a .38-caliber pistol in the face of Andre Fougnie, station attendant, and forced him into the small office.

Customers Become Suspicious.

Quickly Breen snatched the money and fled outside, it was said. Meanwhile three young men in the car obtaining gasoline had become suspicious, as had Max Fougnie, 32, brother of the attendant, who was waiting on the trio.

Fougnie and S. E. Leonardo, 27, attorney, one of the trio, flattened against the wall and let the holdup man go by. At this point the accomplice fled in the intended getaway car.

R. L. Stripling, 23, another of the trio, dashed into the nearby delicatessen store of Felice Caprino, 1256 Ninth street northwest. He yelled "hold up" and Caprino reached for his own gun and went forth to the rescue.

Caprino immediately came also face to face with the fugitive, deserted by his companion and at bay with the neighborhood in wild furore. Breen then fired three times. The bullets skidded across the concrete court of the filling station, witnesses said.

Chased Through Alleys.

Breen then fled down M street and Caprino fired after him, one of the shots taking effect. At this point Leonardo snatched the gun from Caprino and started in pursuit. He was quickly joined by Max Fourgnie.

Tennessee Indicts Trio In $100,000 Bond Loss

Nashville, Tenn., April 7 (A.P.).—Joseph I. Reece, former State commissioner of insurance and banking; his brother, Lem Reece, Elizabethton attorney, and J. P. Bowers, stock dealer, were indicted by the county grand jury today in connection with the alleged theft of $100,000 in bonds from the insurance department.

Charges against the former State official are grand larceny and receiving stolen property. Lem Reece is charged with accessory before the fact to both counts, and four accessory counts were made against Bowers.

BANK REFORM BILL READY NEXT WEEK

Steagall's Deposit Guarantee Plan Calls for Fund of $2,000,000,000.

(Associated Press.)

Bearing tacit administration approval of its principle, a sweeping bank reform measure based on the Glass banking bill and providing for a $2,000,000,000 corporation to guarantee Federal Reserve member bank deposits 100 per cent will be submitted to Congress next week.

Announcement of the proposal was made by Chairman Steagall of the House Banking Committee yesterday after a conference with President Roosevelt. Even as he spoke a Senate banking subcommittee was tentatively drafting the measure, which will be sponsored jointly by Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, and the Alabama Democrat.

"You may say," Steagall said, "that the proposal's principle is understood to have the approval of the administration."

"This bill is not in any sense a Government guarantee plan," he added, explaining that the $2,000,000,000 corporation would be formed with an initial capital of $500,000,000, along the line of Senator Glass' proposal which died in the last Congress. His bill called for the creation of a corporation for the liquidation of the closed banks.

As in the Steagall guarantee bank deposit bill that passed the House and failed in the Senate in the last Congress, the initial capital of $500,000,000 would be raised by requiring Federal Reserve banks to subscribe $150,000,000 of their surplus while the Treasury paid $150,000,000, representing a part of the earnings of the Federal Reserve banks paid in lieu of franchise taxes. The remaining $200,000,000 would come from a levy of one-fourth of 1 per cent on deposits in Federal Reserve banks.

Full Bloom Tomorrow, Is Cherry Tree Outlook

The Japanese cherry trees framing the Tidal Basin will be in full bloom tomorrow. This was the prediction—or possibly it should be the promise—made yesterday by A. Clyde-Burton, assistant chief of the parks division, National Park and Planning Commission.

Mr. Clyde-Burton also said the cherry blossom display this year will be far more beautiful than those of the last two years.

Jury Verdict Called Silly, Police Hold Brady in Death

Murder Is Charged in Slaying of Martin After Two Interpretations of Finding Are Given in Prince Georges County.

Although a coroner's jury, meeting in Marlboro, Md., late yesterday, accepted evidence of an alleged confession in the brutal slaying of Charles W. Martin, a railroad employe, of Tuxedo, Md., and failed to return a direct verdict, a formal charge of murder was placed against Oscar Brady, 28, of Bright Seat, Md., by Prince Georges County police last night. Brady was held in the Hyattsville Jail last night without bond.

Two interpretations of the verdict were given. Chief J. J. Crowley of the Prince George County police termed it one of "the most unusual verdicts" ever given in the county in view of the evidence submitted.

Allan Bowie, State's attorney, quoted the findings somewhat differently. He said the jury found that Martin came to his death "at the hands of a person or persons other than himself." Chief Crowley said the verdict read that Martin "came to his death by pistol shots at the hands of a person or persons unknown to any one except to the person himself." That, he explained, was "silly" on the face of it.

State's Attorney Bowie said Brady will face either the grand jury or have a perliminary hearing next Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Dawson, around whom the murder plot is alleged to have centered and who, it was reported, would marry Brady after obtaining a divorce from her present husband, was released under a bond of $500 in connection with the crime. Henry Fleming and Edward Smith, also held in the case, were released unconditionally.

MONEY-CREDIT STEPS STUDIED BY ROOSEVELT

SET PLAN, HOWEVER, NOT YET CONSIDERED

Unit May Be Established to Handle Good Going Values of Banks Still Closed.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

President Roosevelt feels strongly that some corrective action touching currency and credit may be desirable to offset deflationary forces recently set in action by Federal budget policies, but he has not yet given thought to any particular plan to accomplish this purpose.

Mr. Roosevelt does not like the word inflation, because there is nothing like a common understanding or agreement concerning the precise meaning of the term. He does feel, however, that something should be done to put more people to work as quickly as possible.

In this connection, he has given some thought to the possibility of a Federal liquidation corporation to handle the good going values of those banks still closed. He has given consideration also to suggestions for a Federal mortgage relief plan applicable to city property, possibly along the lines of the farm mortgage project submitted to Congress this week.

Others May Be Needed.

If the commodity bill achieves the desired end of increasing farm prices, the forces of reflation will be released over a considerable section of the country. But even beyond this and the civilian conservation program, the President feels, other measures of the same general character and purpose may be necessary. In this category also is the general public works program and the enlarged R. F. C. State-aid measure now before the House.

It is not impossible that if all of these measures fail to check declining prices, and to restore employment on something like a normal scale, other steps may force themselves forward for serious consideration by the administration.

Confusion Over Terms.

In discussing the question of inflation with newspapermen yesterday at his regular Friday press conference, Mr. Roosevelt made it plain there was nothing new to be said on the subject. All phases of the problem have been explored in public discussions during recent months. There appears to the President to be a great deal of confusion over terms.

Rudy Vallee's Wife Sued in Alienation

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—Fay Webb Vallee, wife of Rudy Vallee, was served with a summons in a $100,000 alienation of affections suit today as she boarded a train for the West Coast.

The actress was sued by Mrs. Kathleen Leon, who charges Mrs. Vallee with alienating her husband, Garfield Leon, a dancer.

Robber Obtains $300 In Holdup of Grocery

A young colored robber who announced his intentions by firing his revolver into the ceiling as he entered, held up Goodman Rubin, proprietor of a grocery store at 600 North Columbus street, Alexandria, and took about $300 from the cash register late last night.

In departing, the robber also used his revolver to speak a warning, firing again into the ceiling. He made his getaway before police arrived.

Flying Ace Sentenced In Alcohol Smuggling

San Antonio, Tex., April 7 (A.P.).—William T. Ponder, of Fort Worth, Tex., World War flying ace, was convicted today by a Federal court jury of smuggling alcohol from Mexico into the United States by airplane.

He was sentenced to six months in the Federal detention camp at La Tuna and fined $1,000.

NINE NATIONS' CHIEFS ASKED BY ROOSEVELT TO ECONOMIC TALKS

Hitler and Il Duce Are Included in Invitations.

BIDS TO MORE SEEN SHORTLY

(Associated Press.)

To capitals of nine great nations there sped last night invitations from President Roosevelt for their chiefs of government to join him at the White House in friendly conversations seeking the contributions each nation can make toward bettering world conditions.

Bidding for the support of the most powerful figures in the foremost nations in each part of the world, the President through the State Department added Germany's Adolf Hitler and Italy's Benito Mussolini to the list of famous statesmen invited to Washington to prepare ground for the momentous London economic conference this summer.

As Great Britain already has agreed to send Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald April 15 and Premier Daladier of France likewise has been asked to come, the President's latest action included the entire "big four" among the nations of Europe.

Japan and China Bid.

Turning to the Far East late in the day he dispatched similar invitations to Japan and China. At the same time three great neighbors to the south—Argentina, Brazil and Chile were handed invitations through their envoys.

The prospective conversations would not assume round-table form, but would be conducted individually.

As the President's bold effort assumed ever-increasing proportions, it was indicated at the State Department that other nations would be invited shortly.

While the Capital looked forward to an epoch-making succession of exchanges of international views, a definite American program of economic recovery took shape at the White House and the State Department. In working it out the President will depend to a large extent upon a bill which he soon will ask Congress to enact giving him broad authority to re-

Herriot Probably Will Come to U. S.

Premier Daladier Invites Him to Make Journey to Washington.

Paris, April 7 (A.P.).—Premier Edouard Daladier asked Edouard Herriot today to go to Washington for the Roosevelt-MacDonald discussions, and it was generally believed that M. Herriot would accept.

Berlin, April 7 (U.P.).—Doubt was expressed tonight that Chancellor Adolf Hitler personally would accept President Roosevelt's invitation to proceed to Washington for a joint conference on debts and other allied problems. The distance as well as the pressure of domestic problems would prevent Hitler's leaving the country at this juncture, well-informed observers believed.

Either Dr. Hans Luther, the new German Ambassador to the United States, or Vice Chancellor von Papen were regarded as likely heads of the German delegation to the proposed conference.

Society Girl and War Ace Are Hurt in Crash

Miss Evelyn Walker, prominent in Washington society, and Alan Winslow, war-time ace and writer, who were injured Thursday night when their car was demolished in a collision with a taxicab as they left the Spanish Embassy.

Evelyn Walker Injured More Seriously Than Alan Winslow.

Injured when her automobile and a taxicab collided in front of the Spanish Embassy Thursday night, Miss Evelyn Walker, socially prominent Washington girl, was treated at Emergency Hospital for severe lacerations of the head and face and taken to her home, 3028 M street northwest, where her condition last night was described as good.

With her at the time of the accident was Alan Winslow, war ace and writer, who was only slightly injured. The couple had just left the Spanish Embassy, where they had been dinner guests of Ambassador and Senora Cardenas.

Miss Walker, who, police say, was driving, had pulled into Sixteenth street from the embassy drive and was about to turn around at the intersection of Fuller street when the crash occurred. Both Miss Walker and Mr. Winslow looked around before the turn, they told police, but because of the rain and fog they were unable to see the approaching car.

At the impact their car was thrown to the other side of the street and demolished. The driver of the taxicab, George Queen, colored, 22, of 1241 Twenty-third street, was not injured.

Winslow, who was stunned by a blow on the head, told police that when he regained his composure Miss Walker was slumped over the wheel.

ATLANTA ARCHITECT TO SUCCEED HEATH

L. W. Robert, jr., Is Named Assistant Secretary of Treasury.

L. W. Robert, jr., architect and consulting engineer, of Atlanta, Ga., will be appointed Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of the public building program, it was said yesterday at the White House.

Mr. Robert's name probably will be sent to the Senate for confirmation Monday. He will succeed Ferry K. Heath, former Assistant Secretary appointed by President Hoover. Mr. Robert has been in Washington for several days to acquaint himself with the duties of the office. He has returned to Atlanta, but may come here Tuesday to be sworn into his new office.

There is a possibility, however, that much of the work done by his predecessor will be taken out of Mr. Robert's hands. The $700,000,000 public buildings program has been under the Assistant Secretary of the

MAYOR OF DETROIT GETS MANILA POST

The selection of Frank Murphy, Mayor of Detroit, as Governor General of the Philippines in place of Homer S. Cummings, Attorney General, was announced yesterday by President Roosevelt.

It is expected that Mayor Murphy's name will go to the Senate for confirmation when that body reconvenes Monday. The Filipino delegates to Congress would not comment on the Murphy appointment, except to say that his record seemed satisfactory. Selection of a Catholic to head the government of the preponderantly Catholic islands was considered pleasing to the Filipinos.

The selection of Mayor Murphy was preceded by a conference on Philippine affairs between the President, the island's representative and congressional leaders. The conferees declined to discuss the President's attitude on the Hawes-Cutting independence bill, but there is reason to

MACON TRIAL FLIGHT POSTPONED 3 DAYS

By HARRIS B. HULL.

The Navy Department yesterday postponed for three days the trial flights of the new queen of American skies, the dirigible Macon, to avoid having the recently christened ship make her inaugural trip on the day the special board of investigation convenes at Lakehurst to study the Akron disaster.

Originally scheduled for Monday the first trial flight now "has been scheduled to take place at sunrise Thursday, April 13, weather permitting," according to a statement issued at the Navy Department yesterday afternoon.

And when the Macon first emerges from the giant airship dock at Akron preparatory to being launched into the air for the first time, Lieut. Comdr. Herbert Victor Wiley will be on board the sister ship of the ill-fated Akron to apply his experience in the maneuvering of the new dirigible. Nothing could be more symbolical of naval tradition and discipline.

Moffet Ideal Perpetuated.

No more striking demonstration of the ideals of Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, as he expressed them in his oft-stated phrase, "Carry on!" possibly could be presented. The thoughts that will race through Wiley's mind as he stands at his post in the control room of the Macon just a few hours more than nine days after he was hurled through a window of the Akron and into the icy waters of the Atlantic, and hears Commander Alger H. Dresel give the order "Up ship!" for the first time, to the Macon crew, only Wiley will ever know.

Members of the board of inspection and survey of the Navy Department who will be on board the Macon next Thursday will be Rear Admiral George C. Day, U. S. N., president of the board; Capt. W. P. Robert, Capt. Nathaniel H. Wright, Commander E. L. Hill, who will serve as recorder; Lieut. Comdr. H. W. Olds, Lieut. Comdr. T. P. Jeter, Lieut. Comdr. R. S. Hitchcock and Lieut. Walter E. Zimmerman, all of the Navy.

Shed Tests Are Made.

In addition to Wiley, one other naval officer destined to play an important part in the investigation of the Akron disaster will be on board the Macon Thursday. He is Commander Sydney M. Kraus, manager of the Naval Aircraft Factory and a member of the Akron board of inquiry. Both Wiley and Kraus received orders March 7, before the crash of the Akron, to report to the president of the board of investigation and survey to participate in the new ship's first trial flights. And although one of them will be obliged to give testimony to the Akron board of inquiry and the other to hear that testimony next Monday, they will also carry out their previous orders.

At the present time shed tests are being made on the Macon in the hangar of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Co., builders of the ship. These are being supervised by Lieut. Comdr. Thomas G. W. Settle, U. S. N., naval inspector of aircraft.

Following completion of the trial flights the Macon will make her first flight as a unit of the Nation's air defense as soon as the builders and the captain of the ship, Commander Alger H. Dresel, report that she is ready.

Deep Water Port Sought for Miami

(Associated Press.)

An entirely new trade route to Central and South America was outlined yesterday by Miami (Fla.) municipal and civic body representatives before a board of Army engineers considering proposals to make Miami a deep water harbor.

The Floridians contended fruit and other cargo shipments from various Southern points would have an easier and cheaper outlet for the European market once Miami had a channel which would accomodate transatlantic liners.

The Miami delegation, headed by Mayor Redmond Gautier, yesterday submitted a modified plan which called for deepening of the channel from 25 feet to 30 feet, and widening from 200 feet to 300 feet. The engineer board will make its report to the chief engineer within the next few weeks for final decision.

her head and face covered with blood. With the aid of Henri de Sibour, who had been attracted from the embassy by the sound of the crash, Miss Walker was taken into the embassy and given first aid. Later she was taken to the hospital by Winslow, and it was found that she had suffered a severe laceration of the head and bruises about the body.

At her home last night it was said she was resting easily, though her injuries were still very painful. Mr. Winslow was given first aid treatment at the Embassy for a bruise on the head, not at all serious, police said.

Other guests at the dinner which Miss Walker and Mr. Winslow had been attending were Mr. and Mrs. Parker Gilbert, Assistant Secretary of Navy Henry Latrobe Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt, Senor Don Romano Padilla, second secretary at the Embassy, and Mr. and Mrs. Henri de Sibour.

Miss Walker was introduced to Washington society in November, 1927, by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker. She is an ardent horsewoman and has traveled extensively.

Mr. Winslow, a lieutenant in the World War, was the first American flier to shoot down an enemy plane. He lost an arm in a crash behind the German lines on July 31, 1918, and spent the remainder of the war in a German prison camp. He is now connected with the State Department and spends his spare time writing.

Akron Survivors' Stories Told to House Committee

Chairman Vinson Resents McClintic's Use of Word "Whitewash" in Connection With Inquiry; Last Conversation of Moffett Expressed Faith in Ship.

(Associated Press.)

How huge girders buckled and cracked, broken wires lashed the air and the crew worked swiftly to keep the giant airship Akron from dropping into the sea with 76 men aboard was told to the House Naval Committee yesterday by the only 3 men who survived the tragedy.

Their stories were recited under oath and were couched in simple language, free, with one exception, of any indication that anybody was frightened. They agreed that each man stuck to his job until the end. Then one of the three jumped into the water, tearing his way through the fabric covering of the ship.

With the testimony of these three men—Lieut. Comdr. Herbert V. Wiley, executive officer; Richard E. Deal, boatswain's mate, and Moody E. Erwin, metalsmith—the Naval Committee began its investigation.

Just as this investigation started, the Rules Committee heard Representative McClintic (Democrat), Oklahoma, employ the word "whitewash" in connection with the investigation. Appearing before the Rules Committee in behalf of his resolution to set up a special House committee for the investigation, McClintic said:

"The Naval Committee was severely criticized for its attitude in whitewashing the Shenandoah disaster. A committee ought to be appointed that will be willing to go to the bottom of this."

Chairman Vinson, leaving his investigation long enough to appear before the Rules Committee and oppose McClintic's plan, remarked that he was "embarrassed" by the Oklahoman's move.

"It seems to me that Mr. McClintic is seeking to cast reflection on the Naval Committee," Vinson continued. "I resent the thought that any member of the House can't render a just and fair investigation. This talk about being influenced by the Navy viewpoint is foolish."

Not once in their testimony did any of the survivors intimate he had had enough of airships. Wiley, in civilian clothes, read to the committee the statement he presented Thursday to Secretary Swanson, adding that when the committee begins cross-examination next Wednesday he hopes to have more to say.

Then the stockily built Deal, clad in his blue, big-collared sailor uniform, told one of the most dramatic stories that has come from the accident.

He had the last reported conversation with Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of naval aeronautics, who went down in the Akron's midnight plunge. Moffett told him less than four hours before the trouble began, Deal said, that he was fond of flying on the Akron, and that it was "much better than the Shenandoah."

Then in his chronological report of what had happened, Deal said that after standing by for a time with a fire extinguisher to keep the ship from catching fire when lightning struck the radio antenna, he took advantage of being off duty by smoking a pipe and resting in his bunk.

"I happened to be looking up and noticed the No. 7 cell (which contained helium) was swishing quite more than usual," he said. "While looking at this cell the ship gave a terrific lurch sideways and longitudinal girders seven and eight gave way as well as some of the wires."

The gasoline tanks came loose, and he started to clip them entirely free of the swishing wires, but decided to go forward. When he got about two-thirds of the way up in the ship he met others of the crew.

"The ship was falling quite rapidly now, and I knew she was to crash. About five or ten seconds before she crashed the lights went out in the keel. I retained my stand on the keel and then heard a noise aft and then water hit my feet."

In some way he was washed free by the surging water, caught hold of a gasoline tank and stayed with it until he was picked up by the German tanker Phoebus. Erwin rode to safety on the same tank.

A somewhat similar story was told by Erwin, the youngest of the three survivors. He admitted, though, that several hours before the fall, while he was helping steer the ship, "the lightning flashes would blind and frighten me for a minute."

Lieut. Comdr. Herbert G. Wiley left Washington by airplane yesterday afternoon and went to Lakehurst for the court of inquiry sessions beginning Monday.

BIG DRIVE ON POSTAL DEFICIT UNDER WAY

(Associated Press.)

A drive to convert the customary deficit in the Postoffice Department into a surplus—lifting from Congress the need of reaching into its pocket each year for an appropriation—is under way in a series of conferences between administration chieftains.

Those participating are President Roosevelt, Postmaster General Farley and Lewis Douglas, Director of the Budget. A decision is expected within a short time on the contribution the department can make toward putting the entire Federal Government on a cost-of-operation basis.

During the fiscal year ended last June 30 the department's deficit was $205,550,611. Indications are it will be $126,500,000 this year, and, on the basis of present conditions, $72,000,000 next year.

It is considered possible in informed quarters that an attempt may be made to trim expenditures during the next fiscal year so that a saving of as much as $100,000,000 may result.

An investigation also is going on within the department in conjunction with congressional leaders to determine whether the 2-cent postage rate for first-class mail should be reestablished instead of the present 3-cent rate, which went into effect last July.

It was explained authoritatively, however, that if extensive reductions are to be effected—as much as $100,000,000 for instance—it would be necessary to cut the personnel and curtail certain services of the department to its patrons.

In only nine years since 1837 has the department reported a surplus. The last was $73,734,851 in 1919.

Roosevelt and Mellon Discuss World Affairs

(Associated Press.)

Andrew W. Mellon, retiring ambassador to Great Britain and former Secretary of the Treasury, called on President Roosevelt yesterday and discussed the general situation.

Mellon said his visit was the customary call of a returning ambassador upon the President, "and I was glad to make it."

Last Moro Outlaw In Ambush Caught

Manila, P. I., April 7 (A.P.).—Aimman Saccam, sole survivor of the outlaw Moro band which ambushed a detachment of constabulary men last October 9, killing 12 officers, surrendered today. In fighting which followed the ambush, more of the rebellious tribesmen were involved and 50 more lives lost.

Saccam told Capt. Leon Angeles, at Jolo in the southern islands where the outbreak occurred, that his five remaining followers would surrender tomorrow.

The outbreak, the most serious of its kind in recent years, resulted in the sentencing to prison for murder of Datu Abdulla. His son, Imman Ibba, led the ambush.

Galsworthy's Estate Valued at $306,000

London, April 7 (A.P.).—The estate of the late John Galsworthy was valued at £88,587 (approximately $306,000) it was disclosed today with the filing of the will.

His bequests were not disclosed, but it was stipulated that no biography may be published without the consent of Mrs. Galsworthy.

BLANKET LAW GIVES HITLER MORE POWER

New Authority Spells Doom of Reich as Created by Bismarck.

Berlin, April 7 (U.P.).—The cabinet tonight approved a new "gleich schaltung" law, clothing Chancellor Adolf Hitler with even greater powers and virtually dealing a death blow to the Reich as conceived by Bismarck.

The law is the most important constitutional change which the Hitler government, in its brief but dramatic career, has yet attempted. It confers upon the chancellor power which neither Bismarck nor any of the kaisers enjoyed.

Whatever remains hereafter of the federal character of the Reich will be almost negligible. Hitler or his aids will control every State in the federation, with the chancellor omnipotent.

The term "gleich schaltung" is untranslatable. It means the proportional adjustment of any elective body in accordance with the ratio of the March 5 elections. The Nazi majorities in those elections in all sections of the country, hence the adjustment will give them full control of all elective bodies.

The law goes into effect immediately on publication.

Under the new law, the State legislatures will not be able to turn out their local government, to be appointed by Hitlerites.

The "gleich schaltung" empowers the Reich president, on the nomination by the chancellor, to appoint the State governors. The governors are empowered to dissolve the State diets, or legislatures, and fix new elections. They may prepare and promulgate State laws, appoint or discharge judges and other officials and grant pardons. The governors and their cabinets are immune to ouster by nonconfident votes in the diets.

Wallace Calls Parley Of Milk Experts Here

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Wallace last night issued an invitation to milk processors and producers to meet with him Monday to discuss problems which have beset the industry as a result of falling prices.

The discussion will range about the relief plans contemplated for all basic commodities under the administration farm relief plan as passed by the House. The bill proposes authority for Wallace to set up specific relief methods best adapted to different farm products. It awaits action by the Senate.

Roosevelt Warned Mob Perils 'Scottsboro Boys'

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—Charges that "Ku Klux Klan lynch mobs are being organized to murder the Scottsboro boys" were contained today in a telegram to President Roosevelt sent by William L. Patterson, secretary of the International Labor Defense.

Walker Expected To Wed Thursday

Ceremony May Take Place at Cannes Before Easter Season.

Nice, France, April 7 (A.P.).—Friends expect former Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, and Betty Compton to be married at the Cannes City Hall April 13, with Michael Arlen and Norma Shearer mentioned as likely witnesses.

Arlen's villa is near that of Miss Compton, and Miss Shearer is now visiting at Cap Antibes.

Walker has not revealed his plans, but his friends point out that unless he is married April 13 he will be unable to do so before April 18 on account of the Easter holidays.

3 AIR CRASH VICTIMS BURIED WITH HONORS

Rites Held for MacLellan, of Akron, and Bettio and Cummins, of Blimp.

Three of the victims of Tuesday's naval aviation disaster were buried yesterday in Arlington National Cemetery.

And as searchers completed their fourth day of fruitless combing the Atlantic without recovering any more of the officers and crew of the Akron, naval experts last night deemed it not improbable that their graves might always be in the sea. However, plans for a group memorial service are still being held in abeyance until more definite word is received from the ships combing the area off Cape May, N. J.

Pasquale T. W. Bettio, an aviation chief metalsmith who was drowned when the blimp J-3 crashed into the ocean, was buried at 10:30 a. m. Lieut. Thomas J. Knox, of the Marine Barracks, Quantico, Va., officiated at the funeral, which was held with full military honors.

Early in the afternoon Lieut. Comdr. Harold E. MacLellan, whose body has been the only one so far recovered from the Akron tragedy, was buried. Capt. Sydney K. Evans, Chaplain Corps of the Navy, officiated.

At 2:15 p. m. services for Lieut. Comdr. David E. Cummins, commanding officer of the J-3, were held. These were officiated over by Lieut. S. W. Salisbury, Chaplain Corps. Honorary pallbearers, the same who served for Lieut. Comdr. MacLellan, were: Lieut. Comdr. E. D. Gibb, M. L. Lewis, A. T. Moen, H. S. Kendall, M. R. Browning and F. J. Fowler. Among the scores of wreaths laid on Commander Cummins' grave was one which bore the inscription: "From Lieut. Comdr. Elmer F. Stone and his crew of the Coast Guard airplane Sirius, F. F. Crump, J. A. Webber and H. B. Hull." The Sirius landed at sea off Barnegat Point, recovering Cummins' body. Attempts at resuscitation failed.

ECONOMIC PARLEYS TO DRAW 9 NATIONS

duce the tariffs in return for trade concessions in other lands.

Premier MacDonald has arranged to sail a week from today, while France is still considering her invitation extended three days ago through Ambassador Paul Claudel.

The bids to the powerful dictators of Italy and Germany were dispatched yesterday through Ambassadors Augusto Rosso and Friederich W. von Prittwitz und Gaffron, who received the word orally from Undersecretary William Phillips at the State Department.

In all cases the invitations were phrased in such a way that it would be readily possible without embarrassment for Hitler or Mussolini to send official representatives if unable to come themselves.

Definite American Program.

Indication has been given that every nation with which the United States has diplomatic relations will be welcomed at Washington to discuss during the coming weeks the matters which will be taken up at the world monetary and economic conference at London this summer. Apparently the fact that the United States does not recognize Russia means that country will not be invited, although it is to participate in the London conference. This, at least, was the indication given in a high official quarter.

A definite American program will be laid before the visitors, although with an entire readiness to adjust it to their respective views and needs, and with no desire to force it upon the rest of the world unwanted.

Key points in this broad program, the details of which are only just now taking shape, include restoration of a stable international money standard, checking of the fall in prices, resumption of the movement of capital, removal of restrictions on international trade, abandonment of excessively high tariff policies and organization of production and trade to prevent the accumulation of great world surpluses. Meanwhile, a bill has been drafted by the State Department for a change in present tariff regulations, but this not not yet been given the approval of the President.

Navy Yard Supporters Confer With Roosevelt

(Associated Press.)

Prompted by reports that the navy yards at Portsmouth, N. H., Boston and Charleston, S. C., might be closed, the Maine and New Hampshire congressional delegation conferred yesterday with President Roosevelt on the subject.

Mrs. Jane Bonnevalle Asks Divorce at Reno

Reno, Nev., April 7.—Mrs. Jane Pickett Gould Bonnevalle filed a petition for a divorce here today from Richard W. Bonnevalle, 2633 Fifteenth street northwest, Washington, D. C. She charged him with cruelty. The couple were married in San Francisco on January 14, 1929.

In 1925, Mr. Bonnevalle, as special agent in the Department of Commerce, was named assistant administrator general of Persian finance.

Yule Savings Accounts Have Status as Others

Christmas savings accounts in Washington banks now in the hands of conservators are in exactly the same status as commercial or regular savings accounts in those banks.

In response to inquiries it was learned by The Post that the Christmas accounts can not be withdrawn nor can the closed banks accept further deposits.

With the reopening of the banks resumption of deposits will be allowed. In the event that a bank does not reopen and its assets are liquidated, Christmas savings depositors will receive the same proportionate amount as though their accounts were commercial or savings.

President to Give Back 15 Per Cen of Own Pay

What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander, and President Roosevelt is turning back 15 per cent of his first salary check to the Treasury, he said yesterday.

His check for $843 was made out and ready to be sent to the Treasury Department. Law prevents a reduction of the President's salary, but he is determined to take the same 15 per cent slash he meted out to the Government workers in the interest of economy. The $843 is the amount of the cut in his monthly pay of $6,250.

MILITANT FARMERS DEMAND GUARANTEE

Group Invades Capitol With Intention of Forcing Through Program.

(Associated Press.)

A group of self-styled militant farmers, representing organizations in various parts of the country, invaded the Capitol yesterday with the announcement that they intended to force through legislation which would guarantee them the cost of production.

J. F. Botkin, of Hancock County, Ill., acting as spokesman for the group of 40, said they were determined to remain in Washington "a month or more—until such a bill is passed."

Botkin said they represented the Farmers Union, the Holiday Association, the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool, and the Council of Defense, a new secret society of farmers in the Northwest.

The men now in Washington, he added, are from South Dakota, North Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Montana, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Ohio, Indiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Nebraska, Kansas, Pennsylvania and New York.

"We can't make any money on the farm now," Botkin said. "All the past legislation has been put through by farm organization leaders, who have forgotten the troubles of the people they're supposed to represent.

"We intend to get action on our program, or stay here until we do. We're not earning a living back home. We might as well starve here as home."

Antisweat Shop Bill Up to Lehman

Minimum Wage Measure Goal of 20 Years' Labor Battle.

Albany, N. Y., April 7 (A.P.).—A minimum wage bill intended chiefly to aid the women and children employed in sweatshops and loft factories of New York City was passed and sent to Gov. Lehman today by the New York Legislature. It is the first legislation of that character passed in the State.

The bill, with which Mr. Lehman is in sympathy, sets up a wage director in the labor department and provides for wage boards to review conditions and recommend wages for women and children. Failure of the manufacturers to abide by the minimum wage established make them liable to fine and imprisonment.

SENATE FARM BILL DEBATE IS OPENED

(Associated Press.)

Immediate approval of the vital Roosevelt farm relief program to build "a realistic path onward and upward" to prosperity was asked of the Senate yesterday by Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic chieftain, opening debate on the broad bill.

He took over the leadership in the Democratic drive to press the plan to prompt passage as the House Agriculture Committee was favorably reporting the $2,000,000,000 mortgage relief measure to the floor for consideration.

The mortgage bill and the administration proposal for lifting farm prices to 1909-1914 levels are combined in one measure for the Senate, which will resume its study on Monday with hopes of passage by midweek or a day or so later.

Addressing himself to the price-lifting sections of the bill yesterday, Robinson conceded it was "an untrod path" as labeled by President Roosevelt in sending it to Congress, but contended its broad powers for administrative action were necessary to meet conditions.

Senate Republicans, among whom considerable opposition to sections of the bill has developed, set up a special committee under Senator Carey, of Wyoming, yesterday to go over the program and report back at a conference on Monday.

Administrative procedure under the bill was discussed at the White House, meanwhile, by Secretary Wallace, Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois; Bernard M. Baruch, financial authority, and George Peek, of Moline, Ill., farm-relief adviser.

Robinson opened the campaign in behalf of the bill on the floor after Chairman Smith (Democrat), South Carolina, of the Agriculture Committee, who opposed it, had given a lengthy explanation and intimated his objections to it had not abated.

"Sacrifice Killing" Jury Is Selected in Kentucky

Inez, Ky., April 7 (A.P.).—A jury of twelve men and an alternate from adjoining Johnson County was completed late today in Martin County Circuit Court to try nine relatives indicted after the "sacrifice slaying" of Mrs. Lucinda Mills, 68.

No women were among the venire of 50 summoned from Johnson County after only one man, W. D. Copley, had been accepted from a Martin County venire of 30, which had included several women. Copley was dismissed when selection of the Johnson County jury was begun.

Crop Loan Rules Relaxed in West

(Associated Press.)

Regulations for crop production loans in Montana, North and South Dakota and Minnesota were relaxed yesterday under an agreement drawn by Henry Morgenthau, jr., Farm Board chairman, and Dr. C. W. Warburton, in charge of loans for the Agriculture Department.

They announced that borrowers in the four States who obtained Government loans for crop production in previous years but did not produce enough at current prices to repay their loans and now have on hand sufficient seed and feed for use this spring, will be given credit on past-due indebtedness for the value of seed used for sowing this year. A seed lien for the amount will be required.

Borrowers whose crops in 1932 were so short that they do not now have seed and feed, and need money for the purchase of seed, will be granted loans, providing each is secured by a lien on this year's crop.

Norway to Withdraw From East Greenland

Oslo, Norway, April 7 (A.P.).—The Norwegian government has decided to withdraw from occupation of the disputed territory, "Land of Eric III," in East Greenland, in view of a decision of the Permanent Court of International Justice in favor of Denmark.

The Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague this week decided in favor of Denmark in that nation's dispute with Norway over the possession of East Greenland.

Bill Cutting Car Fees Sent to Gov. Murray

Oklahoma City, April 7 (A.P.).—The State Senate and House today passed and sent to Gov. W. H. Murray a bill providing for reduction in motor license fees on every car in Oklahoma.

The bill cuts present rates $2.50, with a greater reduction on cats more than four years old. It also removes the highway speed limit, now 45 miles an hour.

MONASTERY PLANS SERVICE OF PALMS

After Blessing Tomorrow Procession Will Honor Christ's Entry.

Holy Week, with its impressive religious ceremonies commemorating the sacred passion and death of the savior, will be solemnly opened tomorrow morning at the Franciscan Monastery at 9 o'clock.

The blessing of the palms, one of the most imposing blessings in the liturgy of the church, is contained in a series of prayers in which the victory of Christ over death is referred to and petition made that wherever the branches are brought the dwellers there may be blessed.

After the blessing of the palms there will be a procession in commemoration of the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem. Returning to the church, solemn high mass will be celebrated, during which three deacons will chant that part of St. Matthew's Gospel which so minutely describes the events leading up to the crucifixion.

In the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock there will be compline and solemn benediction.

Six Wives Fail to Dim This Man's Love Quest

Sallisaw, Okla., April 7 (A.P.).—Waymond Anderson, 44, of Webber Falls, Okla., is Sequoyah County's best marriage license customer. He made his seventh trip here today, obtaining a license to wed Miss Bessie Beard, 23, of Webber Falls.

"I just can't bear to be without a wife," he told Horace Moor, county clerk, who verified his record. Anderson, however, did not explain what happened to his six previous spouses.

German Ship Line Head Resigns.

Bremen, Germany, April 7 (A.P.).—The North German Lloyd steamship line announced today that Philip Heineken had resigned as president "because of advancing age and taking into account the requirements of the new era." Oscar Plate was appointed acting president.

MICHIGAN MAN GETS LIFE IN SLAYING OF 3

Teacher Confesses Murders and Is Tried Within 24 Hours After Crimes.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 7 (A. P.).—Unperturbed, without a word of comment, a 43-year-old schoolmaster today stood in Superior Court and heard himself sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for the remainder of his life, less than 24 hours after he had slain, in a mad frenzy, three members of a family who shared his home.

The sentence—the most severe in Michigan's penal code—was passed on Henry B. Bedford, for the past three years principal of the Turner Grade School, following the slaying yesterday of Mrs. Mattie Sue Bengert, 28, her son, Carl, 8, and a 3-month-old infant son, Thalbert. A love quarrel, Bedford admitted, preceded the violent deaths.

What promised to be an involved murder mystery cleared rapidly this morning following Bedford's confession. The bodies of Mrs. Bengert and the two children were found yesterday by her husband, Carl, as he returned to the home three days after a quarrel with his wife. He said he had accused Bedford of "making love" to her, and Bedford had ordered him from the home.

Mrs. Bengert and Carl had been strangled. The infant was placed in an oven in the kitchen stove and the gas burners opened. On two chairs near the oven lay Bedford, unconscious from inhaling gas. Bengert called police and Bedford was taken to a hospital, where he revived. He said he believed he had been poisoned by food eaten at lunch in the home and the poisoner had slain the three.

Today Prosecutor Bartel J. Jonkman went to his hospital bed and questioned him at length. He said Bedford, after some conversation, quietly confessed the slayings.

"I guess I went mad," Prosecutor Jonkman quoted Bedford as saying. "Mrs. Bengert told me, 'I'll never live with you, and I won't go back to my husband.'"

2 Deputies Guilty Of Rum Conspiracy

Sheriff of Alabama County and 16 Other Citizens Are Acquitted.

Huntsville, Ala., April 7 (A.P.).—Sheriff Ben Giles and sixteen other citizens of Madison County were acquitted and two of the sheriff's deputies were convicted on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws in United States District Court here today.

The jury convicted Chief Deputy Sheriff Walter Sanders, Deputy Ed. Stiles and a third defendant, Pete Miller.

Three members of a prominent Huntsville family, Morton, Willard and Vernon Hutchens, operators of a hardware store, were convicted last night on charges of manufacturing stills for liquor-making operations.

Trade Stimulated as Beer Puts More Cash to Work

Economic Expectations Are Being Realized; One Factory, Idle for Several Years, to Reopen Monday; Some States Report Shortage of Brew.

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—Beer was back in three-sevenths of the Nation tonight, and an industry almost idle for 13 years began clicking in high gear.

Taxing bodies, brewery bookkeepers and others reaping the golden harvest were too busy to do much counting up, but there was widespread evidence that so far the economic expectations were being realized.

Beer advertising continued to swell the size of newspapers in many cities, boosting one New York paper to 52 pages, another to 44 and a third to 40. Still another put out a 12-page roto-gravure beer section, filled with advertising.

The Milwaukee Journal, crammed with advertisements of breweries and allied industries, published the largest regular week-day paper printed in Milwaukee since September 19, 1930—68 pages.

But advertisements of beer, beer accessories and such things as rye bread and cheese were not entirely responsible.

Dun & Bradstreet's reported a general spring pickup in business, and said expanding activity in a wider diversity of lines has brought business in some branches to new high levels for the year.

Wall street was watching the beer industry closely as a possible stimulus to general business.

From Wheeling, W. Va., came a report that the Central Glass Co.'s factory, idle for several years, will resume operations Monday with 70 men to fill orders for beer mugs and other bar goods.

In California an estimated sale of 1,200,000 barrels of beer the first year was figured for a State revenue of $775,000.

Chicago brewers estimated $5,000,000 had been put in circulation there already, while a newspaper said that 40,000 men had been put back to work in Illinois and that $9,000,000 more would be spent on brewery equipment.

The Governor of Ohio said he anticipated the beer tax would bring in $7,000,000 a year for his State.

By noon New York City had issued 15,473 permits for the sale of beer and had taken in $175,000.

Philadelphia had issued 4,000 licenses.

The first day's license receipts in Baltimore came to $46,125.

Evidence that the demand far exceeded the supply of the new brew came from many sources.

Many of the thousands of New York City and suburban outlets ran out early in the afternoon.

In Los Angeles a shortage developed within a few hours after Jean Harlow, platinum blonde film actress, crashed a filled bottle against the side of a brewery truck, the first to leave with a cargo.

In St. Louis many restaurants found their refrigerators beerless by noon and were unable to order more because of the difficulty of getting telephone connections to breweries.

Beer came and was gone within a few hours in Oregon. There are only two breweries in the State and their total supply had been 94,000 pints.

In Indianapolis, because of the unavailability of the beverage, celebrations were postponed until tomorrow night.

Business Upgrade Seen Through Beer

Mrs. Norton Makes Address to Washington Advertising Club.

"With the return of beer we have the beginning of the upturn of business," Representative Mary T. Norton, chairman of the House District Committee, told the Washington Advertising Club yesterday.

"I am happy," she said, "to have been on the committee that played a part in bringing back beer to the District of Columbia. In all the confusion and trouble of the past few years the one thing the American people have had and have held to is courage. This has been intensified to a remarkable extent by the acts and spirit of President Roosevelt, who has told the world that he will gladly assume the responsibility for all acts."

Mrs. Norton spoke at the luncheon of the club at the Raleigh Hotel. Her topic was "Beer and Business."

Germany Begins Export Of Beer to United States

Berlin, April 7 (A.P.).—The first shipment of "Schlossbrau," brewed especially for 3.2 consumers in America, started on its way to New York today.

The newspapers, of course, recorded the return of legal beer in America. "Happy Days Again," was the headline on one dispatch. "Gambrinus Rules America," was another.

Tia Juana Gloomy As U. S. Beer Flows

Chamber of Commerce Implores Governor to "Do Something."

Tia Juana, Mexico, April 7 (A.P.).—Gloom settled over this border oasis today when spigots began spouting beer in California. A scattering of Tia Juana's 58 bars were closed today and 40 others had declined to renew their vendors' licenses. Their old licenses will run out in from a day to two weeks.

In sharp contrast to the throngs that visited San Diego, Calif., beer bars from the time the first shipment arrived there at 7 a. m., Tia Juana's more heavily stocked saloons were empty.

The Tia Juana Chamber of Commerce sent a strong plea to Gov. Augustin Olaches of the Northern District of Lower California to do something about the town's plight.

"For the salvation of Tia Juana," the message read, "please exert every influence to obtain permission of the Americans to keep the international gate open 24 hours each day." The border closes now at 9 p. m., to open again at 6 a. m.

New York Musicians Reduce Pay for Beer

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—Local 41 of the New York Federation of Musicians, Inc., has adopted this resolution:

"That the price list of this union be adjusted and fixed so that the minimum charge for any and all beer celebrations, beer parties, beer garden affairs or any other affairs in any way concerning the return of good beer, be reduced forthwith from $8 for a 5-hour performance to $5 for a 5-hour performance, per man, plus all the lager beer they can drink."

Nome to Stay Beerless Until Steamer Gets In

Nome, Alaska, April 7 (A.P.).—It may be "beer day" in the United States today, but it's just like any other day here and will be until about June 15, when the first steamer from Seattle is expected to reach here.

The Bering Sea is frozen over seven months of the year. Bringing beer in by plane 700 miles from Fairbanks would cost 75 cents a pound, which Nomeites figure is prohibitive.

Chairman of Baltimore Closed Bank Shot Dead

Baltimore, April 7 (A.P.).—Clinton C. Richardson, chairman of the board of directors of the closed Park Bank, who has been on trial here on a charge of conspiracy in connection with the closing of the bank, was found shot to death in his office here today.

The trial ended yesterday, but a three-judge court had not handed down a decision.

JURY TODAY PROBES ALLEY DEATH CASE

Two Men Who Were Seized Will Appear; Had Known Mrs. Cumberland.

A coroner's jury at 11:30 a. m. today will investigate the mysterious death of Mrs. Eva Cumberland, 53, southeast Ninth street recluse, who died at Gallinger Hospital about 12 hours after she was found unconscious in a brick pile in an alley near her home early last Sunday.

According to members of the homicide squad who investigated, the woman was either "pushed, shoved, or fell" into the brick pile. Death was caused by a depressed fracture of the skull. A brick, found with a quantity of hair sticking to it was sent to the District chemist for analysis and a comparison of the woman's hair and the hair on the brick corresponded.

Of five persons who were arrested for questioning all but two were released. The two being held for the inquest today are Edward Taylor, 32, of 913 Potomac avenue southeast, and Wilbur Allen, 34, of Camp Springs, Md. Both were said to have known the dead woman.

Six Kinds of Currency Used to Pay $13.65 Bill

Seattle, Wash., April 7 (A.P.).—Six media of exchange were used by B. B. Patterson, of Heppner, Oreg., in paying a $13.65 bill to a Seattle newspaper.

His remittance included a 25-cent denomination of Heppner sheepskin scrip, 14 cents in stamps, a dollar bill, a general fund warrant for $10.76 issued by the State of Oregon, a Portland bank check for $1.25 and a dividend check for 25 cents, drawn on a New York bank.

Michigan House Passes Heavy Foreclosure Tax

Lansing, Mich., April 7 (A.P.).—The Michigan House of Representatives today passed a bill providing for a 25 per cent tax on mortgage and land contract foreclosures.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, requires that the tax be paid before sale of the property could be ordered or deficiency judgment awarded.

Producers Reopen Milk Price Strike

New York Farmers Claim Wholesale Market Unfair to Them.

Rochester, N. Y., April 7 (A.P.).—A State-wide milk strike against what farmers claim are unfair wholesale prices was declared today by Albert H. Woodhead, president of the Western New York Milk Producers' Association.

Asserting the "situation is now out of my hands," Woodhead said failure of the Legislature to speed action on Senator Perley Pitcher's bill to create a price-fixing control board brought the action. The strike, he said, will be in force until the legislature passes and Gov. Lehman signs the bill.

Nearly 200 State troopers are ready in the Rochester area to run blockades with milk shipments as farmers began massing to block highways as they did 10 days ago. Woodhead said other producers' associations had indicated they would act with the western New York group.

Pope Begs Indulgence Like Ordinary Pilgrim

Vatican City, April 7 (A.P.).—Like an ordinary pilgrim, Pope Pius entered St. Peter's Cathedral through the holy door this morning and knelt before the altar of the confessional, begging indulgence for the Holy Year.

He was attended by the cardinals and prelates of the papal court. Religious students were present, but the cathedral was closed to the public.

Beer Cargo Is Spilled As Truck Leaves Road

Media, Pa., April 7 (A.P.).—Beer flowed freely today, when a truck loaded with 400 cases upset in a ditch along the Baltimore Pike 2 miles west of here.

It was one of 16 trucks carrying beer from a Norristown brewery to Baltimore, Md. The driver said he was crowded off the road by a passing car. He and his three helpers escaped injury.

Mascarenas to Confer With Calles Shortly

Nogales, Ariz., April 7 (A.P.).—Alberto Mascarenas, Mexican Ambassador to Great Britain, arrived here today to visit his mother. He is en route to Lower California for a conference with former President Calles of Mexico.

He expected to visit his father, Manuel Mascarenas, who resides in Oakland, before he departs for London.

HOLDUP FRUSTRATED AT GASOLINE STATION

sages the suspect led the pursuing pair.

Finally in the alley between M and N, Ninth and Eighth streets, the two men trapped the alleged robber who still had three shots left in his pistol. Undecided, the two men paused.

Detective Arrives at Scene.

At this point Detective C. N. Strange was attracted by the commotion. He walked into the alley and after being informed of the situation, suddenly rushed the pursued man with drawn pistol and cowed him.

Breen was rushed to Freedmen's Hospital and treated for his wound. Later he was taken to the police station. A lookout was broadcast for the car in which his companion escaped.

By a coincidence, Leonardo and his law partner, M. J. Rano—who also witnessed the holdup—are insurance agencies for the company which held the holdup surety on the gasoline station. Recently they paid off after a $60 robbery of the same establishment.

Bar on Beer

Naval Stations in District Will Not Be Allowed to Sell Brew.

Sale of beer was banned at naval stations in the District under terms of an order sent out yesterday by Secretary of the Navy Swanson.

Citing the regulation that the beverage may not be sold in public buildings without a permit from the District Commissioners, Secretary Swanson ordered that "commanding officers * * * will take steps necessary to insure that requests for such permits be not submitted."

Stations affected include the Navy Yard, Marine Barracks, Naval Air Station, Naval Hospital, Naval Observatory and the Naval Research Laboratory.

Whether the bringing of beer to the post and its consumption would be permitted was still a moot matter last night. No test attempts had been heard of.

HUNT TRIALS TODAY AT BRADLEY FARMS

Special Events Arranged for Children; Dog Show Is Added Feature.

A gala program of events, arranged in the interest of young and old, will be presented at Bradley Farms today as a feature of the Riding and Hunt Club's hunter trials. A special entertainment for children, with President Roosevelt's grandchildren as invited guests, will have a place on the program while the trials are in progress.

A dog show, arranged by Mrs. Maurice Fitzmaurice Day, will present canine types from the thoroughbred to mongrel. Principals in the dog show will compete for prizes offered by Mrs. John R. Williams and Mrs. Robert Low Bacon. Judges will include Lady Lindsay, wife of the British Ambassador; Frau von Prittwitz, wife of the German Ambassador, and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins.

A circus spirit for the children will prevail throughout the program. Fortune tellers, magicians, trained animals and a Punch and Judy show will be presented for their special benefit.

Mrs. Curtis Dall, daughter of the President, will donate a doll to be sold and Col. and Mrs. Arthur O'Brien and Dr. E. V. Buckingham will send two thoroughbred Scottish terrier pups for sale to the highest bidder.

In cooperation with the Riding and Hunt Club, the Thrift Shop named the following committee for the event: Mrs. John R. Williams, Mrs. Arthur O'Brien, Mrs. Thomas Bell Sweeney, Mrs. Cary Grayson, Mrs. Reeve Lewis, Mrs. Archibald David, Mrs. Blaise de Sibour, Mrs. McCook Dunlop, Mrs. John Hull, Mrs. A. G. Crawford, Mrs. McCormick Goodhart, Mrs. Reeve Hoover, Mrs. Randall Hagner, Mrs. Alex Hagner, Mrs. John Caswell, Mrs. Maurice Fitzmaurice Day and Mrs. Carroll Morgan, jr.

BEER SALE TO YOUNG CAUSE OF WARNING

No action will be taken against licensees for reported infractions yesterday, it was believed in sources close to the municipal administration, but police are expected to begin a steady scrutiny today of beer-selling establishments, and will be ordered to make immediate reports of violations.

It was pointed out by students of the act providing 3.2 per cent beer for the District that stiff jail sentences or fines or both are possible for violations of the regulations prescribed for vending of the lager. However, no such action was expected for the time being.

Downtown places where beer was being sold by the glass were mobbed throughout the day. On F street, on E street, on Ninth street, on Fourteenth street, beer oases were besieged in the manner of an East Side bargain sale day in New York.

The lone Washington brewery parted with its last allotment of beer on hand about 2 p. m. Bottling will begin shortly of large supplies held in vats and now sufficiently aged.

One beer jobber in an outlying section of the city reported sale of 2,700 cases of Baltimore beer—64,800 bottles—up to 7 p. m. last night. Heavy reserve consignments were declared to be on the way.

The jobber mentioned was typical of other beer wholesalers. All were swamped with orders and parted with supplies in keg and bottle as fast as human hands delivered it and they could go through the necessary financial transaction incident to sale.

Crush of Federal Workers.

At Government lunch period today downtown restaurants and other establishments selling beer were the scenes of great crushes of beer-thirsty workers.

While the President and Mrs. Roosevelt have indicated beer will not be excluded from the refreshment list at the White House, practically all of the beer received as a tribute to the President was sent to the National Press Club for the use of newspapermen, friends of the Chief Executive.

No beer was sold at the Capitol nor in the Senate and House office buildings. Officials there and chairmen of committees in charge of such a proceeding were waiting for developments before indicating whether beer might be dispensed to hard-working legislators and attaches on Capitol Hill.

Power Line Shock May Kill 2 Boys

Cousins Badly Burned by Contact With High Tension Wires.

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—Two boys, cousins, were critically and probably fatally burned in Brooklyn today when they reached over a wall and struck high power wires.

The boys, Leon Milstein, 11, and Louis Milstein, 14, found a couple of pieces of pipe about 7 feet long while playing near their homes in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn. They climbed through a broken wire fence, which runs along the New York, New Haven and Hartford freight tracks, got on top of a high concrete retaining wall, and then reached out and struck the power wires with the pipes.

They were badly burned and little hope was held for them at the hospital to which they were taken.

WORLD ISSUE CITED IN SCOTTSBORO CASE

Leibowitz Asks for Tolerance and Defies Mob in Summation.

Decatur, Ala., April 7 (A.P.).—Samuel S. Leibowitz, of New York, chief of defense counsel in the retrial of the "Scottsboro case," closed his argument to the jury tonight with the statement that a "world issue" was involved in its decision on the fate of Heywood Patterson, 19-year-old Negro, charged with attacking a white woman.

Leibowitz had called attention of the jurors to the international interests in the case, and added: "You are deciding more than the guilt or innocence of this Negro. You are deciding a world issue."

Since March, 1931, when Patterson and eight other Negroes were taken from a train at Paint Rock, Ala., and charged with attacking Mrs. Victoria Price and Ruby Bates, individuals and organizations throughout the world have sent protests on the handling of the case to Alabama authorities.

Eight Given Death.

Eight of the nine defendants were sentenced to death two years ago at Scottsboro, but the sentences subsequently were reversed by the United States Supreme Court. Patterson is the first to be retried, with the assistance of counsel engaged by the International Labor Defense, to which Leibowitz offered his services.

Even during the current trial, as reports of mobs forming have been circulated, Attorney General Thomas E. Knight, jr., has received many telegrams demanding protection for the defendants and their counsel. The Negroes have been under protection of National Guardsmen throughout the trial. There was no demonstration during the arguments.

Asks for Tolerance.

Leibowitz asked the jury to disregard race or creed when they consider the evidence, and pleaded for tolerance and reason. Previously he had shouted his defiance of "any mob."

After three hours of arguments, the court recessed until tomorrow and Leibowitz said he would consume about one hour more. After he finishes Attorney General Knight must close for the State.

The jury probably will get the case by noon tomorrow.

Student Acquitted On Liquor Charge

Williamsburg Court Frees Youth Despite His Plea of Guilty.

Williamsburg, Va., April 7 (A.P.).—Maurice Berkowitz, of Brookline, Mass., William and Mary College student charged with the possession of ardent spirits, pleaded guilty in magistrate's court today, but, nevertheless, was acquitted by Councilman J. A. Luttrell.

Saying he was assuming the responsibility for refusing to convict the young man, Luttrell said he was "placing the responsibility for handling it on those whose duty, it seems to me, it was to handle it in the first place."

Young Berkowitz, who was disciplined by the college discipline committee when some two gallons of liquor were found in his possession, was arrested by Sheriff L. P. Trice on a warrant sworn out by Robert Allard, college watchman.

Boot Hill Graves To Be Dressed Up

Tombstone, Ariz., April 7 (A.P.).—This old Arizona mining camp has ordered its Boot Hill Cemetery improved so the graves of the notorious desperadoes and the courageous early day peace officers will be more discernible.

Frank Vaughn, who 50 years ago painted a wooden marker for the plot where are buried the McLowery and Clanton brothers, who fell before the fire of officers in a memorable revolver fight, has been ordered to reproduce the marking in its form and wording.

Other changes include a marker of wood for five Bisbee murderers hanged under the law during Tombstone's days as the silver capital of the world.

Beer Legality Test Suits Are Started in 2 States

Topeka, Kans., April 7 (A.P.).—Federal Judge Richard J. Hopkins took under advisement today a suit to test the legal status of 3.2 beer in Kansas, a pioneer prohibition State.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 7 (A.P.).—The validity of Missouri's new 3.2 per cent beer law was attacked in a petition filed in Cole County Circuit Court here late today.

Manzanilla's Cabinet Submits Resignations

Lima, Peru, April 7 (A.P.).—The Peruvian Cabinet, headed by Premier Manzanilla, has resigned, it was announced today.

Reliable information was that the resignations were submitted yesterday so President Sanchez Cerro would be free to appoint a new cabinet on Sunday, when the new constitution will be published.

New York Brewer Dies From Vat Room Fumes

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—John Wurzburger, 28, brewer in a Brooklyn brewery, died today of carbon dioxide poisoning.

He collapsed in a vat room, where officials said brew gas had displaced oxygen.

Britten Says Dirigibles Essential for Defense

Woman Whipped For Burning Idol

Governor of Pueblo in New Mexico Denies Bible Adherence Cause.

Albuquerque, N. Mex., April 7 (A.P.) Gov. San Francisco Loretto of the Jemez Pueblo, who recently was charged with his fellow council members with allowing a young woman to be publicly whipped, told government officials yesterday the woman had burned an Indian idol in violation of tribal religious beliefs.

The woman, Mrs. Andrea Prague, charged the council with whipping her because she professed a belief in the Bible and Christianity.

Loretto said the council would not interfere with her Christian worship, but did reserve the right to discipline Indians who interfere with the Indian religion.

Virginia Power Finances Segregated by Probers

Richmond, Va., April 7 (A.P.).—H. Lester Hooker, member of the State Corporation Commission, today let it be known that every division of the work of the three major power companies, now under State investigation, must stand on its own financial basis in the probe.

He said that the policy of the commission is to separate the activities—gas, traction, electric power and amusement park business—and not to permit possible excess profits from one division to compensate for possible losses from another.

DETECTIVE INDICTED FOR SHOOTING NITTI

Accused of Attempt to Kill Capone's "Enforcer" in Raid on His Office.

Chicago, April 7 (A.P.).—A policeman was indicted on a charge of assault to kill today for the shooting of "Public Enemy" Frank Nitti.

The indictment was based on testimony that Police Detective Harry Lang fired four bullets into Nitti, former "enforcer" for Capone gang orders, as he stood unarmed and with his hands at his sides.

Lang's bond was set at $10,000 and a capias was issued for his arrest.

The shooting took place last December when Lang and four fellow policemen raided a downtown office from which authorities charged Nitti and others were directing gangster operations.

Lang Changes Story.

Lang was shot through the hand. Nitti's wounds kept him in a hospital for weeks and physicians several times despaired of his life.

An indictment charging Nitti with attempting to kill the detective was voted after the raid by a grand jury, but the "Public Enemy" yesterday was freed when Lang refused to accuse him before a criminal court jury.

"I don't know who shot me," Detective Lang insisted, even when confronted with a transcript of testimony before the grand jury in which he made a charge that Nitti drew a weapon first.

Incriminated by Comrade.

Nitti was freed and left the courtroom, smiling broadly. Lang was stripped of his star and gun and charged with perjury for his grand jury testimony.

The more serious charge against the detective was made after another policeman who took part in the raid testified Nitti was unarmed and standing with his hands at his sides when Lang fired.

"Long must have shot himself," the policeman said. "Nitti had no gun."

After the shooting, Detective Lang gave to Chief of Detectives William H. Shoomaker two pistols, saying one of them was his own and the other Nitti's.

1,500 Now Homeless In Mississippi Delta

Memphis, Tenn., April 7 (A.P.).—Heavily laden creeks, bayous and tributary streams continued to push water over thousands of acres of lowland farm country in the southern high water zone, and relief directors placed the number of those temporarily homeless at 1,500.

Only small parts of Mississippi, west Tennessee and eastern Arkansas are seriously affected by this seasonal flooding of the tributaries, swelled to overflowing by heavy rains and back water from the rising Mississippi River.

Mrs. M. B. Scanlon Rites This Morning

Requiem High Mass Will Be Held for Former Louisville Woman.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary B. Scanlon, who died Thursday at her home, 4207 Twelfth street northeast, will be held today at 10 a. m. with a requiem high mass in St. Anthony's Church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mrs. Scanlon, a native of Louisville, Ky., has been a resident of Washington since 1914. She is survived by her husband, James P. Scanlon, editorial clerk with the House Appropriations Committee. She was well known here for her charitable activities.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Florence Mellett and Mrs. William Gorman, and two brothers, Robert Russel, of this city, and Dean Russel, of Louisville.

T. W. GRIMES DEAD.

Native of Fauquier Had Lived Here for Many Years.

Thomas W. Grimes, retired live stock broker, died yesterday at his home, 1332 Harvard street northwest, after an illness of several weeks. Born in Fauquier County, Va., he lived most of his life in Washington.

Mr. Grimes is survived by his wife, Anna Lee Grimes, and seven children, Mrs. Edith Lee Hutchison, of Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. Anna L. McCarty, John E., Thomas A., Guy D., Charles W. and Margaret M. Grimes, all of Washington.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the home. Interment will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

believe that he will leave it unchanged.

The Murphy appointment gives further basis for a belief that Mr. Cummings will retain his Cabinet post. Mr. Cummings was originally selected as Governor General of the Islands, but was appointed to the Department of Justice on the sudden death of former Senator Thomas J. Walsh. Since then rumors have been persistent that he will remain in Washington. This seems more likely now that his original berth has been filled by Mayor Murphy.

The new Governor General, who is 39 years old, is a native of Michigan. He studied law at the University of Michigan, at Trinity College in Dublin, and at Lincoln's Inn, London. He has served as instructor in law, U. S. district attorney, and judge of a recorder's court, and is serving his second two-year term as Mayor of Detroit. During a part of this time, he was associated with Mrs. Roosevelt's brother, G. Hall Roosevelt, who acted as controller of the Michigan city.

Appointees to several diplomatic posts abroad have also been selected, but are not being announced until the foreign governments have announced that the choices are agreeable to them. It is reported that the appointment of Mayor James M. Curley, of Boston, as Ambassador to Poland is among those pending. The new Ambassador to Cuba may also be among them. Two possibilities for the Havana post are John Cudahy, of Milwaukee, and Francis White, Assistant Secretary of State.

By NELSON B. BELL.

The most extraordinary thing about this incomparable example of documentary drama is that it ever should have encountered the antagonism of American censor boards.

Unless there are objectionable implications in the German dialogue, great stretches of which, more often than not, are rendered into a single English sentence of not more than a dozen words or so, stenciled across the foot of the screen, there is nothing in the picture to suggest that it deserves to bear the stigma of borderline drama such as caused Bourdet's "The Captive" finally to be banned in this country.

Manuela von Meinhardis, the lonely, love-hungry, motherless daughter of a Prussian army officer, about whom the pictured events revolve, is, to be sure, a sensitive, uncommunicative and mildly neurotic young girl of fourteen, who is repelled by the impersonal regimentation of the institution in which she is placed and tremendously moved and attracted by the gentle kindness of the only humanitarian faculty member of the rigidly disciplined school. This, however, instead of attuning the action of the drama to a sinister and revolting Freudian note, furnishes the one fine and beautiful touch upon which the whole point of the picture rests.

It is the vivid contrast between the methods pursued, and the results achieved, by the head-mistress, the grim-visaged martinet, symbolic of the old Prussian code, and Fraulein von Bernburg, the sympathetic and understanding teacher, that makes "Maedchen in Uniform" an eloquent and vital bit of propaganda aimed at a new social order in certain strata of German young womanhood.

This major function of the film is set off by a comprehensive and keenly diverting survey of the simple pleasures, petty strifes and major tragedies of a boarding school for girls, operated under an oppressive policy of discipline and starvation. It is in this environment that we trace the pathetic personal history of the unhappy Manuela, witness her triumph in the school play, her later humiliation and see, finally, the schoolgirl rebellion that saves her from a tragic and self-inflicted end.

The vanquishment of the old system by the more humanitarian impulses of the new is so pointed at this juncture that only the most prurient viewpoint could place any other construction upon the picture's purpose.

The three pivotal roles are played with a perfection of artistry that is rarely met. Hertha Thiele, a tall, sensitively lovely and pathetically believable blonde of ideal Teutonic type, is a flawless and immensely sympathetic Manuela. Emilia Unda, as the Principal, and Dorothea Wieck, the Fraulein von Bernburg, are perfect choices for their contrasted roles from every consideration of type and performance. The supporting cast and large group of girls representing the school's enrollment combine with fine direction and camera treatment to make the film memorable.

The Paramount Sound News further augments a feature that will appeal more vigorously to thoughtful adult audiences than to the casual juvenile amusement seeker.

PALACE

"PERFECT UNDERSTANDING." United Artists' release of an English-made picturization of a story by Miles Malleson, starring Gloria Swanson, with Laurence Olivier, John Halliday, Sir Nigel Playfair, Genevieve Tobin and Michael Farmer. Directed by Cyril Gardner. Reviewed Friday afternoon by Isabel Harryman.

The glamourous Gloria Swanson, erstwhile Marquise de la Falais de Cordray and now Mrs. Michael Farmer, returns to the screen after a long absence. It is an older and less attractive "Glorious Gloria" who comes to us in a United Artists' production made in the A. B. P. Studios in London; a Gloria who attempts to be rompingly coy or tragically wide-eyed and suffering, with an equal lack of determination and assurance.

There seems to be a great deal of forced gaiety, endless discussions and many superfluous scenes which are all too obviously padding for an inadequate story which is all about an American girl with Ideas (you've doubtlessly met the kind...very positive that marriage can succeed only if both parties retain their Individualities) who marries a dashing playboy of the British aristocracy.

The part of the husband is played with admirable restraint and understanding by Laurence Olivier, who seems to find the role of Nicholas Randall more convincing than the rest of the characters find the roles allotted to them. Even the grand actor, John Halliday, plays his part of the self-effacing and philosophic lover, with a slight tongue-in-the-cheek attitude. Sir Nigel Playfair, as Lord Portleigh, is an amusing interpolation, while Genevieve Tobin is as charmingly feline as usual. Michael Farmer seems to be in the cast for no other reason than that he is the husband of the star.

The story itself dashes hither and yon with brief shots of Paris, rural England, brilliant London, a small Italian village and some interesting shots of Cannes and the elite at play.

We find Miss Swanson, as the young wife, discovering that her philosophy of individual freedom, while a most clever neologism to discuss, does not work out at all well when put into practical use. Her marriage is about to terminate in a most unhappy ending when the story decides to return to the light vein in which it started and we last see Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Randall mischievously escaping hand in hand from their own divorce proceedings.

If you are a British cinema fan you will like "Perfect Understanding," but if you admire Miss Swanson in her de Mille days of luxurious bedroom scenes and costly raiment you will find her English film a bit dull.

The remainder of the bill includes a Walt Disney Mickey Mouse cartoon, the Metrotone News, with interesting views of the Akron disaster, and a special film entitled "Roosevelt, Man of the Hour," setting forth with considerable completeness and a warm human touch the full span of President Roosevelt's political career.

LOEW'S FOX

"SAILOR'S LUCK." Fox picturization of a story by Marguerite Roberts and Charlotte Miller, co-featuring James Dunn and Sally Eilers, with Sammy Cohen and Victor Jory. Directed by Raoul Walsh. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

With all the brilliance of a full-sized stage attraction and with the same delightful music, "The Desert Song," in tabloid form, wherein the curtailment has been accomplished through the elimination of recitatives, reprises and a few of the spoken lines, takes precedence over any other portion of the Fox bill this week, with "Sailor's Luck" becoming little more than the opportunity for the operetta company to take a rest.

After playing here in its full-length version several times, as well as being faithfully translated to the talking screen, there is little that is left to be said of "The Desert Song." The current showing loses nothing in essential action through its condensation, but rather gains in speed of movement.

As the Red Shadow, Perry Askam is the outstanding member of the company and with Tanni, as Margot; Earl Oskam, as Sid El Kar, and Nenette Vallow, as Azuri, to complete the line-up of pivotal characters, the Romberg score and the Hammerstein book receive as excellent treatment as in any earlier presentation.

The stirring "Riff Song," the hauntingly plaintive "The Desert Song," and the pleadingly melodious "One Alone' are of course the high spots in a performance brilliantly staged and flawlessly sung and acted.

In "Sailor's Luck," Sally Eilers and James Dunn again traipse through a series of episodes carrying a vague similarity to those of "Bad Girl," but without the flair for ingenuous acting that made the picturised Vina Delmar work one of the better pictures. Both Miss Eilers and Mr. Dunn are capable of better treatment than "Sailor's Luck" accords them. They receive more than adequate support from Sammy Cohen, Frank Moran, Victor Jory, Will Stanton and Lucien Littlefield.

Rounding out the screen program are "Fish Hooky," an Our Gang comedy a la mode and a release of the Fox Movietone News.

EARLE

"AIR HOSTESS." Columbia Pictures' filmization of a magazine story adapted to the screen by Milton Raison and Keene Thompson, featuring Evalyn Knapp, James Murray, Thelma Todd and Arthur Pierson. Directed by Albert Rogell. Reviewed Friday night by Dorothea Lewis.

Cab Calloway for hi-de-hi and "Air Hostess" for the season's low.

This quick quickie is more successful in collecting a complete set of ham actors at the very peak of their art, than any of recent memory—first and foremost, Thelma Todd, absolutely lost without Ze Su; closely followed by Mr. James Murray, who is all right until he washes his face early in the picture and gets drunk, then, not outdistanced, Miss Evalyn Bites-Her-Lips Knapp as "a very tragic figure."

They have the full cooperation of Director Rogell and a nameless dialogue writer.

Arthur Pierson, nice of feature, nice of voice and honestly trying to work at acting in this silly business and some airplanes are the rays of light.

The thing to do is to study the show schedules carefully because you mustn't miss Cab and the rest of the stage show—the stage attractions are getting better and better at the Earle these days.

Cab and his crew of cotton pickers work fast, furiously and to fine effect. The shouting leader, all done up in white satin, so help us, goes high and low in such tingling tunes as "Minnie the Moocher," its sequel, "Kicking the Gong Around" (which practically stole "The Big Broadcast"), "The Man From Harlem," "It Don't Mean a Thing," "Chinatown, My Chinatown," and the "Reefer Man." And they roll out brassy and right.

Being every inch a critic last night, we missed a certain spontaneity in Cab Calloway himself that we had liked in "The Big Broadcast"—he yells and chants in approved fashion, but in between times he seems to be considering it all pretty routine, which four shows a day probably is.

He has a lazy riot with him in the person of "Prof. Lee," a "hot" dancer, while Three Little Words tap and an energetic young woman does some intricate stepping. A generous and very good act.

Then too, there are Downey and the Lee Sisters in a fast cycling act, with the humor and ease of the big top about them, and Zelda Santley, mimicking most everybody and doing Helen Morgan and ZaSu Pitts particularly well.

With only three turns to be introduced, we missed the last of the usual quartet of announcements and dresses of Maxine Doyle, now a graduate actress.

Completing the bill are "Caliente Love," an amusing comedy, with Walter Catlett in fine form; a newsreel, and a Paramount pictorial.

30-HOUR WEEK BILL FACES SECOND TEST

(Associated Press.)

A move to reconsider the 30-hour work week bill because imported products were excluded from its drastic terms was made in the Senate yesterday simultaneously with introduction of another measure by Senator Black (Democrat), Alabama, to establish a six-hour day for the railroads.

Senator Trammell (Democrat), Florida, late in the day entered a motion to reconsider Thursday's vote of 53 to 30, whereby the Senate passed Black's bill for a five-day week and six-hour day for labor in manufacturing industries.

Trammell gave no explanation for his action to the Senate, but later told newspapermen he had several amendments to offer, one of which would extend to imported products the ban against interstate shipments of industrial articles produced by labor working longer than the prescribed time.

A similar amendment was offered Thursday by Senator Hatfield (Republican), West Virginia, and was defeated by one vote after Senator Bankhead (Democrat), Alabama, changed from "aye" to "no" to supply the slim margin.

Opponents of this amendment claimed it would be a virtual embargo against foreign manufactured articles, as hardly and foreign country employs the 30-hour week.

The compulsory five-day-week bill, as passed Thursday by the Senate, presents a number of questions which must be considered carefully, in the opinion of President Roosevelt.

In order that he may have all the facts at hand, the President has asked for two exhaustive reports on the measure.

One will be made by Secretary of Commerce Roper, with relation to the effects of the proposed measure on industrial activity and wages.

The second will be made by Secretary of Labor Perkins, with emphasis upon the phases of the measure which relates directly to the prospective expansion of employment.

Montgomery Jury To Convene Today

Unusual Procedure Used to Dispose of Recently Developed Cases.

The Montgomery County Grand Jury will reconvene today to act on several important cases which have developed since it was recessed ten days ago.

Recall of the grand jury is unusual, new cases ordinarily being held until the next term. The summons for the grand jurors was issued by Clayton K. Watkins, clerk of the circuit court, at the direction of Judge Charles W. Woodward.

Among the more important cases the inquisitorial body is to consider are the alleged obscene show held in the National Guard Armory at Kensington on which Department of Justice agents have been active for several weeks and a number of wholesale chicken thefts. It is understood that the body probably will complete its work today although it may carry over to Monday.

2 Hurt in Auto Crash On Forest Glen Road

Two persons were injured yesterday when automobiles operated by Frank Proctor, of Forest Glen, and Wellington Jackson, colored, of Kensington, collided at the intersection of Second avenue and Forest Glen road. Proctor's car was proceeding east on Forest Glen road and Jackson north on Second avenue.

Miss Grace Fowler, of Forest Glen, a passenger in Proctor's car, was cut on the face and head, and Jackson was cut on the forehead.

Applications for Beer Are Lacking in County

No formal applications for permits to dispense beer were filed yesterday with Clayton K. Watkins, clerk of the Montgomery County Circuit Court. Mr. Watkins issued almost 100 applications for permits, but none had been filed by closing time yesterday.

Applications must be published in a county newspaper a week prior to being granted, so that Montgomery County can not have beer until April 20 at the earliest.

Expedition Off Today To Hunt Sunken Booty

Norfolk, Va., April 7 (A.P.).—Another treasure-hunting expedition will leave Norfolk tomorrow in the hope of recovering silver, copper and perhaps gold, said to be in the purser's strong box on the sunken Ward Line steamer Merida, which has been at the bottom of the Atlantic off the Virginia Capes since May, 1911.

Treasury, but a plan is under consideration to merge it with a broader public works schedule. In this case it is likely to be supervised by an independent head.

The public buildings plan was halted upon the induction of the new administration while the question of broadening it was studied. No decision has been made by Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, about continuing the building on its present scale. Mr. Robert will be head of the Supervising Architect's Office and the Public Health Service, however.

Mr. Robert, who is 46, is a native of Monticello, Ga. He has the degrees of civil engineer and electrical engineer from the Georgia School of Technology. Since graduating from this school in 1909, he has practiced in Atlanta. He is married and has two children.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

WHYS AND OTHER WHYS

FEDERAL DIARY: Thousands of Government clerks feel that their union organizations have double-crossed them. So far you have not expressed the sentiments of the class of workers that have no sympathies for the unions. I wonder why.

Commerce Department. A GOVERNMENT MESSENGER.

THOSE who have read the Federal Diary consistently must know that promotion of the welfare of the Government group is its guiding star. The Diary has suggested some things that have been adopted, others have been ignored. The Diary will continue to represent the Federal workers as a group, since what is good for one is good for all and what concerns all concerns each one.

If you have failed to see expressions of sentiments of the class of workers having no sympathies with the unions, it is because that class has remained silent. These columns are open for your expressions. They will continue so, the same as they are for the organized worker.

The Federal Diary forum still is open for your views, comments and criticisms.

The Diary still holds to the view that Government pay and standards of living are reflected right down the line into private enterprise. Pay cuts mean less buying power and impaired buying power further delays return to normal times. And these views do not mean the Federal Diary stands for or against any group of employes. We still want to see a living wage maintained.

So the answer can be summed up: If the Federal Diary has not expressed the sentiments of the class of workers that have no sympathies for the unions, it is because that class has not been audible.

J. Gordon Batson, Highway Department, D. C. Government, yesterday turned in his signed contract to play with the Federal Employes Unionists, Departmental Baseball League.

Batson compiled an enviable record in the Capital City League sponsored by The Post last summer. Playing with the Franc Jewelers, he won 14 games in 17 mound starts and finished the season with a batting record of .320.

The Unionists drill today at 3 at Berwyn Field, and tomorrow play a double-header with Annapolis Athletic Club, Annapolis. Batson is expected to see a few innings on the slab.

JOLLY folks, jolly party, but a tinge of sadness as an overtone when friends bid Judge Marion Henderson adieu as he laid down his work as general counsel to the Alien Property Custodian and Special Assistant to the Attorney General. The judge has just left for Oklahoma City to resume practice of law.

Marion Henderson

When good fellers drop their cares and get together to say goodby to one of their number, you can record it as a real tribute of friendship. That was the kind of party Charlie Rollins and others arranged for the departing judge.

The guest list included:

Charles A. Rollins, chief, release section; Harry W. Harwood, chief, tax division; George C. Thompson, stocks and bonds division; John Alligretto, income division; C. B. Jennings, chief, law division; Roy Stover, assistant chief, law division; George O. Hyde, attorney, claims; R. H. Phillips, income division, all Alien Property Custodian; Clarence Sipes, Internal Revenue; Leland Acuff, Prohibition; James C. Henderson, son of Judge Henderson; Carl W. Green, chief auditing section; Harmon Acuff, chief, claims; Senator Howard Sutherland; C. B. Bray, chief clerk; Donald Gill, bookkeeping section; Clifton Brown, assistant chief bookkeeping section, and W. L. Gates, attorney, claims division, all Alien Property Custodian.

Judge Henderson, allow the Federal Diary to add its best wishes for success in Oklahoma City. Having served on the Daily Oklahoman under Walter Harrison, we can claim the Sooner State as a former home.

DR. SIZOO PREACHES TWICE TOMORROW

New York Avenue Pastor Has Been Ill; Communion on Thursday.

Tomorrow morning at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo will return to his pulpit after an illness of several weeks. The subject of his morning sermon will be, "Who Then Is King?" In the evening Dr. Sizoo will give "The Soliloquy of Barabbas." At the morning service the installation service for elders and deacons recently appointed by the congregation will be observed.

The young people of the Christian Endeavor Society will hold their fellowship tea at 6 o'clock. Following the tea the worship service will be observed, when Paul Rice will lead the discussion of the subject, "God's Radio."

Next Tuesday at 11:30 o'clock, Dr. Sizoo will deliver the final lecture of his Lenten series in the ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel. "The Christian Faith and Immortality" will be the subject of this concluding lecture.

A special meeting of the session will be held next Wednesday evening in the Lincoln Chapel at 8 o'clock so that those who may wish to unite with the church by letter of transfer or upon confession of faith may be received by the session.

On next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock the annual Easter Communion service will be observed. The impressiveness of this observance rests in the fact it is commemorated on the very night on which it was instituted nineteen hundred years ago. At that service there will be welcomed into the fellowship of the church those who desire to unite by letter of transfer or upon their confession of faith.

Fifth Baptist Church Special Rites Near End

The evangelistic meetings at Fifth Baptist Church will close tomorrow night, when Evangelist John W. Ham will preach on "Four Fires." The morning subject is "The Tears of Jesus." There have been many professions of faith, some at almost every service, and already a number have been baptized and added to the church.

There will be special music appropriate to Palm Sunday, and inspiring congregational singing led by the famous song leader, E. L. Wolslagel. The pastor, Dr. John E. Briggs, will teach the Darlington-Berea Bible class, welcome new members and administer the Lord's Supper.

Easter Festival Will Last 3 Days

Mount Pleasant Church to Begin Observance on Thursday.

The Mount Pleasant Congregational Church will begin a three-day observance of the Easter festival next Thursday evening, when the annual Easter communion service, with the reception of members will be held. At 8 o'clock on Good Friday evening, the Mount Pleasant Church quartet and chorus will sing Stainer's cantata, "The Crucifixion," under the direction of Claude Robeson, organist and director, with Norton M. Little, chorister, conducting. Special Easter services for the church school and the parish congregation next Sunday morning will conclude the celebration.

Two series of Lenten addresses will be continued tomorrow morning by the minister of Mount Pleasant Church, the Rev. Russell J. Clinchy. At a joint meeting of the intermediate and senior departments of the church school he will conclude a series of talks to the young people in preparation for the Easter communion, and at the parish service of worship will preach the sixth of a Lenten series of sermons on "Great Needs of a Modern Era," speaking tomorrow on "An Inclusive Love."

Dr. Theodore H. Wilson, president of the National Park Seminary, is the speaker at the Mount Pleasant Church Adult Forum tomorrow morning. He will discuss "The New Conception of Education Beyond the High School."

Easter Planned At Walter Reed

Sunrise Service Will Be Held in Amphitheater at Hospital.

For the seventh successive year the Easter observances at Walter Reed Hospital will include a sunrise service to be held in the natural amphitheater in front of the main building. This service, which will be conducted by Chaplain Miller, will begin at 7:30 a. m. and will last for 45 minutes. The musical portion of the service will be furnished by the United States Army Band and a double male quartet. The installation of a public address system insures that all who attend will be able to hear the service. For those who are unable to attend, the National Broadcasting Co. will carry the service on its network.

Roman Catholic services, conducted by Chaplain Koch, will include two masses in the Memorial Chapel. The first will be celebrated at 6 o'clock and the second, a solemn high mass, at the conclusion of the sunrise service.

As customary each Sunday, all services will be carried by the hospital radio system to the bedside of all patients.

Pierce Hall Players Perform Tomorrow

"The Terrible Meek," Charles Rann Kennedy's moving play of the time of the Crucifixion, will be presented by Pierce Hall Players, All Souls Church (Unitarian) tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. This will precede the showing of the film, "Young America." At the 11 a. m. service the minister, the Rev. Dr. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, will preach on "The Faith Triumphant."

On Monday evening the Pierce Hall Players will hold its annual meeting, followed by a program of entertainment features. The annual meeting of the congregation will take place on Wednesday. A communion service will be held on Thursday at 8 p. m. and on Friday at 8 p. m. a union service with the Universalists at the Universalist National Memorial Church.

Good Friday Union Service Arranged

Presbyterian Churches of City to Worship at New York Avenue.

The Presbyterian churches of Washington and its suburban areas are planning a special Good Friday service to be held in the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church on April 14 from 12 to 3 o'clock. All the Presbyterian Churches of this vicinity are taking part in this Good Friday observance.

Dr. Albert Evans, a member of this presbytery, has in charge the detailed arrangement of the service. Seven clergymen of the presbytery will speak during the three-hour service on one of the seven words of the Cross. The following Presbyterian ministers will deliver these addresses:

Dr. Albert J. McCartney, Dr. John C. Palmer, Dr. Frank S. Niles, Dr. Godfrey Chobot, Dr. H. M. Wooding, Dr. J. H. Dunham and Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo. The prayers and the reading of the Scripture will be conducted by the following ministers: Dr. A. E. Barrows, Dr. Bernard Braskamp, Dr. A. B. Altfather, Dr. F. A. Kullmar, Dr. D. Hobart Evans and Dr. W. F. Eagleson.

It is the first time that all the Presbyterian churches of this vicinity have united to share in such an observance of Good Friday.

ENGLAND WILL HEAR CATHEDRAL SERVICE

Rites for Akron Crew Will Be With Palm Sunday Program Tomorrow.

Palm Sunday will be observed at Washington Cathedral with special services tomorrow, including a commemoration of the officers and men of the U. S. S. Akron to be held in the great choir at 4 p. m.

The annual procession of palms will precede the celebration of the Holy Communion at 10:30 a. m., at which the sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. G. Freeland Peter, canon and chancellor of the cathedral. Appropriate music by the cathedral choir of men and boys will be rendered under the direction of Edgar Priest.

Palms will be distributed after the 10:30 a. m. and 4 p. m. services. There will be the usual celebration of the Holy Communion in the Bethlehem Chapel at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow and pilgrimages for out-of-town visitors at the close of the services in the great choir.

The Bishop of Washington, the Right Rev. Dr. James Edward Freeman, will deliver the commemoration address at evensong at 4 o'clock daily and men of the Akron, which has been arranged in cooperation with the Navy Department.

Canon Peter will deliver a Lenten address at evensong at 4 p. m. daily during Holy Week. His general subject will be "The Significance of the Day of Our Lord's Life and Ministry."

The services on Good Friday will include celebrations of the Holy Communion at 7:30 and 9:30 a. m., morning prayer and litany at 10:30 a. m. and the passion service conducted by Bishop Freeman from 12 noon until 3 p. m. This solemn commemoration of the Crucifixion will be broadcast in its entirety over the nation-wide network of the Columbia Broadcasting System, with Bishop Freeman's introductory address between 12:30 and 12:45 p. m. rebroadcast throughout England by courtesy of the British Broadcasting Co. The three-hour service will be held for the first time this year in the Great Choir where seating accommodations are available for a congregation of 1,000 or more worshipers.

Waving Palms Now, Stockdale Sermon

Little Children Will Be in Pulpit at First Congregational.

Services especially appropriate for Palm Sunday will be conducted by Dr. Allen A. Stockdale at the First Congregational Church, Tenth and G streets, northwest. At 11 o'clock, Dr. Stockdale will preach on the subject, "Waving Palms Now," and at 8 o'clock, he will review Vash Young's well-known book, "Let's Start Over Again." Little children from the beginners' and primary departments will be in the pulpit with Dr. Stockdale for a few minutes at the opening of the morning service. They will sing an invocation under the direction of Mrs. W. W. Gilbert.

The vested choir of sixty voices under the direction of Ruby Smith Stahl will sing at both services. The Friendship Hour at the close of the evening service will be in charge of the Young Women's Club.

The Lenten Communion Class will hold its closing meeting tomorrow evening with Dr. Stockdale and the membership committee of the church. The meeting will open at 6:30 in the east parlor.

Triumphant Christ Hutchinson Theme

Infants Will Be Baptized at Mount Vernon in Morning.

"The Triumphant Christ" is Dr. Hutchinson's text for tomorrow morning at Mount Vernon Place M. E. Church South. There will be special anthem music by the choir. Pinsuti's "My Heart Hath Its Joys" and Wells' "Wanderer Come" will be given. In the evening the pastor will preach on "The Lodestone of the Heart." A special feature of the morning service will be the baptism of infants.

An impressive musical service will be held Thursday night when the choir will sing Gaul's Passion Music. The solo parts will be taken by Mrs. LaVergne Sims Fairchild, soprano; Miss Elizabeth Holder, contralto; John L. Mitchell, tenor; Arthur M. Tabbutt, bass. Miss Edith F. Gottwals will be at the organ. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the close of the musical program.

The seventh anniversary of the opening of the Home for the Aged at Gaithersburg, April 15; tea will be served by the ladies of the Washington Guild. "Annual Donation Day" will be observed.

CHARITY IS SUBJECT OF DR. M'CARTNEY

Covenant-First Pastor to Conduct Holy Week Vesper Services.

"Mountain Springs of Charity" will be Dr. Albert Joseph McCartney's subject at the Covenant-First Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning.

Beginning Monday, each afternoon at 5 o'clock during Holy Week, Dr. McCartney will conduct vesper services. His subject for Monday is "Forsaken of Men;" Tuesday, "Peter Warming Himself at the Fire;" Wednesday, "The Compromise of Pilate;" Thursday, "The Upper Room of Life" and Friday, "The Words From the Cross." Thursday the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be personally administered by the pastor from 5 until 6 o'clock. Those wishing to unite with the church on Easter Sunday morning will see the pastor and members of the session after the Thursday service.

Special music has been arranged by the Covenant Quartet for the vesper services during Holy Week and on Easter Sunday morning and on Friday "The Seven Last Words," by Mercadante, will be sung.

The Sunday School will have an Easter worship pageant for the young people's departments at 9:40 on Easter Sunday morning. The children's department will have an Easter worship service at the same hour in the primary rooms in the church house. Parents are invited.

Christian Endeavor groups: The Alumni Group will be addressed by Dr. McCartney from 7:30 until 8 o'clock, who will continue the series of "Worthwhile Evenings With the Bible," an interpretation of Old Testament classics in reading and comment. "No. 7 the Song of Songs." Miss Louise Brown will be the leader. The Gospel Music Class, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Isabel Garvin Shelley, will sing the Easter cantata, "Messiah Victorious," by Hammond, at 7 o'clock.

Beholding Christ, Theme of Sermon

Rev. Mr. Beery to Preach at Asbury M. E. in Morning.

The Rev. Edgar C. Beery, pastor of Francis Asbury M. E. Church South, Sixteenth street, between Irving and Lamont, will preach at the morning service on the subject, "Beholding Christ." The Rev. C. F. Linger will preach at the evening service, taking as his topic "He Giveth Songs in the Night." The evening service will be preceded by an organ recital at 7:40 o'clock by Allen Watson. The Young People will meet at 7 p. m. and Miss Mary Frances Israel has arranged a service of special music. The Intermediates will meet at the same hour.

The local Church Board of Christian Education will meet Monday at 8 p. m., with Miss Marie Woolf, 1722 Irving street northwest. Circle No. 3 of the Woman's Missionary Society will meet on Monday, April 10, at 2 p. m., with Mrs. Lewis Turner, 3316 Woodley road.

On Good Friday at 8 p. m. the Francis Asbury Quartet and an augmented choir, with Mr. Herndon Morsell as guest conductor, will sing Stainer's "Crucifixion." Easter Sunday night the Olmstead Players, of Los Angeles, will present "St. Claudia," a Biblical drama centered about the wife of Pilate.

Swami Vividishananda Will Conduct Services

Swami Vividishananda, leader, Vedanta Society, located at 1712 N street northwest, will conduct services tomorrow evening at 8 at the society chapel. He will discuss the true meaning of Yoga, the blessed experience of divine consciousness, and indicate the easiest way to attain it, his topic being, "Yoga—Its Secret."

He will also conduct the usual study classes—study of Gita and Yoga aphorisms—on Tuesday and Thursday at 8 p. m.

Blessing of Palms At St. Patrick's

Rev. J. K. Cartwright to Officiate at High Mass Tomorrow Morning.

At St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Tenth and G streets northwest, Palm Sunday (tomorrow) will be observed with a solemn blessing of palms at the high mass at 10 a. m. The Rev. John K. Cartwright will officiate. The deacon and subdeacon of the mass will be from Holy Cross College, Brookland.

The Passion will be sung tomorrow and Good Friday by three deacons from Holy Cross College.

The Right Rev. C. F. Thomas, P. A., pastor of the church, will pontificate at the solemn high mass on Easter Sunday, assisted by the deacon and subdeacon of Holy Cross College.

Christian Science Churches

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, tomorrow. The Golden Text is from Psalms 103-2-3: "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases." Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Art thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine Holy One? We shall not die. Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity." (Habakkuk 1:12-13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Text Book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science brings to light Truth and its supremacy, universal harmony, the entireness of God, good, and the nothingness of evil." (Page 293).

Victory Seen Through Defeat

Dr. Perkins Will Preach on Theme at Universalist Church.

"Victory Through Defeat" is the theme of the Palm Sunday sermon which will be preached by Dr. F. W. Perkins at the service at the Universalist National Memorial Church tomorrow at 11 o'clock. The church school will meet at 10:15, except the adult class, which follows the church service.

On Tuesday the women will meet at 10 o'clock in the parish house to do Red Cross sewing. At noon luncheon will be served. The Ladies Aid Association will meet at 1:30. At the Wednesday afternoon organ recital at 5 o'clock Dr. Harned will present a Wagner program, including selections from "Parsifal." At 8 o'clock Thursday evening there will be a communion service commemorating the Last Supper.

On the evening of Good Friday, at 8 o'clock, there will be a service at which Haydn's "The Passion" will be sung in full. "The Seven Last Words of Christ" will be the themes for three-minute meditations by Dr. Perkins and the Rev. U. G. B. Pierce, of All Souls Unitarian Church, thus carrying out the long-standing custom of a union Good Friday service for these two churches.

BRIDGE THAT STOOD, THEME AT REVIVAL

Dr. Massee Will Preach Tomorrow at Epworth M. E. Church.

Evangelistic services will be held in Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church South, Thirteenth street and North Carolina avenue northeast, during Holy Week, being a continuation of the services begun last Sunday morning and which have been continued this week. Dr. J. C. Massee, famous as a pastor and as an evangelist, will be assisted by Homer Rodeheaver, who has charge of the song services. The pastor in charge is Dr. J. C. Copenhaver. Dr. Massee will preach for the 11 o'clock service tomorrow, taking as his sermon subject "The Bridge That Stood," and for his 7:45 sermon he will preach on "A Dead Man in the Road."

Mr. Rodeheaver will play his famous trombone, sing and speak for the usual service of the Young People's Department tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock.

For the 7:45 p. m. sermons next week Dr. Massee has announced that he will take as his subjects: Monday, "Seein' Things—Youth and the Heavenly Vision;" Tuesday, "Hitch-Hiking on the Road to Heaven;" Wednesday, "Rainbow Tints From the Tears of Jesus;" Thursday, "What Is Wrong With Petting Parties—Favorite Sport of American Young People?" Friday, "When Jesus Comes Again."

This week again he will give a Bible lesson period, beginning at 2:30 Tuesday, and will hold them each afternoon until the close of the services. For that afternoon his subject will be "God's Program for a Revival;" Wednesday, "What Ails America?" Thursday, "The Women of the Larger Liberty;" Friday, "The Christian and the Bridge."

ECONOMY AND PUBLIC WORKS.

President Roosevelt's most impressive achievement thus far is his economy program. Having effected a remarkable saving in veterans' benefits his attention is now devoted to reorganization of the Government service with a view to saving several hundred millions of dollars more. The President is not waiting until next year to make these savings effective. The cuts will apply to the 1934 budget approved by the last Congress. In other words, the departments will not be allowed to spend all that Congress appropriated for them. They will be required to economize and turn their savings back to the Treasury.

While the public in general approves President Roosevelt's drastic economy program, there is fear in some quarters that it may be carried too far. If reports emanating from the Budget Bureau are correct, a large number of bureaus that are rendering the Government valuable services are to be completely wiped out. Extensive cuts are planned for the Departments of Agriculture, Commerce and Interior. In many cases service which the Government has rendered to business, industry and agriculture is to be discontinued. Apparently the forthcoming reorganization will be the most drastic shakeup that the Government service has undergone for many years.

Where bureaus and commissions are to be merged and their operations coordinated some employes will find themselves without jobs. Deplorable as this is, perhaps it is essential in the public interest. If every effort is made to shift capable civil service employes to the new jobs that may be opened up, little complaint will be heard of the President's program. But if vital agencies of the Government are to be crippled or abolished in the name of economy, that is a different matter. For example, it is reported that the agricultural extension service is to be abolished just as the Government is about to create a vast new agricultural agency to carry out the provisions of the farm relief bill.

The close relationship between these economy plans and the administration's relief program should not be overlooked. Expenses must be trimmed down, it is said, to afford a sound basis of credit so that the Government may finance an extensive program of public works and donate $500,000,000 to the States for unemployment relief. To create unemployment on one hand so as to make jobs on the other is merely to move in a circle and to get nowhere. A policy of discharging employes to get money to build new quarters for them might easily develop into a gigantic farce. If a program of public works is carried out, postoffices, reclamation projects, office buildings or some other form of construction must be undertaken. Reclamation projects would add to agricultural overproduction, and new buildings put an added burden on the taxpayers for upkeep. It is questionable whether these are more important than some of the work being done by the Departments of Commerce, Agriculture and Interior.

Economy is genuine only when vital functions are preserved and savings in one department are not squandered in some other department. Robbing Peter to pay Paul effects no saving and creates a lot of unnecessary disturbance and ill-will.

FIXING HOURS OF WORK.

An amazing policy of regulating the hours of labor in industry has been adopted by the Senate. Under the pretense of regulating interstate commerce the Senate voted to restrict industrial workmen to a 30-hour week for two years. Fifty-three senators supported the measure, apparently accepting the theory of Senator Borah that the Supreme Court would wink at constitutional invasions if Congress should declare the existence of an emergency.

Most attempts to amend the bill failed. Senator Robinson's effort to permit 36 hours of work per week was defeated in spite of his suggestions that the measure as it stands is unsatisfactory to President Roosevelt. His amendment, however, would not have changed the nature of the bill. It is a dangerous assault upon every man's right to work. Regardless of the fact that its objective—to distribute available work—is a worthy one, the Black bill threatens to bring labor under the domination of the Federal Government, from which it might never escape. The power to fix the hours of labor is the power of enslavement. If Congress should surrender to the demands of the radicals to fix hours, it will next be asked to fix wages. By this means a Federal bureaucracy could control both industry and labor.

Worthy motives do not justify such an assault upon the freedom of the individual in America. Soviet Russia thinks its motives are worthy when it forces men to work. The only essential difference between the two policies is that the Soviet forces its working men to labor for excessively long hours, while the Black bill would force working men to be idle during part of each week. Both situations are intolerable when imposed by law. It is inconceivable that the American people would sanction such a curtailment of their personal rights.

One feature of the bill that has been given too little attention is that it applies only to products of industrial plants in the United States. Goods produced in American factories or mills where any person is employed for more than five days per week or six hours per day would be forbidden in interstate commerce. But goods produced by Japanese working for 10 or 12 hours per day for a fraction of the wage that American workers receive could be shipped anywhere in the United States without restriction. When this advantage is added to the impetus that has already been given to industrial imports by depreciated currencies in many countries the grave dangers involved in this measure begin to be apparent.

Senator Hatfield offered an amendment to extend the bill to products of foreign origin, but it was defeated. As the measure stands it is a serious discrimination against American industry on which all American working men are dependent for jobs.

The full effects of this measure probably would not be felt until the country is well on the road toward recovery. Then all available workmen would be absorbed in industry and business on the 30-hour week basis. Full recovery would be impossible because men would not be allowed to work a normal day. Foreign interests using labor from 8 to 12 hours would take a greater slice of the American market. Industry might try to operate on an intrastate basis to avoid the law, but that would be costly, and the inability of American plants to extend their operations would play directly into the hands of the importers.

There is no way in which Congress can satisfactorily fix by law working hours for all pursuits in this vast country. The modern trend is toward flexible working hours, the length of the working day varying with the demands in the various industries. Hours fixed by law to a depression basis would be a calamity to labor as well as to industry.

SAVING HOMES.

The recent survey of mortgage foreclosures on family dwellings, as reported by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, reveals notable progress by this new Federal agency in the work of saving homes from the sheriff. In every month save one since the board opened its first credits last October the number of dwelling foreclosures has declined under the previous month.

The survey covered 414 selected communities in all 48 States and the District of Columbia. The territory surveyed included a little more than 38 per cent of the continental population of the United States, which is practically the entire urban group.

In the period 1926-32 foreclosures on homes averaged 1 per 1,000 annually. But the figure for 1932 was approximately 1 foreclosure per 1,000 every month, or twelve times the normal average.

The new home loan system was set up in August, 1932. In September, foreclosures were near the peak, at 12,512 for the month. In October, the first month of actual credits from the new agency, the total dropped to 12,087. Approximately 500 homes were saved that month. In February, the last month for which official figures are available, the number was reduced still further to 11,171, or 1,341 under September.

Thus, during its first five months of actual operation—even after allowing for 60 days of stagnation incident to the change in government—the home loan system has a few more than 2,000 salvaged homes to its direct credit. Millions of dollars in covering mortgages on these dwellings have been preserved, not through government guarantees, but merely through effective organization of private banking resources. No one can say how many thousands of other homes were saved by advances to building and loan associations.

A second vital fact disclosed by the survey is that the week-to-week reductions in foreclosures have been in direct relation to the number and efficiency of home financing institutions in the various regions which are affiliated with the new home loan system; and also in direct relation to the amount of money which the new banks have been able to advance in the various administrative districts. In those regions which have no home financing institutions affiliated with the new system, the trend of home foreclosures has continued upward since last fall.

These results have been achieved in the face of the fact that in only 8 of the 48 States could the old established home financing institutions join the new Federal system without special legislation. Direct money advances did not begin until January 16, 1933. Since that time $21,000,000 has been invested in the home mortgage field.

Now that the appointment of C. B. Merriam to be the third member of the board has been confirmed by the Senate, all is in readiness to speed up the program on a national basis. Some 1,400 membership applications now are before the board.

President Roosevelt's decision to permit this agency to continue as an independent unit, in the hope that a strong permanent home finance system may result, will be applauded by America's 13,000,000 home owners.

A sound and modern mortgage banking and discount system to serve home owners touches directly no less than 50,000,000 citizens. No purpose would be served by delaying further progress in this field pending development of the broader program touching farm mortgages.

THE TESTS BEGIN.

A Nebraska district court has declared that the new State law decreeing a moratorium on farm mortgages is unconstitutional. This is the beginning, undoubtedly, of a series of challenges that will be made to the sweeping measures for the relief of debtors that have been passed by various legislatures in western States. The decision of the Nebraska district court has yet to be ratified by the State supreme court, but the decision of the lower court has affected more than $500,000,000 in farm mortgages.

The case that has just been decided was one in which the proceedings to collect a $14,000 mortgage against the farm of Mrs. Ida Stephens was opposed on the ground that the new moratorium law made it possible to delay confirmation of sale for two years. Judge Proudfit, in denying the stay and confirming sale, held that the moratorium law was unconstitutional on the ground that it impaired the obligation of existing contracts. Chief Justice Goss, of the State supreme court, holds that the decision relates only to the Hebron district, and that a ruling by the higher court affecting the entire State must await appeal of the Hebron case.

Reports from Nebraska indicate that the decision caused no surprise among lawyers and representatives of companies holding mortgages in the State. It has been freely predicted that the mortgage moratorium would be declared to be in violation of constitutional provisions relating to contracts. This first case and its course through the higher court will be watched with interest, not only in Nebraska, but in other States where similar legislation has been enacted.

When that 30-hour per week bill gets through, Congress ought to try prescribing the manner in which all the unemployed must comb their hair.

What does it profit a man to hoard $100 and pay $10,000 fine and serve ten years in Atlanta?

April is a fine month for turning in your gold and getting a job in the woods.

CONSCIENCE FUNDS

From the New York Evening Post.

"Labor to keep alive in your breast," wrote George Washington in his "Moral Maxims," "that little spark of celestial fire called conscience." But not until eleven years after the Father of His Country had passed to his reward did the Government receive the first contribution to what has come to be called the conscience fund, composed of anonymous payments by citizens of just and long-due debts, which had been troubling their minds. In the London Times there frequently appears a notice to the effect that "the chancellor of the exchequer acknowledges the receipt" of so many pounds or shillings from X. Y. Z., or some other conscience-stricken citizen. Our Government, while making no such formal announcement of individual contributions, has received more than $600,000 for its conscience fund.

Last week some one sent a $1,000 gold certificate. A $5 gold piece also was received. In 1916, when consciences must have been particularly sensitive, the fund was enriched by $54,923, the record to date for a single year. There has been only one year since the fund was established—1848—when no "conscience contributions" have been recorded. Last year the total was $4,248.

Treasury officials could reveal some interesting stories in connection with these payments, of amateur smuggling and countless petty evasions of the income tax. Cheating the Government out of small sums is comparatively easy. Income tax returns are scanned and many errors and deficiencies are discovered, but in a large number of cases more extensive investigation would not be worth the cost. Pennies, nickels and dimes are being constantly received from those who may suddenly have recalled the old maxim, "It is a sin to steal a pin."

Americans returning from Europe have never regarded the smuggling of a few articles in excess of the nondutiable allowance as a serious offense. But these same citizens would never think of abstracting a few postage stamps when a postoffice clerk was looking the other way. "A quiet conscience," as Byron remarked, "makes one so serene." And the memory of even a few dollars or cents taken indirectly out of Uncle Sam's coffers may bring discomfort which lasts until it is quieted by a corresponding payment to the conscience fund "with interest to date."

EVENINGS AT HOME.

I had forgotten that you could crochet
Or like to hear a story read aloud,
So long it seems we've always gone away
To mingle somewhere with a babbling crowd.

When first we married and we used to rent
That upper flat on Fourteenth avenue,
We often sat together, quite content;
The supper dishes oft I dried for you.

Do you remember how I tinkered then
With saw and hammer o'er some pantry shelf
To save the cost of hiring expert men
And said: "My dear, I'll do that work myself!"

The meal tonight was good! I've always said
And now repeat it, old and ever true,
Although on this world's dainties I have fed,
No one can make an apple pie like you.

We've learned this lesson to our souls' delight;
For happiness we have no need to roam.
There are some joys the changing times can't blight,

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY dear Louise: Here is a strange coincidence that indicates that you have turned bolshevik.

Yesterday afternoon I read a news story concerning Mr. Stalin's efforts to improve Russian housekeeping.

It seems that whole families, under the blessing of Communism, somehow contrive to live in one small room. Lack of sanitary conveniences, coupled with a natural tendency to be messy, results in a sad and smelly chaos that is ugly and offensive. And hereafter Mr. Stalin's inspectors will examine all rooms at intervals and reward or punish householders as they note improvement or neglect.

With the news story fresh in my mind, I happened to pass the open door of your room. You had just finished dressing hastily to keep an engagement down town, and evidence of your haste was here and there.

One unmated shoe lay on the floor near the closet. Two stockings lay in forlorn heaps at the foot of the bed. An open dresser drawer revealed odds and ends of feminine gear in the midst of spilled powder. The powder box on the dresser was open, with no lid in sight. And there were other evidences of shipwreck that I could mention, but these are enough. The state rests.

I know your answer, Honey. When I moralize about such things I seem to be making a mountain of a mole hill. But a messy room indicates something more than is scattered on the surface.

In the first place, garments never hang themselves. If you don't put your house in order, some one else must. If a duty needs doing and you neglect it, the burden falls unjustly on some other person. And the habit of leaving your duty for some one else to perform makes a bad citizen and a poor sport.

But of greater importance is the fact that a physical habit always becomes a mental habit. Careless hands indicate a careless mind. Keeping personal effects neat and orderly, with everything in its place, develops an orderly mind that isn't easily rattled.

Hanging stockings on the floor probably doesn't hurt them, but the habit of being careless does hurt the girl.

The custom of throwing things here and there becomes "second nature," and after a while you wonder how all your affairs got so tangled. You can't dodge the penalty, my dear. If your things are scattered, your wits get that way, too. Love, DAD.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Farm Mentor.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

In the Roosevelt Cabinet there are more men than one who are finding at last the opportunity to bring into realization their own most cherished dreams. Particularly is this true of Henry Agard Wallace, who at the age of 44 holds the position of Secretary of Agriculture and liaison man between the Roosevelt administration and the American farmer. Wallace's father was a Republican, who served in the Harding Cabinet. The new Secretary claims that he does not know whether he is a Republican or a Democrat, but he does know that his belief in Franklin Roosevelt is strong and unfailing. He believed in him during the campaign of last year, when he threw every bit of his influence in the Middle West to help elect him; now he is even more convinced that Roosevelt offers the opportunity that America must seize.

Slash in Veterans' Payments.

Minneapolis Journal.

President Roosevelt has shown courage of a high order in putting into effect with so little delay the Hines plan of reducing the Government's payments to veterans. Scarcely was the ink dry on his signature of the economy bill when this four hundred million dollar slash was announced to take effect July 1.

Members of Congress who have been badgered into timorous complaisance by the veterans' lobbies, whenever they showed symptoms of resisting the latest raid on the Treasury, must have blinked their eyes in wonderment at a President who had the nerve to force Congress to give him the authority and then to utilize that authority with such effect.

Plenty of Juice.

Los Angeles Times.

Some few banks, says Secretary Woodin, will not be reopened until put in "apple-pie order." Evidently he wants the dough to be oozing over the rim.

Relief on Farm Debts.

Kansas City Times.

The President's request to Congress for legislation dealing with farm indebtedness is a proposal of the first importance. The farmers who replied to the poll taken by the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce voted almost 2 to 1 against Government price-fixing. But they were overwhelmingly in favor of debt legislation.

Taxes and debts constitute an overwhelming overhead on the farm industry. Before the war these two items absorbed only one-twelfth of the gross farm income. Last year they absorbed more than one-fifth. The tax situation must be handled chiefly by States and local taxing bodies. But the easing of the debts requires assistance from Washington.

Lessons in Banking.

Leavenworth Times.

One of the things the national bank holiday did for us was to give us a little education about the relative places which currency and credit occupy in the economical life of any community.

The ingenious way in which a relatively small amount of actual cash gets pyramided, through credit agencies, into a large amount of working capital could not have been better illustrated. It was dramatically, and in some cases painfully, proved to us that we can not do business on a currency basis—not even though the present supply of currency were doubled or quadrupled. We must have credit, and to have credit there must be complete confidence.

American Lady in Germany Denies Stories of Anti-Jewish Pogrom at Kassel.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The "Jewish Pogroms in Germany" news being spread in the U. S. A. has just reached us and has caused such indignation that it will not be soon forgotten. Regarding the "Plundering of Jewish stores" it may interest you to know what took place here in Kassel.

The afternoon mentioned in the dispatches I happened to be down town in company of a former army officer and a lawyer. Two boys bearing signs, "Buy in Specialty Shops," passed through the main business street where the three largest Jewish department stores are situated. Crowds gathered, but no one was hindered entering Tietz. Later this department store closed its doors. Walking down to Wertheim we saw S. A. men guarding the show windows on two street fronts. The doors of Wertheim had been closed earlier, as was the third store. Not a single person had been molested nor window pane smashed, as I found out the following morning when business went on as usual.

How can Americans in Germany expect courtesy and consideration when Germans in America must pass through a wave of lies and intrigues that carry insult and hatred. As an American may I beg you to print the truth in your paper and so help the cause of peace along.

Hopes Capitol Rotunda Will Have Picture of Lindbergh's Flight.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the space inside the dome of the Capitol there have been placed mural decorations setting forth the more or less thrilling events of the founding and the progress of the Nation. The landing of Columbus, the discovery of the Mississippi by De Soto, the baptism of Pocahontas, the embarking of the Pilgrims for the New World, the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the surrender of Burgoyne at Saratoga, the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, and Washington resigning his commission as general of the Army. There are two vacant spaces which at some time will be filled by the illustration of some equally important events.

The close of the Civil War at Appomattox would seem to rank with the baptism of the Indian maiden, but even that no more clearly marks the opening of a new era than does the flight of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh across the Atlantic Ocean alone. An American invention, piloted by the hand of Young America, thrills the imagination, stirs the pride and national spirit quite equal to that of any event now depicted. Distance has been conquered, so that the telegraph, telephone and even the radio have a mighty rival, which transports not only information, but materials and human life at will.

No measure of the importance of that world-renowned flight will ever be successfully applied, and since it is of such vast importance to the entire human race it would seem to deserve such national recognition. The authorities having in charge such additions to these paintings as will honor the Nation would serve our national consciousness, national pride and the historical value of the incident by an early placing of "We" properly in position in the dome of the Capitol.

Suggests Way to Save Billions of Horsepower Now Wasted.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: For some time Congress has been attempting to discover a means of economy that would in no way affect the patronage of the senators and representatives of our grand republic.

There is one way in which our legislators can realize their dreams: Congress needs only to pass a law prohibiting the continual flow of water in the Mississippi River. If "Old Man River" is placed on the five-day week basis and runs only six hours per day, the saving would be, in a few days, billions of horsepower.

I admit that there is a predominant fault to my suggestion. Such a law would be almost as hard to enforce as the prohibition law.

Raises Question of Air Concussion in Case of Akron in Thunderstorm.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The Akron perished in a severe storm where there was lightning with the accompanying thunder and other air conditions created. With its huge hulk, was it built to resist the tremendous concussion and other conditions caused by a flash of lightning in the immediate vicinity, even if the ship were not directly struck? The subject may or may not have been considered in the construction of this type of airships.

IT WAS AN "INSULT."

Two Zulu tribes recently engaged in a war that took the lives of 4,000 men. The fight grew out of the action of a chief's son, according to the Nebraska State Journal, who slit open a bag of salt and spread the contents on the ground. This was deemed a gross insult by the rival tribe and a disastrous war followed which did not end until the Natal police interfered. To those far away who can not get excited about a bag of salt or what any one does with it, the whole affair seems foolish. Yet civilized people have fought long and disastrous wars over trifles, incidents which are of no more real importance than the scattering of a bag of salt on the ground.

White House Dinner Given for Young People

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. ROOSEVELT entertained at dinner last evening for a small party of young people for their sons, Mr. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, jr., who arrived in Washington yesterday and Mr. John Roosevelt, who are to spend a part of their spring vacation at the White House. The party was originally planned with dancing as a feature of the evening, but out of deference to the officers and men who lost their lives in the Akron tragedy arrangements for the dancing were canceled.

Among the guests present were: Mr. Louis Howe, Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Emmet, Miss Margaret LeHand, Mr. George Whitney, Mr. Kennedy McIntyre, Mr. Huntington Thom, Mr. Corcoran Thom, jr., Mr. Jean de Sibour, Mr. Warren Robbins, jr., Mr. Edward H. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hinckley, Mr. and Mrs. Blaise de Sibour, Mr. Theodore Roosevelt 3d, Mr. Pier, Mr. Croll Hunter, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, Miss Marjorie Millbank, Miss Ethel Woodward, Miss Mary Elizabeth Mac Arthur, Miss Marie McIntyre, Miss Helen Robbins, Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, Miss Abigail Sard and Mrs. Curtis B. Dall.

Miss Millbank, Miss Woodward, Mr. Whitney and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett are guests in the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt entertained a few friends at tea yesterday afternoon and earlier in the day, with Mrs. Henry Morganthau, jr., took her daily ride in Rock Creek Park.

Mrs. Roosevelt has invited the small children of Mr. Stephen Early, Secretary to the President, to occupy her box at the Children's Theater presentation of "Little Women" at the National Theater this morning.

Others, in what bids fair to be a capacity audience for this final play of the Children's Theater this season, will be Miss Moira Archbold, Mrs. Randall H. Hagner, Mrs. Leland Harrison, Mrs. Reginald Huidekoper, Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin, jr., Mrs. Julius Klein, Mrs. C. E. Munroe, Mrs. John L. Newbold, Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, Mrs. Mackay Smith, Mrs. Charles F. Wilson, Mrs. Edgar Woods, Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Mrs. William Quigley, Miss E. P. Worthington, Mrs. Llewellyn D. Nicolson, Mrs. Hamilton Bryan, Mrs. Tyler Dennett, Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. Lester G. Wilson, Mrs. Ralph U. Hyde and Mrs. Z. B. Phillips.

Students of Mount Vernon Seminary, The Maret School and Misses' Eastman's School will attend under school chaperonage.

The Ambassador of Germany and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron will be the guests in whose honor the Minister of Sweden and Mme. Boetrom will entertain at dinner this evening.

The Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz will be the guests in whose honor Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mott Gunther will entertain at dinner tomorrow evening.

Ambassador and Mme. May At New York Wedding.

The Ambassador of Belgium and Mme. May left yesterday for New York, where, with the retiring Ambassador of France and Mme. Claudel, they were the guests of honor at a reception given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Cartier at their residence on Ninety-sixth street. The Ambassador and Mme. May will remain over for the wedding of Miss Marion Cartier and Mr. Pierre Claudel, which will take place today, the civil ceremony having been performed yesterday. They will return to Washington on Monday.

Senora de Cardenas, wife of the Ambassador of Spain, also left for New York yesterday to attend the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Cartier and the wedding today, and she will be joined on April 14 by the Ambassador, when they will bid farewell to the former's brother-in-law, Mr. Clement Auffmordt, who will sail that day aboard the Paris for his home in France. Mr. Auffmordt, who has been a guest at the embassy, is also in New York, where he is at the Ritz-Carlton until his departure.

The Minister of the Netherlands and Mme. van Royen will entertain at dinner this evening.

Mrs. Woodin Entertained At Democratic Club.

Mrs. William H. Woodin, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury, will be the guest of honor at tea at the Women's National Democratic Club this afternoon. Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, Mrs. Copley Amory, Mrs. William Mark Conrad, Miss Ethel Bagley, Mrs. John B. Gordon, of Alexandria; Mrs. Benjamin D. Hill, Mrs. Franklin H. Henworthy, Mrs. Jesse B. Jones, Mrs. John Cabell Breckinridge, Mrs. Hugh T. Nelson, Mrs. Cary T. Grayson, Mrs. Frederick D. Richardson, of Fairfax, and Mrs. Bates Warren.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. George Dern were among the guests who attended the dinner dance last evening at the Willard, which marked the end of the season of the Friday Evening Dancing Class.

Among the three hundred guests were Senator and Mrs. Warren Austin, the Minister of Czechoslovakia and Mme. Veverka, the Minister of Guatemala and Senora de Recinos, Senator and Mrs. Burton K. Wheeler, Senator David I. Walsh, the Military Attache of the Cuban Embassy and Mme. Prieto, the Counselor of the Cuban Embassy and Mme. Baron and the First Secretary of the German Embassy, Herr Ernst Wilhelm Mayer.

The Attorney General, Mr. Homer Cummings, will join Mrs. Cummings at their home in Greenwich, Conn., over the week-end. Mrs. Cummings will not return to Washington until the middle of the month.

Representative and Mrs. Hamilton Fish, jr., entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Miss Mary Goodyear McNeale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McNeale, whose marriage to Commander Charles Cunningham Brown, R. N., will take place on Monday, April 17. Miss Susan LeRoy Rogers, daughter of Mrs. Fish, will be one of the bridesmaids.

The Naval Attache of the Italian Embassy and Signora Pia Casardi Rosasco, and the First Secretary of the Embassy and Countess Roncalli have gone to New York to attend the wedding of Miss Marion Cartier to Mr. Pierre Claudel, son of the retiring Ambassador of France and Mme. Claudel.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Hutchinson Cone entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Boyd, of Glasgow, Scotland. Before her marriage, Mrs. Boyd was Miss Gertrude Lyford, of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd are the house guests of Maj. and Mrs. Thomas J. Camp during their stay in Washington.

Lady Lister-Kaye was the guest in whose honor Mr. Archibald C. V. Wells entertained at tea yesterday when Mrs. John Duncan McDonald assisted the host. The guests included the Minister of Albania, Mr. Faik Konitza; Lady Faith Montagu, Mr. and Mrs. Hollister Sturgess, Baron Faber, Mrs. Edwards Shouse and her daughters, Miss Elizabeth Shouse and Miss Marian Shouse; Lord Chichester, Brig. Gen. William Horton, the Counselor of the Polish Embassy, and Mme. Sokolowska, Mr. Weverly Taylor and Mr. Herbert Hengstler.

Mrs. Perry Heath entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Mrs. John McShane, of Omaha, Nebr., who is spending the early spring in Washington.

Mrs. Mark Reid Yates entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Collingwood Tea House in honor of Mrs. Charles Lea, of Philadelphia, who has taken a house on Wyoming avenue for the spring. The guests included Mrs. Owen J. Roberts, Mrs. ZeBarney Phillips, Mrs. Lindsay Russell, Mrs. Dion Williams, Mrs. Robert Whitney Imbrie, Mrs. Abram Claude, Mrs. Walter Tuckerman, Miss Mary McQuade, Mrs. Robert Davis, of Falls Church, Mrs. Lea Hudson, stepdaughter of Mrs. Lea, who is her house guest, and Miss Edith C. Yates, sister-in-law of Mrs. Yates, who is spending the season with Mrs. Yates.

Mr. and Mrs. Demarest Lloyd have returned to Washington with their children after a short visit to Hot Springs, Va.

Comdr. Mahlon Street Tisdale and Mrs. William S. Calloway were married quietly yesterday at the home of the bride in Washington. The ceremony was performed by the Chief of Chaplains of the Navy, Capt. S. K. Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Waldemar Welsbrod, of Philadelphia and Atlantic City, who were recently married at Ventnor, are spending some time at the Shoreham. Mrs. Welsbrod was, before her marriage, Miss Virginia Martin Zimmerman, youthful author, of Ventnor, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Zimmerman, formerly of Philadelphia. She is a graduate of the Caskin School, Devin, Pa. Mr. Welsbrod is a graduate of P. M. C., is the son of Elizabeth W. Welsbrod and the late George Welsbrod, jr., of Philadelphia. He is a free lance news feature writer, having interviewed Hitler at the first German presidential election last March and Maxim Litvinov, Soviet foreign minister in Berlin.

Mrs. Charles A. Camalier, assisted by Mrs. Herbert Peacock, Mrs. Albert Earle Conradis, Miss Louise Hoover and Miss Catherine Hoover, will receive the members of the National Park Seminary Alumnae tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Blaine Mallan and Mrs. Arthur Wallace Dunn will go to New York tomorrow where they will be for a few days.

Mr. Harry Villard has gone to Charleston, S. C., for a short visit.

Mrs. John S. Cooke, of Warrens Point, Little Compton, R. I., has come to Washington to spend the spring season, and she has engaged an apartment at Wardman Park Hotel.

Mrs. William O'Neil and her children, Miss Grace O'Neil, Mr. John O'Neil, Mr. Hugh O'Neil and Mr. Jerry O'Neil, of Akron, Ohio, motored to Washington and are staying at the Shoreham for a few days en route from Miami Beach, Fla., where they have been for the winter.

Mrs. Wilton J. Lambert and her sister, Mrs. Richard A. Johnson will leave on Monday for a visit to Charleston, S. C., where they will be for about two weeks.

Mrs. Benjamin Rogers, who has been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins for several days, has returned to her home in New York.

Miss Bloom to Give Song Recital.

Miss Vera Bloom will give a song recital at the Woman's National Democratic Club on April 23, when she will be accompanied by Mr. Henry Gregor, pianist.

Mr. James C. Stone, jr., arrived here a day or two ago to be with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Stone in their apartment at Wardman Park Hotel for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, of Meriden, Conn., have taken a suite at the Carlton.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

THE WHYS OF SOME ASTHMA.

THE number and variety of substances, exposure to which may cause asthma, expands as experiences accumulate. The discovery that fungi, such as yeasts and molds, may be the allergy agents has increased the directions in which we must look in searching for the cause of the asthmatic group of disorders. The fungi are very well adapted to life on many household articles and, to make matters worse, they easily dry and become incorporated in dust.

Dr. G. T. Brown reports a series of cases of asthma in which molds or yeasts, spread principally by household articles, were the agents most responsible for the trouble in breathing.

T. got better of his asthma after having his sleeping quarters thoroughly cleansed, getting a new mattress and pillows and covering, both of these with a special fabric, and keeping out all dust. In this case several molds acting in association appeared to be the cause.

C. had asthma very bad when he was in his house. It was due to molds in the house dust. Thorough cleaning and making use of a new mattress and pillows covered by rubber stopped his trouble.

A schoolgirl had asthma due to molds drawn out of her mattress by means of a vacuum cleaner. Her parents got her a new mattress and her asthma disappeared. An 11-year-old had asthma due to molds which was made very much worse by sleeping on an old mattress in a schooner. E., a girl of 7, also got well when she was given a new, clean mattress. H., an 8-year-old boy, was another of the cases with asthma due to mattress dust.

G. had asthma, particularly in weather that kept him indoors. When he got rid of a musty old rug that had been on the floor for fifteen years, and vacuum cleaned the mattress and everything else the trouble was at an end.

Mrs. T. had asthma of eighteen years' duration due to house dust containing several molds. Miss J. had sneezing spells that were very persistent and annoying. Her trouble was found to be due to molds such as are often found in house dust. Mrs. G. had asthma that came on after spring cleaning. She was made worse by exposure to mattress dust. The harmful ingredient in this dust was a mixture of molds and not hair or skin cells.

Miss M had eczema. Cultures made from her stools showed a mold of the kind that grows on stale bread. Miss S. had eczema which became better when she went to the mountains. Her trouble appeared to be due to yeast. She got better when she quit eating light bread made with yeast. Miss C. had a chronic asthma which got better when she abandoned foods made with yeast.

Dr. R. had an asthma which was made worse when he ate some cheese and was exposed to certain molds. Some cheeses contain molds.

A. had chronic abdominal pain. A mold was present in his stools. When the plant life of his digestive tract was changed by diet his pain disappeared. Mrs. H. and Miss B. were two other cases with symptoms due to yeasts and molds in the digestive tract.

L. had a mixture of several skin troubles which appeared to be due to molds and yeasts. Athlete's foot was of the combination.

J., a 5-year-old boy, had asthma which stopped when the family got rid of some overstuffed furniture.

B., a 6-year-old, had a mold asthma which started when he explored a damp cave.

A FULL PACK OF TRICKS.

THE Contract player who is to make the best use of his cards must be fully prepared with a complete line of bids, designed to meet all possible contingencies at the Contract table. The Four-Five No-trump Convention has been found almost a necessity in reaching biddable and makable Grand Slams, or in hands which do not justify the bidding of a Grand Slam, in stopping short of it, because the players know that a necessary card is not held.

Equally valuable is another bid which I and my associates have used for years—namely, the Overcall in a suit bid by the opponents to disclose the fact that the first round of it can be won either with the Ace or because the player making the bid has none of that suit and hence can win it with a trump. It required both of these bids to permit the reaching of a safe Grand Slam on the hand below, one of the many interesting hands in the recent Eastern Pair Championship held in New York City.

North, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

South	West	North	East
		1◇	2♣(1)
3♠(2)	Pass	4♡(3)	Pass
4NT(4)	Pass	5♣(5)	Pass
7◇(6)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Perhaps a slightly venturesome Overcall. In this instance, at least, it worked greatly to the advantage of East's opponents.
3—Showing a second biddable suit.
4—Disclosing two Aces and the King of a bid suit.
5—Showing the absence of club losers.
6—South correctly places his partner with strength sufficient to make the Slam a certainty. The losing spades, if any, may be ruffed by the Declarer, and North certainly can ruff any losers in the club suit while Dummy is prepared to ruff all the losers in North's heart suit. The Grand Slam is practically sure due to the use of correct bidding conventions.

"ARIES."

IF APRIL 8 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 5:45 a. m. to 7:30 a. m., from 11:30 a. m. to 12:45 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 10:10 a. m. and from 5:30 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

Debts contracted on this day will give rise to difficulties of a serious nature before they are repaid. Do not enter into discussions of any kind for more than likely they will lead to quarrels and to disrupted and strained relations with others. A visit to the sick will prove cheering.

The child born on this April 8 will be an eager little one, with considerable ambitions and a strong desire always to do the right thing. These children will invariably be found among the leaders of any group in which they find themselves. Many friends among those of the opposite sex.

If April 8 is the date of your birth, it is quite probable that you are a person of executive ability. If possible you should seek to find work that will enable you to be in charge of groups of people. People look to you for guidance and are willing to follow your leadership in affairs of a business nature. You seem always to know "the right" people and to be on the "in" whenever anything of importance is to transpire in your community. You are not a perfect person by any means, but people are quick to catch the note of sincerity behind your every word and act. People will stand behind you even if your plans go wrong and even though you bring difficulties into their lives. You are fortunate in being able to win people to you and to keep them on your side through thick and thin.

Born on April 8, you will befriend many; but you must take care not to allow yourself to becom embroiled in the troubles of others to your own detriment. In matters pertaining to relations with the opposite sex, you are a prudent person, and it is not likely that you will "get burned." Quite likely, you will have but one love affair in your life; the chances are that you will marry your first love, but you will find many bachelors and old maids among those born on this day.

Successful people born on April 8:
Mary Pickford, screen star.
David Rittenhouse, astronomer.
Walter Harriman, soldier and governor.
Howell E. Jackson, jurist.
Irving R. Wiles, artist.
George W. Greene, author.

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE

POSSESSIVE JEALOUSY.

IT would be a happy thing if parents by virtue of their parenthood would become free immediately of all the unhappy character traits which afflict humanity in general.

Unfortunately, the faults which have dogged an individual all his life continue to do so even in that most intimate relationship—that of parent and child.

One of the most dangerous and usually quite unconscious faults is that of possessive jealousy, which may manifest itself in many ways.

The woman who knows that she has always had a tendency to be jealous of any one who threatened to take away from her some part of the affection of any one she loved must be on her guard to catch herself lest she make decisions which affect her child's happiness more from this motive than from thought of what is best for the child.

Often the first conflict comes when the mother brings her child to kindergarten.

She has brought him because she believes she wants him to enjoy its advantages, but let her see that her baby is not heart-broken over the separation from her, let her see that the teacher has an influence over him that rivals her own, and she finds all sorts of excuses for not sending him any more.

This conflict may continue in one form or another through all the years of the child's development, to culminate in a dramatic crisis when the child wants to leave home to take a job in another city, or to get married.

At such times such parents often have "breakdowns" or vague but apparently serious illnesses which would make appear heartless the children who would leave them under such circumstances.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

HO, hum, for a spring grippe—or influenza! Not to mention that umpteenth operation—ugh!

But let's talk about the pleasant side of it all! And that is, naturally, the aspect of how we look and consequently feel in bed. And not necessarily in a sick bed, either, I would remind you—but in any bed, any time, all the time.

Oh, I can hear you say that a busy woman never stays in bed. But the fact is that she does, and maybe should. And what about that just-before-sleep reading, which requires her to be in bed, and comfy, and not too "raw" looking in her decollete nightgown?

All of which leads up to me reminding you about your bedwear, all the little pretties that make you stylish in bed, all the things so necessary and so often neglected!

Bed jackets, bed scarfs, really attractive foot warmers; yes, the same old kind, but how different! And it is no crime to wear a head bandeau, either—especially if you have nerves that jump into neuralgia, or a coiffeur that rates a little care. Then there are bed mittens which cover our far more practical cosmetic gloves, and, oh, just hunks and lots and lots of things that lovely women know and use and other women neglect.

Better give them some thought—it is so simple to do so, and these lovely things are so inexpensive when you make them yourself. The materials, too, are inexpensive, because it takes so little of even the most expensive ones. But loveliness in bed is as important as loveliness anywhere else, and 'tis well to acquire the habit of it.

* * * *

Better send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post to find out how to make all sorts of bedtime pretties. They take so little time to make, so little material, and, in general, are so lovely and loveliness lending! This leaflet tells you how to make bed jackets, breakfast scarfs, quilted foot warmers and mittens—with which to cover those ugly rubber or cosmetic gloves, you see—and, oh, lots of other lovely things! Remnants, scrapbag, spare finger time—and beauty. Better send for it and see.

The Meanderer

"Seven Menus for Beer Suppers" Ready for Applicants; Cold Meats, Crusty Italian Bread and Herrings Selling Fast.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

The demand for "Seven Menus for Beer Suppers," offered by the Meanderer to her readers, simultaneously with the legalizing of beer, has resulted in requests rapidly piling up for the menus. Those who want the suggestions so offered may follow directions above in their request, and may expect to receive the menus promptly.

Cold meats for serving with beer are being ordered in great quantities from a special dealer in cold meats in a market on K street. Frankfurters, knackwurst, braunsweiger, bloodwurst, tea cervelat, gooseliver sausage and home-baked ham are among the meats most in demand, the dealer said.

Crusty white bread, baked Italian style in round, long or twisted loaves is selling for use in beer parties nearly as often as does rye bread. The Meanderer found this Italian bread in the importer's stand in a big downtown market, where many of her readers have gone to buy genuine Italian foods. There the shopper will find the crushed Italian olives, seasoned highly, with peppers, thyme and condiments.

Russian sardines, anchovies of several descriptions, pickled pigs feet and herrings—many, many herrings—are still another class of foods that have increased in sales since the beer law became effective. Almost infinite quantities of such foods are for sale in a corner stand in a big downtown market. Salted herrings, three for 25 cents, which must be soaked several hours; "roll-em-ups"—(rolled herrings with pickles), sometimes known as "roll-mops," which are two for a quarter and the flat, Bismarck herrings at three for 25 cents are the most commonly chosen herrings.

Brilliant azalea plants, known in their home country, Japan, as hinodigiri, are heavy with intensely pink bloom in the flower markets, rivaling the always noticeable potted tulips. A sizable azalea plant which may be planted in the garden and flourish hardily, sells for $1.50. Potted Darwin tulips in several colors are $1.00 or less for a large pot.

Asparagus leads in interest down in the big markets on the water front where food in wholesale shipments supplies Washington shops. Crates of asparagus sell for as little as $2.50 nowadays, while not many days ago a crate of asparagus—twenty bunches—sold for $20 a crate.

Honeydew melons from South America and light and dark grapes, also from the far south, are arriving regularly in the Southwest market for the pleasure of the epicure.

New, red Irish potatoes in large shipments from Florida are expected next week in the wholesale district. Heavy rains through the South have retarded shipments and delayed the expected reduction in price on potatoes.

Boston head lettuce is plentiful on the local market and should be given attention by the housewife when she notes the increase in the cost of the Iceberg variety. The name of Boston head lettuce is misleading, as it is grown in the Carolinas.

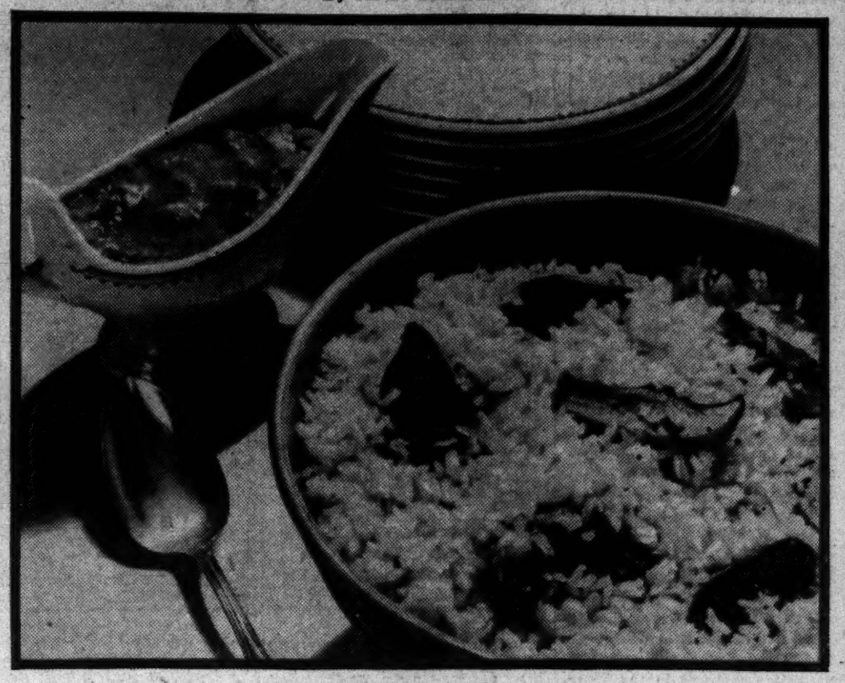
WHAT'S GOOD TO EAT

RICE A MAINSTAY OF COOKING IN CHEAP AND DELICIOUS DISHES

By ANN BARRETT



NO wonder they pelt brides and bridegrooms with rice! If ever there was a useful food for newlyweds to have in mind on the brink of adventures in housekeeping, rice is it. Used by half the world as a main article of food, it may be cooked in so many ways (both cheap and good) I'm nearly giddy lining them up.

For example, there's the East Indian dish that's a favorite with Andrew W. Mellon, of Treasury and Ambassador fame—rice with chicken and chutney, in a rich curry. There's Spanish rice as Ramon Novarro recommends it—all pepped up with onions, tomatoes and pepper. There's rice cooked dry, the Chinese way—ready to soak up some such rich and tasty stew as chop suey (Janet Gaynor's favorite). There's rice from soup to dessert, and for any meal (including breakfast).

Whatever the dish, there's one thing certain—the rice kernels in it should be whole and distinct, not squashed and gummed together. Here's how to get them that way. Wash the rice through many waters to remove outside coating. Use plenty of liquid to cook it in. Do not cook it too long. Never stir it with a spoon, but just loosen it from the bottom of the kettle with a fork, if necessary. Then drain it in a sieve and shake it under the hot-water faucet to remove excess starch. Then dry it out in the oven or on the back of the stove and serve it piping hot.

Spanish Rice.

The so-called Spanish rice may be cooked several ways. The following recipe is especially good, I think, because the rice is browned in fat before it is cooked. Here's how: First lightly brown 1½ cups sliced onions in half cup bacon fat. (Use a heavy skillet.) Then remove onions, and brown half cup raw rice in the fat (first washing and drying rice carefully). Then put the onions back into the pan, add 3 cups canned tomatoes, 1 cup green pepper (shredded), 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon black pepper and a few grains of cayenne pepper. Turn this into a greased baking dish and bake in a moderate oven till tender.

Curried Rice.

Curried rice, that makes slick eating with stewed chicken, lamb or mutton, goes like this: First melt 1 tablespoon butter in a heavy skillet or saucepan. Add 2 tablespoons minced onion and cook gently till light brown. Then blend in half teaspoon curry powder, and cook this three minutes. Next add 1¼ cups strained tomato juice, half cup uncooked rice (thoroughly washed and dried), ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Cover and simmer gently one hour. Ten minutes before serving stir into this 2 tablespoons mashed banana pulp. This gives the curry a bland and subtle flavor that's delicious. Besides the meat this is served with, there should be plenty of chutney—that appetizing sweet-sour-spicy relish made of fruits and vegetables. (You can buy it ready made, domestic or imported.)

Baked Rice and Giblets.

To come a little closer home, here's baked rice and giblets, an American-style dish that gets a glad okay from Alice Roosevelt Longworth. Combine 2 cups cooked rice with 1 cup cooked chicken giblets, chopped fine; 1 tablespoon minced onion, 3 tablespoons miced celery, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 2 cups slightly thickened gravy or liquid the giblets were cooked in. Turn this into a greased oven dish and bake in a moderate oven till brown (about 20 minutes).

Raisin Rice Custard.

Rice plays such a shining role in puddings such as raisin rice custard they are weekly standbys in the most select circles. Here's how this particular kind of rice pudding gets its fame.

Bring 1 cup of milk to a boil. Add 1 cup raisins (seedless). When cool add 3 beaten eggs, ¾ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Mix thoroughly, then stir in 1½ cups cooked rice (with fork, so as not to break it). Turn mixture into greased baking dish, set dish in a pan containing a little hot water and bake in a moderate oven (325 to 350) till knife thrust into center comes out clean (about 30 minutes). Serve hot with hard sauce, or cold with cream or fruit sauce. Rather slow baking is the trick of getting a nice custard-like texture to this pudding. Also the trick of setting the dish in a pan of water. And, by the way, the oven should never get hot enough to make this water boil.

Send for More Recipes.

You didn't find the particular recipe you wanted in those given above? Well, cheer up! Likely enough it's in the recipe bulletin I have for you. This contains more foreign rice dishes, such as Mexican rice and Turkish pilaf; more rice desserts, more American rice dishes and directions for cooking a whole Chinese dinner, including such dishes as chow mein, chop suey, almond cakes. Miss Kate Busby, Resident of Chevy Chase, Victor in Weekly Contest.

Southern pecan pie, a real treat, may be prepared from the recipe which was awarded the weekly $5 prize in The Post's recipe contest.

The formula was submitted by Miss Kate Busby, of 4616 Chevy Chase boulevard, Chevy Chase, Md. It should be a necessary addition to every recipe book.

To be eligible for the weekly recipe contests of The Post all formulas which are sent in must have as ingredients some of the products sold by the advertisers of the Saturday Food and Home Economics Page.

3 eggs, beaten together
1 cup dark sirup (Karo)
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon vinegar
¼ cup butter, melted
¾ cup of broken pecan meats

Mix well and pour in unbaked pie shell and cook 45 minutes.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

A RADIO racket which has been going on for years was stopped, Commissioner Mulrooney believes, when his detectives arrested three individuals who are now occupying choice cells in the Tombs. The racket, which has cost its victims an aggregate of several hundred thousand dollars, started originally with liquor.

Secretaries of prominent men en route to Europe, immediately after they had sailed, would receive radiograms, sent presumably by their employers, instructing them to pay for several cases of liquor which were to be delivered in a few days. Soon after the radiogram was received the "liquor" would arrive. Usually the unsuspecting secretary would pay for it and put it away until the employer returned from Europe. Later it was discovered in each case that the "liquor" was only carbonated water. However, the fraud was practiced so persistently that the perpetrators grew fearful of detection, and changed their methods. For "liquor" they substituted "rare Persian rugs." Then when the rug feature had been worked for some time, they substituted "income tax." Instead of instructing secretaries to pay for a package that was to be delivered, the radiogram would order them to pay a certain sum for the services rendered to a Mr. Brown or a Mr. Jones of the "income tax department."

By watching the sailing lists of the large steamship lines the racketeers were able to get the names of many prospective victims. The higher they were the harder they fell.

THE memorial service for the officers and men of the Akron, lost at sea in the greatest disaster of its kind in history, will be broadcast from the Washington Cathedral tomorrow afternoon. Both networks will carry it, Columbia, through WJSV, beginning at 4 o'clock, and N. B. C., through WMAL or WRC, probably the former, at 4:30 p. m.

Secretary of the Navy Swanson will attend and, possibly President Roosevelt. Bishop Freeman will call the roll of those who lost their lives. Edgar Priest, organist and choirmaster, is arranging a musical program appropriate for the occasion.

Pearl S. Buck, the missionary's daughter who rose to world-wide fame through writing of the "Good Earth," will speak on "The American Policy in China." Her remarks will be picked up at a meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science in Philadelphia. (WJSV, 8:45 p. m.)

For some years now Guy Lombardo has been telling proteges "Don't be nervous—a microphone never hurt anybody!" Today the wise Guy is nursing a black eye, suffered when an overhead Columbia mike cut loose from its moorings as he struck up the band with Burns and Allen.

The selection was "Try a Little Tenderness."

Rufus C. Dawes, exposition president, will introduce a new series of programs in conjunction with the Century of Progress Exposition, inaugurated by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, tonight (WMAL, 9 o'clock). Dr. Frederick Stock will conduct the broadcast. Following the inaugural program, the Century of Progress programs will be heard on Wednesday nights at 10:30 over the same network.

The new "Neighbors" series of small town comedy sketches by Zona Gale will be heard hereafter each Saturday evening, beginning tonight at 9:30, over WRC, instead of on Fridays at 10:30, as previously broadcast.

WHEN four men held up the Washington Mechanics Savings Bank, Inspector Burke, of the Police Department, called up Station WJSV and asked them to put on the air a description of the men and the car in which they had made their escape.

"At 2 o'clock, WJSV asked Washingtonians to be on the lookout for the bandits and their car bearing New Jersey State tags C 19227," according to an official of the station.

"Carl Cummings, who not only owns Carl's Restaurant at 1245 D street northeast, but also eats in it (he says), heard the announcement. He carefully noted the license number.

"Shortly afterward he saw a car similar to the one he had just heard described. He watched four men get out—he compared the license number with the one which had been broadcast. Then he called the police.

"It was the car in which the bandits had fled. Valuable clews were found in it. Then the Police Department called WJSV again, later in the afternoon—this time to thank the station for the cooperation."

The resolution that "Democracy Has Failed," will be debated by Oxford University of Great Britain and Columbia University of the United States in a two-way international broadcast over WJSV at 6 o'clock tonight. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, will be chairman of the debate and will hear his undergraduates asserting that democracy has not failed.

More than 100 women's voices from New York will be heard in a radio presentation of "The Highwayman," by Deems Taylor, sung by the St. Cecilia Club (WMAL, 6 p. m.). "The Highwayman" is a musical setting of Alfred Noyes' poem.

SECRETARY OF LABOR FRANCES PERKINS is scheduled by Columbia to speak tonight on the subject "The New Challenge to Labor." Others prepare their remarks long in advance—write them out and learn their little piece—but it is said that Miss Perkins will speak extemporaneously.

WOR'S crew that officiated at the recent dinner given to Miss Perkins, the first woman to be appointed Secretary of Labor, are of the opinion that she is the best extemporaneous speaker of her sex ever heard on the air, or anywhere else, for that matter. Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith is credited by them with creating more spontaneous laughter than any other man.

The feminine member of the Cabinet will be heard here through Station WJSV at 10:15 p. m.

Col. William K. Naylor, chief of staff of the Second Corps Area, will broadcast an Army Day address from New York (WMAL, 12 noon). . . . During an Army Day musical show the Four Majors, a male quartet, will make their bow to radio audiences. Jimmy Reilly, Irish monologist, will present his humorous rookie poem, "Squads Right," and two brief sketches will recall memories of trench life (WRC, 4 p. m.). . . . Count Ilya Tolstoi will speak over the WEAF network (but not WRC) at 7 p. m. on the subject of the last will and testament of Rasputin, Russia's "holy devil." . . . Another collection of time-proven favorites from "The Mikado," "The Pirates of Penzance," "Iolanthe," "The Sorcerer" and "Princess Ida" will be presented during the program of Gilbert and Sullivan gems Saturday (WMAL, 10:15 p. m.).

SENATOR MILLARD E. TYDINGS, of Maryland, will discuss "Government Economy and Recovery" during the America'n Taxpayers' League program over WMAL at 8 p. m.

The Central Union Mission Glee Club will cheer the boys up tonight (WOL, 8:30 p. m.). . . . The Nordica Mandolin and Guitar Orchestra will be heard over the same station at 6:15 p. m. . . . Arthur Godfrey will put a few good ones over the plate when he interviews Clark Griffith (WRC, 7:30 p. m.). . . . Representative M. J. Hart, of Michigan, and maybe Senator Ellison D. Smith will discuss the farming situation (WMAL, 1:30 p. m).

"Frank Black, N. B. C.'s general musical director, says that during the ten years he has been hearing auditions, only three radio aspirants ever reached the top as a result of these hearings," declares Nellie Revell.

How, then, Mr. Black, did the others reach the top?

The latest thing is a microphone at a police booth, alongside an automobile traffic highway, feeding loud speakers a quarter of a mile away, so that a policeman in a booth can instruct drivers of approaching cars as far as he can see them.

Clam Wins Death Battle With Duck

Bivalve's Grip Holds Bill of Bird Closed for Five Days.

Bellingham, Wash., April 7 (A.P.). A strange marine battle between a scoter or black duck and a butter clam off the ferry slip at Orcas Island had ended in apparent victory for the clam.

For five days the scoter, his beak held tightly closed by the vise-like grip of the bivalve, sought to shake off his tormentor, but the clam refused to loosen his hold and the black duck weakened steadily.

The scoter appeared exhausted Wednesday and the weight of the clam had bowed his head on his breast. Duck and clam disappeared today. The clam won, observers said.

Janet Gaynor Divorces Critical Screen Writer

Los Angeles, April 7 (A.P.).—Janet Gaynor, diminutive movie actress, was granted a divorce today from Lydell Peck, screen writer, formerly of Oakland.

Miss Gaynor took the stand in Superior Judge Clement L. Shinn's court and testified that Peck continually criticized her film work and objected to her staying late at the studio. They married September 11, 1929, in Oakland and separated December 14, 1932.

Stocks Continue Advances Under Oil and Mines Lead

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—Grains provided less enthusiastic leadership for shares today and closing Stock Exchange quotations were narrowly irregular for the most part.

However, considerable strength developed in mining and oil issues and the average change for the list was a fractional net gain. Volume was down to 954,655 shares.

Stocks lacked impetus for much of an advance, though support for the two groups mentioned tended to smooth over the setback from an early rise.

Gold mining equities took a sprint, paced by Homestake. Buyers of that issue found the available supply scarce and the quotation soared 19 points to 195, a new high; the close was 193, up 17. Alaska Juneau, McIntyre Porcupine and Dome were active and moderately higher. In oils, Standard of New Jersey jumped 2 and California Standard did nearly as well.

Industrials were rather firm, American Tobacco, Corn Products, United States Steel common, Du Pont and Union Carbide had small net losses. Profit taking clipped a point from American Sugar's recent rise. Woolworth dipped on dividend uncertainties. American Telephone, which has been meeting offerings on the week's rise, was down half a point. Union Pacific lost 1, but rails on the whole were mixed and quiet.

More attention was paid to copper shares as better demand appeared for the metal, especially from abroad. Domestic and foreign prices hardened in response to this greater interest, which doubtless was inspired by the prospect of a production suspension in this country. Oils were encouraged by the latest steps toward uniform proration, including Sunday's conference at Amarillo. Buying of gold shares seemed to be of a speculative character.

Germany's Mark Is Again in Slump

Berlin's Money Declines 29 Points; Pound Is Unchanged.

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—Aside from another sharp slump in the German mark, the foreign exchange market showed few important changes today and trading was exceptionally quiet. The mark dropped 29 points to a cable rate of 23.31 cents, the lowest level since 1931 for this currency. Weakness of the mark was attributed to fears regarding the dwindling of the Reichbank's gold reserves and the continuance of political uncertainties which may eventually effect the country's trade balances.

The British pound sterling was unchanged at $3.42 for cables, and small gains were recorded by French francs, Swiss francs, Canadian dollars and the Scandinavians. Dutch guilders, Belgian belgas, Italian lire, Spanish pesetas, Japanese yen, Mexican pesos eased.

Shanghai exchange sagged ¼ of a cent to 28¾ cents following reports that the Nationalist government had decided to abolish the tael in favor of silver dollars and at the same time impose a 2½ per cent export tax on silver.

Stocks.

Quotations became irregular, but strength developed in oil and mining issues and the market closed a half point higher. The sales volume declined to 954,655 shares.

Bonds.

Easing of money rates aided bonds and the market closed unchanged. German issues turned irregular. Other foreign loans were higher. Sales decreased in volume to $9,532,000.

Curb.

Buying continued to hold the recent advances, but in final trading profits were trimmed by realizing. The volume of sales increased. Interest in specialties persisted.

Wheat.

Collapse of corn halted wheat's buoyant advance. The market closed unchanged to one-fourth cent lower. May wheat sold at 57½ to 57⅞ cents.

Cotton.

Early gains were lost in profit taking and the session closed 1 to 3 points lower. July sold at 6.63; May, 6.48. Liverpool reported light offerings with some trade buying.

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for April 5 were $106,220,055.16; expenditures, $15,543,851.49; balance, $558,597,571.52. Customs duties for five days of April were $2,818,727.71.

BOND PRICES FIRM; MARKET UNCHANGED

Commercial Banks Among Buyers; Sales Drop to $9,532,000.

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—Further easing of money rates, together with generally improved sentiment for high-grade loans, gave the bond market a decidedly healthier appearance today.

Although trading was far from buoyant, and numerous early rallies failed to hold, most categories displayed a steady to firm tone at the close. Sales totaled $9,532,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate issues was unchanged.

The corporation groups were encouraged by the continued strength of United States Government securities, most of which advanced 1-32d to 14-32ds of a point. New York commercial banks were reported to have been among the purchasers of Federals, this renewed demand probably reflecting the return of hoarded funds and the growth of excess reserves.

German loans turned quite irregular after an early rally, although the most active government 5½s and 7s were only off fractionally at the conclusion of trading. Some German corporation issues, however, replaced gains with net losses of 1 to around 3 points. Strength was displayed by obligations of Japan, Colombia and Argentina and British, French, Italian and Belgian issues were slightly higher.

In the domestic section many utilities showed notable resistance. Gains were retained by bonds, of American Telephone, American & Foreign Power, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Gas, Duquesne Light, International Telephone, Postal Telegraph and Western Union. Among the better industrials were loans of Chile Copper, Goodyear, International Mercantile Marine, Shell Union Oil, Texas Corporation and Western Electric.

Chicago & Northwestern Liens increased their recent recoveries by 1 to around 4 points and some issues of Erie, Frisco, Baltimore & Ohio and Rock Island were moderately higher. Most transportation bonds, however, turned rather soft after starting the day with substantial gains.

GOODS MARKET.

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—The possibility of a national six-hour day law led cotton goods selling agents to withdraw from and offerings today to North American lines, trade day was quieter in cotton goods. Sales of 100 denier rayon yarns have been large enough to take care of the output of some large concerns. Women's coatings sought for immediate delivery for cutting up needs were firmer. Boys' clothing was in good call. Burlap shipments from Calcutta last month to North America were about 51,000,000 yards, equal to the average monthly shipments of 1932.

U. S. Total Debts Declared To Exceed Nation's Wealth

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—J. H. Rand, jr., president, of Remington Rand, Inc., released today a research of his company's statistical department showing that the total interest-bearing debt of the United States is now greater than the national wealth.

Total debt is $141,924,300,000 while national wealth is $138,000,000,000, the research shows. This debt estimate is similar to other recent figures, but there have been no recent estimates of national wealth.

Mr. Rand emphasized that such figures were estimates and theoretical but he said he had no doubt of their reasonable accuracy. Estimates of national wealth, however, are always contentious. Rand is chairman of the directing committee of the Committee for the Nation, a group of 300 business leaders which has recommended devaluation of the dollar.

The research put present national income at $29,900,000,000, while the total of cash, bank deposits and listed securities was $123,000,000,000. Rand said these three latter items represented cash and equivalent—that bank deposits and listed securities had much the same effect on purchasing power as actual cash, that the total represented the more liquid portions of the national wealth.

The following table compares wealth, debt, income and cash and its equivalent for three years—1922, 1929 and 1933—in billions of dollars:

	Wealth.	Debt.	Income.	Cash and equivalent.
1933	138.0	141.9	29.9	123.0

National wealth represents an estimate of the current dollar value of the physical assets of the Nation, its theoretical convertible value in cash. Debt represents the total interest-bearing claims against that wealth—mortgages, loans and so on. It is larger than wealth at the present time because debts are relatively fixed in value on paper while wealth fluctuates with its theoretical current cash value.

The following shows how the debt is divided: Brokers' loans, $340,800,000; farmers, $9,486,500,000; railroad bonds, $12,021,000,000; nonfarm individuals, including partnerships, $16,590,000,000; other corporations, $10,584,000,000; State and local governments, $18,185,000,000; U. S. Government, $20,476,000,000; urban real estate mortgages, $26,461,000,000; bank loans, $27,834,000,000.

All of these items, except governmental debt, have declined since 1929, but the decline has been extremely small compared with the collapse of income, wealth and total cash and equivalent.

Imports of Sugar Up 24.4 Per Cent

Cuba Increases Shipments of Refined; Year's Total Gains.

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—The Sugar Institute, Inc., reports that imports of foreign and insular refined sugar increased 24.4 per cent in the first two months of this year, compared with the same period of 1932. The total was 98,254 tons, against 78,983 a year ago.

Cuba shipped 63,335 tons against 44,551, a rise of 42.16 per cent. Imports from insular possessions aggregated 34,735 against 30,040.

Total deliveries of all refined sugars in the United States last month are estimated at 347,302 tons, compared with 345,812 in February, 1932. Deliveries for the first two months amounted to 690,742 tons, compared with 701,997 in the same period a year ago.

Globe and Rutgers Revamping Pushed

Fire Insurance Company to Fight Move for Liquidation.

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—Edwin C. Jameson, president of the Globe & Rutgers Fire Insurance Co., said today that the application of the superintendent of insurance to liquidate the company will not stop plans to rehabilitate the company.

"On the contrary," a statement issued by Jameson said, "plans for reorganization on a basis which will give the maximum protection to the creditors of the company and should permit the company in due course to reopen business on a strong basis will be pushed forward with every confidence in their success.

"The application of the superintendent of insurance for a liquidation order will come up for argument before the court next week and it remains to be seen whether the court will deem it wise to grant the application. However, irrespective of whether or not an order for liquidation is made, the reorganization plans will proceed."

CURB GAINS REDUCED IN CLOSING TRADING

Volume of Sales Larger as Dealers Hold Interest in Specialties.

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—Enough buying power manifested itself in curb stocks to carry the advance of the last two days through the forenoon today. Thereafter realizing and a slowing of the bullish impulse took some in good sized recessions from the high levels.

Volume increased appreciably with indications that the session would be the most acttive for the last week or more.

Professional interest again converged upon industrial specialties, oils, chemical and food issues. Utilities were neglected although they gave a good account of themselves price-wise.

There were early gains running from 1 to 2 points in stocks like Aluminum Co. of America, Swift & Co., Deere and Gulf Oil, but this upward pace attracted profit taking and substantial recessions followed.

A. O. Smith & Co. dropped about 2 points on further realizing upon its recent bulge.

Buoyant action of the leading oils attracted attention because it marked the first time in months that this group displayed real activity. Buying was ascribed to optimistic hopes regarding the new movement launched by the industry with governmental cooperation to gain control of the production and price problems.

Active Foreign Buying Boosts Copper Prices

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—More active foreign buying of copper was reported here today due, dealers said, to the prospect that Americna mines would shut down. The foreign price range advanced from 5.025-5.05 cents a pound in the morning to 5.15-5.25 cents in the afternoon, sales at the latter quotation being made in Germany. The price was 5 cents on Thursday.

A firmer tone also was apparent in the domestic market. Producers were reported unwilling to sell under 5¼ cents.

World Oil Conference Adopts Curb on Output

Paris, April 7 (A.P.).—Agreements aiming at a stabilization of the oil industry were adopted at the closing session of the International Oil Conference today.

The terms of the agreements were not published, but it was reliably reported they included an agreement among American interests to reduce production to 2,000,000 barrels daily as well as to reduce excess stock.

A communique said the agreement contributed to work undertaken at Washington and that another conference was forseen for June, when further measures would be considered.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Transatlantic issues improved in a cheerful session on the stock exchange owing to favorable Wall street advices and the reduction of the Federal Reserve Bank rate. Rhodesian copper shares registered the firmest prices on rumors of an early closing of American mines. Gold shares and silk-edged securities were better, while German bonds recovered smartly. The closing was steady.

Paris—Supported by the firmness in rentes, prices on the bourse were irregular and generally resistant against profit taking. The market closed well disposed.

WHEAT RISE HALTED BY CORN'S COLLAPSE

Market Closes Unchanged to ¼ Cent Lower; Oats Down.

Chicago, April 7 (A.P.).—Grain markets ran against a stone wall today in the shape of 3½ cents a bushel collapse of corn values.

Big rifts appeared in general speculative demand for cereals, especially corn, and many traders expressed doubts as to emphasis which in various quarters had been placed on possible currency inflation as a stimulating factor. Numerous other traders friendly to higher prices adopted a waiting attitude pending fresh legislative developments at Washington in regard to farm commodity dealings.

Wheat closed nervous at the same as yesterday's finish to ¼ cent lower; corn, ⅜ to ⅞ down; oats, ¼ to ½ off, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents decline.

Smashing Corn Values.

Sudden smashing of corn values came from stop-loss selling that followed efforts to collect profits for recent speculative buyers. These efforts disclosed that for the moment the corn market was without any aggressive support.

Resulting breaks in prices quickly forced automatic execution of orders to let go of holdings at various set levels, and in a few minutes the market dropped wildly to 3½ cents under the day's opening figures.

Failure of corn buyers to come forward today except after severe declines in prices, some observers said, was to be attributed in part to the fact that qutations had risen 5¾ cents a bushel, compared with a week ago, and that owing to the continuous advance there had not been the usual accumulation of resting orders to buy on declines.

Resting Orders Different.

As a rule, these resting orders tend to act as a cushion against either sharp bulges or breaks, but most orders of late had designated only the price prevailing at the time the orders were received.

Because of several successive days of price advances, many traders, not only in corn, but in wheat and other grains, were looking for a reaction, and the volume of fresh buying was decidedly smaller from the outset today than had been the rule of late. Nevertheless, September wheat pushed higher at the opening and temporarily touched 60¼, a new high record for the season. Much of the subsequent selling in wheat and all grains was of a profit-taking character. Oats sympathized chiefly with corn.

Provisions sagged, responsive to action of hog values.

Exchange Points To Rules on Listing

Companies Having Bonds in Trading Reminded of Regulations.

New York, April 7 (A.P.).—The New York Stock Exchange in a statement today called the attention of companies having bonds listed to various rules of the exchange in connection with the listing agreements. Asserting that its reminder "was for the benefit of bondholders and the investing public," the exchange requested strict observance of the following conditions:

To notify the exchange immediately of any change or removal of collateral deposited as security, when the principal amount of an issue is declared due and payable; on the issuance or authentication of additional or duplicate Bonds, and to notify the exchange semiannually of cancellations or other reductions in the outstanding amounts.

Published reports that the exchange was inaugurating a new and drastic code of rules dealing with listed bonds and the rights of the owners were said to be unfounded in official quarters. One such report was to the effect that a questionnaire had been sent by the exchange to corporations requesting information as to the steps taken by the companies to place annual reports in the hands of bondholders, but this was denied.

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Cotton goods—Scheuer & Co. say in their weekly letter: "We feel cloth buyers can afford to take a more liberal position in anticipating their gray needs in every division of the fabric market, but we do not believe that it is wise to strive unduly to 'beat' the market, as the factor of consumption is an ever-present problem."

Canned goods—Although trading continues light prices for major items show sustained strength. Dealers look for a good replacement business over the next several weeks.

Chemicals—There is a more active demand for some industrial chemicals, but dealers are not too confident of a sustained expansion in view of the continued low rate of operations in most industries.

Tea—Dealers report a more active demand in the New York market at currently quoted prices. In a recent London sale Java leaf grades were irregular while others were firm.

Broad silks—It is reported in the trade that shipments to retailers and dress manufacturers are the heaviest since last fall.

Steel—In the New York district there is evidence of some improvement in tin plate specifications, and in sales of fabricated steel, according to trade sources.

BREWERIES FACING SHORTAGE OF MALT

Production of Barley Cut Millions of Bushels Under Needs.

Chicago, April 7 (A.P.).—Joseph Dubin, editor of the Brewery Age, said today the brewing industry was threatened with a shortage of malting barley.

"Production of barley suitable for brewing purposes totaled only 3,000,000 bushels in 1932," Dubin said. "In 1917, the brewing industry used 80,000,000 bushels of barley malt. Although to some extent brewers today are protected by contracts, it is obvious that if demand for beer approximates the preprohibition use, there will not be enough domestic barley malt available."

Practically the entire production of malt barley comes from Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, and the Dakotas. Dubin pointed out that the 1,000,000 acres now seeded to barley in these States would have to be trebled to meet prospective demand.

The brewing industry in preprohibition days required 125,000,000 pounds of rice and almost 700,000,000 pounds of corn. A return of preprohibition demand would absorb surplus crops of these two products, Dubin said.

Accountants Will Give Fete Wednesday Night

The spring dinner and business meeting of the District of Columbia Institute of Certified Public Accountants will be held on Wednesday night at the Racquet Club, according to a recent announcement made by Goodwin P. Graham, secretary of the local institute.

COMMODITIES HOLD IN DRIVES ON GRAINS

Rampant Wheat Advances Hit by Profit Selling; Corn Collapses.

Chicago, April 7 (A.P.).—Profit-taking subdued the rampant grain markets today, while stocks and commodities also halted in their rapid rise.

Heavy selling by speculators who had "made money" during the advance which started early this week stopped the upward trend of grains soon after trading began. The selling disclosed that the eager buying which characterized dealings yesterday and the day before was missing.

And quotations dropped. Initial transactions, as on yesterday, saw higher prices with September wheat going to a new high for the yet unharvested crop at 60¼ cents a bushel.

Corn Supplies Feature.

Corn supplied the feature of the day's trading with a sudden collapse of 3½ cents a bushel. Heavy offerings by profit takers found no orders to buy.

In a mad scramble to unload, May corn dropped from 34¼ cents a bushel to 30¾ cents. Selling to stop losses added to the momentum of the decline. Standing orders to purchase on declines finally checked the downturn and prices soon regained approximately 2 cents of the drop.

Stocks Follow Grains.

Stocks in New York followed the action of grains, tapering slowly off after a higher start. Early advances of fractions to as much as 2 points were erased, and at the finish securities were about steady.

Wheat recovered its poise before the close and showed relatively little change, ranging from steady to ¼ cent lower. Corn was weaker, with losses of ⅜ to ⅞ cent a bushel. Oats were down ¼ to ½ cent.

Commodities were little affected by the action of the grains, cotton closed a rather quiet day about steady. Sugar was a trifle lower because of selling by commission houses, but coffee was quiet and steady.

Grain traders showed a disposition, after prices had steadied, to "stand by" while awaiting legislative developments in Washington with a weather eye on the movement to inflate the currency.

NEW YORK.

SUGAR—Raw was quiet early today and aside from additional sale of 36,000 bags of Philippines concluded late yesterday to an outport refiner for April-May shipment at 3.07 no fresh business was reported. The reaction in futures caused some hesitation on the part of buyers, although it was believed refiners would pay the last sale price of 3.05 for nearbys, but these were generally held at 3.10.

Futures opened 1 point higher to 2 points lower and later showed additional losses under heavy liquidation and commission house selling. May contracts, after opening at 3.01, sold off to 3.00, while December reacted from 1.27 to 1.22, with the general market at one time 2 to 5 points net lower. The reaction was considered natural after the recent upturn, but at the extreme decline there was increased covering and renewed buying by houses with Cuban connections and prices rallied 1 point or two from the lowest. At midday the market was 1 to 3 points below the previous close.

Refined was unchanged at 4.20 for fine granulated, with some second-hands still available at slightly less.

COFFEE—Spot quiet; Rio No. 7, 7¾; Santos No. 4, 8¾@9. Rio futures closed quiet: sales, 2,000 bags; May, 5.43; July, *5.33; September, *5.19; December, *5.11; March, *5.02. Santos futures, steady; sales, 8,000 bags; May, 7.95; July 7.64; September, *7.35; December, *7.23; March, *7.14.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

AT first glance, the task of prophesying the outcome of the Schmeling-Baer fight that Jack Dempsey in a promotorial role will give to the world on June 8 appears to be no task at all. Max will win, and you may lay to that, barring a draw.

But any statement beyond that appears to be extremely hazardous. It will be Baer's first plunge into the upper crust of the heavyweight ranks, but the Pacific Coast is solid for the hard-swinging, rip-snorting Baer, who is undertaking something of a successful revival of the lost art of body punching, which has been comparatively extinct since the salad days of Dempsey.

Dangling in the near future will be the challenger's end of a championship purse with Jack Sharkey, and inasmuch as even fighters have been known to fight for money, the prospects of a cut out of the Sharkey gate provides both the Maxes with sufficient incentive to put on what appears to be the greatest fistic natural since the Dempsey-Firpo skit.

Baer Has Beaten Risko, Levinsky.

Baer has removed such members of the second flight of heavies as King Levinsky and Johnny Risko with convincing dispatch. Nary a knockout mars his record, even in the early days of his career that extends back only to 1929, when he came out of Oklahoma to campaign on the Coast. He lost a decision to Tommy Loughran on the way up, but such a verdict is not held against any heavyweight of only two years' experience.

The ability to take it has been a feature of Baer's campaign since he launched his ring career and during the last year he also has been handing it out. He likes the battling in close, and even the Eastern critics, who have been known to look with askance at Pacific Coast importations, admit that as a plain and simple mauler Baer is the outstanding product now extant in heavy ranks.

Schmeling Cool and Calculating.

In Schmeling, Baer will meet the coolest, most calculating performer the heavyweights have seen since Gene Tunney retired to his bit of old England at Greenwich, Conn., but any comparison of Schmeling and Baer must be based in a large measure on the German's bout with Mickey Walker last summer at the long Island bowl of punch.

Walker is much the type of battler that Baer is, albeit a bit smarter both in the way it is to be handed out and the way it is received, but in the main, they are both rough, tough maulers eager to receive in order to give.

And for six rounds, Walker gave much more than he received against Schmeling—until knocked out in the seventh. He was able to get up off the floor after a count of nine in the first round and maul Schmeling about in a manner that Jack Sharkey was unable to do in ten rounds earlier in the summer.

Baer's Style Tough for Schmeling.

Schmeling showed no liking for Walker's type of opposition and he will be asked to meet the same kind of fighting on June 8 against Baer.

The sawed-off Walker was able to reach Schmeling's chin with uppercuts with surprising frequency and hitting the German in the body was no trouble at all, and Baer can take his cue from those facts.

But the fact does remain that Schmeling was able to take all that Walker delivered for six rounds more in surprise than in pain, and then was able to measure his man cooly in the seventh and knock him actually kicking. That's the kind of a guy this Schmeling is. Pay your money and take your choice.

Here we believe that a man's credit should be based upon character and not upon money in the bank. If you are temporarily inconvenienced and unable to do the things you'd like to do, the Grosner door of credit is open wide. If it's a charge account you have in mind, won't you drop in?

Dunlap Beats Tooner at Pinehurst

Wins Second North-South Golf Title by 7 and 5.

Completes Tournament With Record of 7 Under Par.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 7 (A.P.).—Playing virtually the same brand of golf that gave him medalist honors and a tie for the course record in previous rounds, George T. Dunlap, jr., of Garden City, Long Island, today defeated Jack Toomer, of Jacksonville, Fla., 7 and 5, to win the North and South amateur golf championship for a second time.

The Walker Cup player was 3 under par for the 31 holes the match lasted. He held a 4-up lead at the end of the 18-hole morning round, and picked up three more holes on the first nine of the afternoon to close out the Florida State champion with ease.

It was Dunlap's putting and trap work that spelled disaster for Toomer. The Florida champion, while not often in the traps, had trouble when he did get in. Poor putting also contributed to his defeat.

Dunlap 7 Under Par for Tourney.

For the entire tournament, including the qualifying rounds, Dunlap was 7 under par. Included in his cards was a 64 that tied the course record held by Joe Turnesa, the Elmsford, N. Y., professional. It was Dunlap's second North and South victory. In 1931 he beat Sam Parks, of Pittsburgh, 6 and 5, for the title. He did not defend it last year.

Toomer went 2 down on the first two holes when he three-putted both of them while Dunlap was scoring pars. Toomer trapped his tee shot on the seventh to put Dunlap 3 up. All other holes of the first nine were halved.

The eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth went to Dunlap, but the Florida player picked up the fourteenth with a birdie 3 by dropping a 15-foot putt and snared the fifteenth with a par 3 when Dunlap's tee shot was trapped.

Dunlap won the seventeenth when Toomer overshot the short hole but Toomer took the eighteenth when Dunlap missed an 8-foot putt.

Par on 31st Hole Gives Dunlap Title.

In the afternoon round, Dunlap went 5 up by taking the twenty-first with a birdie 3 and added the twenty-second to his card when Toomer's tee shot was in a trap. The New Yorker got a birdie 4 on the twenty-fourth and went dormie 7 on the thirtieth as the intervening holes were halved. Toomer flashed a 12-foot putt for a birdie 3 to take the thirtieth and prolong the match, but Dunlap took the next hole with a par 4 and ended play.

Montreal Nine Plays Georgetown U. Today

Balked in their efforts to play by the unsuitable condition of the field yesterday because of rain, Georgetown University and the Montreal International League Club will make a second attempt to stage the fray this afternoon at the Hilltop. The teams will take the field at 2:30 o'clock.

Out at College Park another of those "informal" football games will be played between the Blue and Gray and Maryland. Maryland got the best of the Hoya gridmen last week, scoring several touchdowns which were not officially tabulated.

Dempsey Selects June 8, For Schmeling and Baer

New York, April 7 (U.P.).—Postponement of the Max Baer-Max Schmeling heavyweight fight from June 1 to June 8 at Yankee Stadium was approved today by the State athletic commission. Jack Dempsey, promoter of the match, requested the postponement because of a conflict in playing dates of the New York Yankees.

Rival Coast Crews Will Clash Today

Oakland, Calif., April 7 (A.P.).—California's Bears and Washington's Huskies, oldest crew racing rivals on the Pacific Coast, will match their eight-oared shells on the Oakland estuary tomorrow.

The thirtieth meeting between these old-time rivals finds California slightly superior in weight and height of its oarsmen, but conceding a faster time trial to its opponents from the north.

With full power on, the Huskies raced over the 3-mile course in a speed test this week in 15 minutes 15 seconds. The Bears' time trial was 10 seconds slower.

Departs for Boston Ahead of Team as Free Agent; Unable to Oust Jordan From First Base Job.

BOSTON, April 7 (A.P.).—Art Shires, colorful first baseman, has quit the Boston Braves, according to advices from Manager Bill McKechnie, who made a hasty departure for Boston today when rain washed out the Tribe's exhibition game at Newark.

Shires, unable to cope with Baxter Jordon for a regular berth, refused to accept the reduced salary offered him several days ago by President Emil Fuchs. McKechnie reported him as returning to his home in Chicago, where he will try to catch on with a strong minor league club.

Shires came north with big hopes of landing a job with the Philadelphia Nationals but they were dashed yesterday when Don Hurst quit the holdout ranks and came to terms with Manager Burt Shotton.

Shires injured his leg early last season and was put on the retired list. During his absence, the Braves purchased Jordon from Baltimore and an immediate improvement in the team's first base play was noted. During their recent conference, Fuchs gave Shires permission to place himself, and his status, as far as the Braves are concerned, is that of a free agent.

Lost Art of Ballyhooey

Fight Industry in Need of Fresh Genius Since Rickard's Death; Novelty of Judge Landis' Czarism Also Wanes.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

MIAMI, April 7.—The art of ballyhoo, to which Tex Rickard made important contributions in his early days at Goldfield and in later years at Madison Square Garden, is in need of fresh genius, so far as the prize fight racket is concerned. At this time there are only two heavyweight matches in sight, one of them a repetition of the Sharkey-Carnera duet, the other involving Max Schmeling and Max Baer. In neither case, however, is the ballyhoo up to the old standard, consisting, as it does, almost entirely of long-range newspaper scowling and belittlement between the Garden Corporation, which owns the one bout, and Jack Dempsey, who owns the other or purports to own it.

Probably Dempsey does not actually own the Schmeling-Baer fight, as the promotion of a heavyweight spectacle of any dimensions usually involves the outlay of a considerable sum of cash money. Mr. Dempsey's record indicates he is very bashful with his cash money. He has often appeared in the role of promoter, but he has generally had some one to hold the bag for him, either openly or secretly. In the present case it appears Mr. Tim Mara, the retired bookmaker, who owns the New York Football Giants, is either holding the bag or helping Dempsey to hold it, as they are talking of dropping the bout into one of New York's baseball parks. Mr. Mara owns the prize fight privileges for these premises.

Little Imagination Shown.

I hope I do not offend Mr. Mara in referring to his bookmaking career. He withdrew from this ancient and by no means disreputable calling a few years ago and became a broker, because the term broker seemed more dignified than bookmaker, but developments since that time have been such that a man with a choice might now distinctly prefer to be known as a bookmaker.

At any rate, the ballyhoo for the two heavyweight prize fights has shown very little imagination, and the customers probably will derive no inspiration from a battle of rival promoters, doing business through lawyers and politicians. If it were possible to arouse them by such means, then the courts of law would be crowded every day with lawsuit fans cheering the Ajax Sash, Door and Frame Associates, Inc., to the echo in their titanic encounter with counsel for the Eureka Nail, Shingle and Lath Affiliates, Inc., over a matter of breach of contract, and vice versa.

It seems to me the baseball industry has neglected the art of ballyhoo, also, and relies too much on natural, hereditary customer-interest. The appointment of Judge Landis was a good stroke of ballyhoo, and the judge, himself, is a natural ballyhoo man, but the novelty of the czar of baseball wore off a long time ago, and the judge has not been as conspicuous as he used to be.

No Pictures of Landis This Spring.

In other springs, he toured the baseball camps in the South, having his picture taken showing the famous judicial scowl, and helped drum up business for the impending season, but the rotogravures have shown no pictures of him this year, when almost any ballyhoo would help.

The players are forbidden to squabble or fight and, moreover, they do

Crowder Goes Route; Nats Pound Out Six Extra Base Hits.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

THE present week has done nothing to help the slightly cracked conviction that Washington made a great mistake back in the whisker era when it switched from the National to the American League. Yesterday the local gents, behind some excellent screw balling by Al Crowder, beat Brooklyn 4-1 with more benign ease than they scalped the Boston Braves Wednesday.

Mr. Crowder was given what the boys often refer to as airtight support, the airtightenist guy on the field being our new Dutch centerfielder, Fred Schulte, who made three nigh impossible catches by spearing the ball out of the typhoons and wind pockets that swept over the field and sent the teeth of a few straggling fans clattering like a gross of castinets afflicted with the palsy.

The somewhat fantastic sight of a Washington line-up that can step up to the spike-bitten home plate and belay the ball with vigor continued on view as our side amassed 10 hits—six of them actually extra base hits—off the two gents named Ray Benge and Van Mungo, who were scuffing up the pitcher's box for the erstwhile Daffiness Boys.

Two Triples and Single For Kuhel.

Joe Kuhel konked a couple of triples off the axative ad in right field, and also lashed out a daisy-cutting single in his four bows in the bat-waving box. Luke Sewell ripped a couple of doubles to left and Ossie Bluege, whose gift to baseball posterity is not likely to be a batting record, collected a triple—as did Heinie Manush. It so happens that all these bingles were contributed by the bull fiddle and French horn players of the local symphonies, such first violinists as Goose Goslin, Joe Cronin and Fred Schulte going pretty close to hitlessness. Which might lead one to believe that the 1933 team is right well balanced and would come pretty close to being called great if the boys ever hit all at one time.

Joe Judge was pretty swell. Y'see, it was Joe's first farewell tour appearance at Griffith Stadium where he labored for 17 years in Clark Griffith's colors. It is hoped that he will make as many farewell appearances as did Adelaide Patti and Harry Lauder, which should bring him around annually until the national deficit looks like a Bobby Jones golf score. However, much of the sentimentalizing over Joe was snuffed out by the playing of the kid who succeeded him—Joe Kuhel. Judge, though long may he wave, is not in Kuhel's class today.

Judge Gets Two of Alien Hits.

Judge was one of the two Brooklyns to get more than one hit off Crowder. He covered first base as of old, with a calm perfection in which personality plays no part. He struck out his first time at bat, after the witnessing mortals had given him a concentrated handclap, but later played an important part in the scoring of Brooklyn's only run off Crowder by singling Glenn Wright to third base, whence he was brought home on Outen's roller to Buddy Myer.

Aside from that run, Crowder loomed mightily out on the mound. The Brooklyns were able to hit him, but they hadn't much to say about where the ball was going. He struck out only three men, but his infield (particularly Joe Cronin) fielded flawlessly behind him and it seemed that what dangerous-looking balls did whistle out to the outfield found a haven in Fred Schulte's hammy hands. In the second, Fred leaped high in the air near the flagpole to make a brilliant one-hand catch of Wright's terrific liner.

In the sixth, he went deep into Goose Goslin's territory and killed

FOUR HOMERS AID GIANTS TO WIN

Davis Hits 2 Round-Trippers as Tigers Are Routed, 17-7.

NORFOLK, Va., April 7 (U.P.).—Backed by an avalanche of hits, young Hal Schumacher went the route and turned in a 17 to 7 victory for the New York Giants over the Detroit Tigers in an exhibition game today.

The Giants drove out 23 hits, including two home runs by George Davis, and one each by Bill Terry and Hank Lieber.

9-INNING TEST TODAY FOR WEAVER

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

FROM now until the regular season starts Wednesday, Manager Joe is concentrating on grooming his starting pitchers for nine-inning duty. "General" Al Crowder went the route yesterday against the Brooklyn Dodgers—and made a good job of it, too—and "Prof." Monte Weaver will be asked to do so today, when the Buffalo Bisons will be met in the first of a two-game set.

Al Thomas, of whom great things are expected but who has been allowed to take his time this spring because of an operation on his salary flipper last fall, draws a six-inning shift against the Bisons tomorrow. Earl Whitehill, who toiled six rounds against the Boston Braves last Wednesday, will put on the finishing preseason touches by finishing out the string for "Tommy."

As Skipper Cronin and President Clark Griffith view things, Thomas will be a most important cog in the Nats' machine and his work will have much to do with the team's position at the finish of the race. He is one of the few hurlers in the league who has a semisidearm delivery with a hop on his fast one. On tests shown so far, he will have all of his old-time stuff this year, but he gets his most strenuous spring trial tomorrow, and his work will be watched with interest.

Clark Griffith yesterday sent out a raft of letters to minor league owners with a view to placing Bob Friedrichs, the Nats' erratic but promising young pitcher, with one of them. The disposal of Friedrichs would reduce the roster waistline to 24, within 1 player of the number which will be carried after May 15. That unlucky twenty-fourth player will be a pitcher, and at present the issue seems to lie among Bud Thomas, Ed Linke, Jack Russell, Bob Burke and Bill McAfee.

In line with the Roosevelt administration's "new deal," Vice President John Garner has accepted the Nats' invitation to haul "Old Glory" to the breezes as part of baseball's official inaugural here next Wednesday. Maybe he remembers that the present chief executive worked his way to the White House after doing this job satisfactorily several years ago. This will be the first time a Vice President ever has performed this duty.

Grid Ace Pins Champion in 20 Mins.

Crown Not at Stake; Londos' Manager Protests to 8,000.

CHICAGO, April 7 (A.P.).—More confusion was added to the professional wrestling game tonight when Joe Savoldi, who once scored touchdowns for Notre Dame on the football field, threw Jim Londos, of Greece, in 20 minutes and 26 seconds with a standing crotch hold at the Chicago Stadium ring.

Although the match was advertised "for the world's heavyweight wrestling championship," the Londos camp insisted it was merely an exhibition after Savoldi had pinned the Grecian adonis to the amazement of the 8,000 customers.

"Just an Exhibition," Shouts Manager.

"Why, this was just an exhibition," shouted Ed White, manager of Londos, as the crowd howled him down. "In the first place, wrestling championships aren't permitted in Illinois and, in the second place, no match is a championship unless it's two falls out of three."

Savoldi and his followers, however, refused to listen. Overjoyed, the big Italian youth claimed the "title" and everything with it.

Manager White based his claim of a nonchampionship match on the old ruling of the old Illinois State Athletic Commission headed by the stern Gen. John V. Clinnin. Last year, Chairman Clinnin ruled that, until wrestling quits its "clowning tactics," no match in Illinois could be advertised as a championship affair. Last January, however, Joe Triner was appointed chairman of the new commission. Clinnin and some of his commission members stepped out and no ruling was made relative to wrestling shows.

Met Stecher for "World" Title.

Since the new commission was installed, Londos met Joe Stecher, of Dodge, Nebr., in a one-fall match, also advertised for the "world's championship" and won.

Tonight's match which attracted a gate of approximately $12,000, was a rough and tumble affair with a 90-minute limit, until Savoldi pinned Londos.

In the three years he has been claiming the title, Londos has been thrown three times before tonight, but each match was a two out of three fall affair, each of which Londos ultimately won. Ray Steele, of Glendale, Calif., Jim McMillen, of Chicago and George Zaharias, of Pueblo were the throwers and losers.

Londos' Statement Denies Fall.

Londos surprised newspapermen by denying he was thrown. From his dressing room, he issued this statement:

"It was not a fall. I had a Japanese arm scissors on Savoldi from an underneath position. I was partly on my side and on my shoulder. Savoldi's feet were tangled in the ropes. Referee Managoff tapped me on the shoulder with orders to break. I understood from that that we were to quit and start wrestling all over again from a standing position because Savoldi's feet were tangled in the ropes. I let go and, the next instant, the referee tapped Savoldi in token of victory.

"I repeat. It was not a fall."

NEW YORK SEES RACE BOOM WITH LEGALIZED BETS NEAR

Betting Law Passed by Assembly

$400,000 Revenue for State Seen; Can Tax Bookmakers.

NEW YORK, April 7 (A.P.).—A revival of the boom days in thoroughbred racing was predicted here today by members of the five New York racing associations and horsemen in commenting on the passage of the Wallace bill, legalizing betting, by the New York State Assembly. Before becoming a law, however, the bill must pass the Senate and be signed by Gov. Lehman.

Built on the plan of the old Percy-Gray law, which governed racing in the Empire State prior to 1908, the new bill was hailed as a possible life-saver to the associations, all of which suffered financial losses last year.

Although not providing for a definite type of revenue for the tracks, the legalizing of betting is expected to increase the gate receipts and at the same time will assure the player of receiving his money. Since the outlawing of race-horse betting in the State, bookmakers have operated illegally and the associations have had no control over their operations.

Racing Body Can Tax Bookmaker.

Under the provisions of the bill, the State will receive 8 per cent of the gross receipts, conservatively estimated at $400,000, based on the racing calendar of the last few years. The associations also will have the right, if they so desire, to tax each bookmaker.

The passage of the bill by the Assembly brought from the Jockey Club an announcement it would fix the 1933 dates at its regular monthly meeting Thursday, April 13. The season is not expected to open before May 1, although the State law permits 200 days of racing between April 15 and November 15.

There has been talk of curtailing the season to less than 100 days, some of the officials even suggesting operating only three days a week. Previous seasons opened about April 19 and continued to the last day of October.

Passage by Senate Seen Certain.

"I am very much pleased with the decisive vote (117 to 17) given the bill by the Assembly," said Algernon Daingerfield, secretary of the Jockey Club. "Of course it has to pass the Senate, but I can't see how that body can ignore such a one-sided vote as given by the Assembly."

M. C. Percy, who helped write the State first racing law and had a hand in forming the present bill, introduced by Representative Wallace, failed to live, however, to learn of the Assembly's action. He died this morning, a few hours before the bill was passed.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: LEXINGTON, APRIL 7

Well, friend, here's your pal, Col. Bennings himself, in brand-new territory. Yes sar, Mike and I pulled in here this morning and hustled out to the track to watch the oat destroyers work in the rain. The sun came out before noon and went to work on the muddy track with a vengeance that points to a near fast course for tomorrow's opening card. Until Havre de Grace opens next Saturday, I will attempt to put you aboard some good things from this sector. You might experiment along with me, but save that heavy dough for Maryland. BILL.

FIRST RACE—UNCLE MATT is a busy campaigner with a liking eye for an off track. Gets in a trifle lighter than the other good ones here and may do his stuff at a fair mutuel. VONNIE has raced well and seems second best. ONE LONG HOP is a money possibility.

SECOND RACE—The Headley entry of AMSCRAY and PANORAMA come from sturdy stock and have encouraging works under their saddle straps. GRACIOUS LADY and CONVENTION for the rest of the money.

THIRD RACE—JOLLY PILOT is not the same horse that showed to good advantage in fast company at Bowie last season but still packs enough punch to take care of anything this group can offer. THISTLE ACE and RICCIARDO shipped well and are dangerous.

FOURTH RACE—HER HERO looks as good in this field as he did farther South. Not the best stayer in the world but at home among these. PAPER PROFITS turned in a good effort for me last winter and may be close. LITTLE VALLEY to show.

FIFTH RACE—NITUMA performed well as a 2-year-old and is a logical play in this dash. TIMORIOUS and WARBLE will be ready to take the purse if the top one makes any mistakes.

SIXTH RACE—GOLD STEP is asked to carry 120 pounds and seems capable of the assignment. Shipped sharp as a tack and will like the going. NOELWOOD is the one that I fear. DR. FREELAND is in good shape and may make a money appearance.

SEVENTH RACE—MRS. FOSTER was being whispered around here tonight and is a stepping mare on occasions. Among the others I look for IMELDA and WOOD RIVER to show a turn of foot.

EIGHTH RACE—LEZEV was doing pretty well with this brand down the line and gets the Bennings call ahead of SWEEPRUSH and DODIODO.

VARIED CARD TONIGHT AT C.U.

Intramural Carnival Expected to Draw Capacity Crowd.

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY'S first intramural sports carnival, which promises to be one of the outstanding events of the year, will be staged tonight in the spacious Brookland gym before an expected capacity audience of 3,000 fans. Admission will be by invitation only.

Events are scheduled in four branches of sport, basket ball, track, wrestling and boxing, the first of which will start at 8 o'clock. The recently organized C. U. Band will be on hand to supply the music.

Pioneers, Post Grads Meet on Court.

The Pioneers and Post Graduates will clash in basket ball. Phil Gross, Norbert Billinger, Lloyd Stafford, Tom Finn, Tom Oliver, Bill Conter and Tom Whalen will appear in Pioneer uniforms. The Postgrads' line-up will see Mike Marucci, Father Jerome, Father Sengler, Joe DeBettencourt, Francis Bacon and John Stanko on the floor at one time or another.

Dashes, hurdle races and an inter-club relay race makes up the track card.

Three bouts are listed in wrestling and as many in boxing.

William J. Lansche is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Numerous local business firms have contributed prizes to be awarded the winners of the various events.

Georgetown Golfers Play for Team Berths

Georgetown golfers trying for berths on the team concluded their 36-hole qualifying round yesterday at Indian Spring Country Club. The final test will be over the 18-hole route and will be played next week.

Georgetown meets North Carolina, Southern Conference champion, in its first match at Burning Tree Club April 26.

Yesterday's scores are as follows:

Government League Court Finals Today

Government League basket ball for 1933 ends this afternoon when Bureau of Investigation and Government Printing Office clash in the final titular series. The action will consist of three games on the Bolling Field court, today's tilt starting at 3, and victory in the series will bring the National Federation of Federal Employes' trophy.

G. P. O. won the first half, Investigation took the second of play. "Mickey" MacDonald will be chief referee.

HEIGHTS SOCCERISTS PLAY.

Columbia Heights Grays, champions of the Capital City League, and their less efficient clubmates, the Blacks, will scrimmage tomorrow at 11 o'clock on the Rosedale Field. The fray will be in the nature of a warm-up for the Cup Tie contests.

MOUNT RAINIER JUNIORS PLAY.

Mount Rainier juniors will meet the Thompson Furniture Co. Juniors in a practice game today at 12 o'clock at Taft Park. It will be the first game of the season for both clubs.

GRIFFS DRILL TOMORROW.

Wee Willie Glascoe's Griffith-Blue Coats will practice tomorrow at 3 o'clock on the Rosedale Field. All players are requested to attend.

NEWCOMERS LISTED FOR PORTNER'S

Calp, Gallo, Kelly in Alexandria Boxing Debuts Tuesday.

THREE new fighters will appear on the card at Portner's Arena Tuesday night in preliminary bouts to the feature eight-round battle between Leroy Dougan and Billy Landers.

Calvin Calp, former amateur bantamweight champion of Baltimore, will make his debut before a local audience in the six-round main preliminary with Doug Swetnam as his opponent. Swetnam recently won a decision over Bud Grimes by whom he was K. O.'d some time before.

Spider Kelly Tackles Kirkwood.

Roddy Davis and Tex Mills will have drawn the semiwindup bout. Davis is a slight favorite despite the fact that his opponent holds decisions over Tommy Bashara, Sam Lucas and Young Altis.

Landers is confident of putting Dougan to sleep before the eight rounds have ticked away. Dougan outpointed the Norfolk leather-pusher in a six-round argument at the arena several weeks ago.

Maryland Frosh Win Lacrosse Thriller

University of Maryland Freshmen conquered Baltimore City College at lacrosse, 3 to 2, yesterday at College Park. It was the opening game of the campaign for the Old Line Cubs, who presented one of the most promising first-year stick teams in the annals of the institution.

In the third quarter, the freshmen took the lead. John Christhilf, in home, registered the marker. He counted again in the final quarter to give his team a 3-1 advantage.

Lott Enters Finals In Houston Net Play

Houston, Tex., April 7 (A.P.).—In a consistently fine performance, George Lott, veteran Davis Cup star from Philadelphia and Chicago, today defeated Lester Stoefen, lanky blond from Los Angeles, to enter the finals of the Houston invitation tennis tourney, 6—3, 6—4, 6—2.

Tomorrow Frankie Parker, of New Orleans, will meet his fellow townsman, Clifford Sutter, seeded No. 1, in a semifinal match, the winner to take on Lott for the championship.

LEVINSKY FIGHTS RETZLAFF.

Chicago, April 7 (A.P.).—King Levinsky, former fish peddling heavyweight, came to terms today with the Chicago Stadium for a 10-round bout with Charley Retzlaff, of Duluth, on May 5.

Derby Hopes Bright for Head Play

NEW YORK, April 7 (U.P.).—Head Play, one of the two principal claimants for Western juvenile supremacy at the close of the season last year, finished ninth on the list of purse winnings with the snug sum of $16,590.

In a dozen starts in 1932, the chestnut son of My Play, out of Red Head, showed but one poor performance, and that was in the Eastern Shore Handicap, for which he had not trained properly. Otherwise his record is rather an impressive one.

Developed by the former jockey, Willie Crump, Head Play has been given almost daily exercises at Churchill Downs in preparation for the gruelling mile and a quarter test on Kentucky Derby Day and some of those who have seen him perform have done a little sniping in the winter books at the receding odds of 80 to 1. His best workout thus far this season was a mile in 1:45, which he covered in handy fashion.

Finished Third in 1932 Debut.

Head Play made his debut to racing early in May last season at Churchill. He finished a fast-going third in a formidable field on that occasion. In his next start he ran fourth behind Red Whisk and two other pretty shifty youngsters. He was then rested up for about three weeks at Washington Park, where, first crack out of the box, he emerged from the maiden ranks with consummate ease.

After winning his initial set of brackets, Head Play made two more unsuccessful attempts to enter the winner's circle at the Chicago track and was returned to Kentucky, where he won a brace of races in quick succession. The first was an overnight event, in which he displayed dazzling speed and won by five full lengths. The second was the Cincinnati Trophy at 6 furlongs, in which he set a swift pace to win by a length and a half, fighting for his head.

Head Play's next important race was the Hawthorne Juvenile Handicap which he won handily after making a show of a good field. Back of him in the juvenile was Gloritone, Miss Brilliant, Ballygran, Swivel, Projectile, Red Whisk and others with the winner's share of the purse $9,675.

Developed Fever En Route To Graw.

Because of this splendid performance in this event Trainer Crump shipped Head Play to Havre de Grace to engage in the rich Eastern Shore Handicap, but the colt developed a fever en route and although starting in the Maryland affair, he was unequal to the task of racing with the best of his age and retired in the stretch to finish out of the money.

In his final race of the season the son of My Play engaged a band of older horses, but was unprepared when the barrier was lifted and was left at the post. He was then put away for the winter and is now ready for the question that will decide who's who in the 3-year-old division this year.

Western Nine Wins Fourth Straight

WESTERN HIGH SCHOOL chalked up its fourth consecutive victory of the young baseball campaign on its home field yesterday, where it defeated Georgetown Prep's ambitious diamonders by a score of 7-3 in a game halted in the seventh inning.

The Prep batters connected for only three safeties off the offerings of Loveless and Ready. Western did not fare much better against the deceptive hurling of McNamara for the Garrett Parkers, but he was the victim of some costly miscues on the part of his mates.

Western Breaks Tie In Third.

Western assumed the lead in the second inning when Joe Brennan singled with the sacks fully populated, but Georgetown tied the score at 3-3 in the next inning and it remained that way until the fifth when the eventual winners pushed over another tally. Three additional runs in the sixth inning, due to poor fielding, gave the District aggregation the decision.

NEW GENIUS NEEDED FOR BALLYHOO ART

not wish to squabble or fight, because they are not so much rivals as colleagues nowadays and see no sense in fighting for employers who may trade them away to the opposition tomorrow. So baseball just presumes that the customers will come because it is an old habit of the American customer to spend a certain portion of his summer afternoons at the ball yards. The magnates may be right, but I think it would stimulate interest to dress up the Brooklyn Daffiness Boys in conventional clown suits and embroider the Yankees' uniforms with the pretzel and stein, symbolic of the brewery behind the ball club. Any relief from the monotonous efficiency of corporation baseball would improve the spectacle and the gate receipts.

The Florida ballyhoo has been strangely improved this year, and the season along the pleasure coast has defied the panic with another boom. This phenomenon has been due in large degree to the ingenuity of Mr. Carl Byoir, who learned his ballyhoo in the greatest school of all, the American Committee on Public Information, under George Creel.

Creel's Committee Champ Of All.

The European governments thought they knew something about this art during the war and, for a fact, the competition between the Allies and the Central Powers did result in a brisk advancement. But the American Committee on Public Information was easily the champion of them all, starting out with a lukewarm war proposition and heating it up to a roaring fire in a short time.

There was some slight prejudice against some of the Florida resorts, to begin with, this year, but for the first time since the old real estate boom began the business men were persuaded to regard the customers as customers, not victims, and to keep this in mind throughout the season. The result was that more people went fishing in the Florida lakes and off-shore waters, which are the most abundant fishing waters in the country, than ever tried this sport before, and there was also an astonishing rush of players to golf courses which had seemed doomed to weeds. Moreover, the two race tracks defied the economic condition of the country, and Miami made a substantial net profit on the industry of frivolity and play at a time when you might have thought that Americans would never again be in a mood for luxury and nonsense.

One Mimeograph Machine Responsible.

To have shaken the American customer loose from many millions of dollars of pleasure money this winter was one of the greatest feats of ballyhoo ever scored, and I understand one mimeograph machine was more responsible for it than any other single factor. But the prize-fight racket missed the tide entirely, for with all this business waiting to be victimized over again by some pair of shy and diffident heavyweights, nobody had the enterprise to seize the opportunity. Of course, this was a decided break for the customers. It undoubtedly contributed something to the good time that was had by all.

BATSON NOW UNIONIST.

The Federal Employe Unionists have received the signed contract of Gordon Batson, who won 14 in 17 games for the Franc Jewelers in the Capital City League last season. Batson will take his first workout with the Unioniste this afternoon, at 3, on the Berwyn diamond.

The F. E. U. club engages Annapolis A. C. in a twin bill tomorrow on the Marylanders' diamond.

3 District A. A. U. Records Broken in Title Tank Meet

THREE records toppled, several were equaled and a number of new faces entered the local swimming picture last night at the Shoreham Hotel pool, where ten events in the annual District A. A. U. indoor championships were run off, including four final events. The six remaining titles will be fought out tonight beginning at 8 o'clock.

Slim young Caroline Cox, a comparative newcomer, won the women's 100-yard free style championship from Rita Augusterfer, who has held away for the past two years. Onalene Lawrence, indisputable diving champion for several years, finished third in the final diving tests for women, won by Marie Duvall.

The George Washington University 300-yard medley relay team cracked open the existing record of 3 minutes and 41 seconds by 20 seconds. Lois Bates, in reestablishing her claim to the 100-yard backstroke title, beat her old record of 1 minute 30 seconds by 5 seconds.

The results:

FINAL EVENTS.

100-yard women's free style—Won by Caroline Cox; second, Rita Augusterfer; third, Annabelle Whaler (all Shoreham). Time, 1:12. (Equals record held by Rita Augusterfer.)

Women's diving—Won by Marie Duvall (112.25); second, Lois Bates (110.75); third, Onalene Lawrence (106.66)

100-yard women's back stroke—Won by Lois Bates; second, Lenore Taube; third, Mary Maursen (all Shoreham). Time, 1:25 1-5. (Breaks her former record by 5 1-5 seconds.)

300-yard men's medley relay—Won by George Washington University (Hain, back stroke; Gormley, breast stroke; Rote, free style); second, Shoreham; third, Central High. Time, 3:20. (Beats old record held by Ambassador by 21 seconds.)

HEATS.

(Finals tonight.)

50-yard men's free style—First heat—Won by Hickey (Shoreham); second, Taylor (Central). Second heat—Won by Ghormley (G. W.); second, Vedder (G. W.). Third heat—Won by Rote (G. W.); second, Gomes (Ambassador).

220-yard men's free style—First heat—Won by Carter (unattached); second, Helwig (Amb.); third, Boggs (Y). Second heat—Won by Wood (Central); second, Burns (Shoreham); third, Burnside (G. W.).

50-yard women's free style—First heat—Won by Caroline Cox; second, Rita Augusterfer; third, Betty O'Toole. Second heat—Won by Betty Thompson; second, Betty Klein; third, Madeline Augusterfer.

150-yard men's back stroke—First heat—Won by Hain (G. W.); second, Marmion (Y); third, Hickey (Shoreham). Second heat—Won by Varella (unattached); second, Pite (Amb.); third, Herbsleb (W. C. C.).

220-yard men's breast stroke—First heat—Won by Kinsler (G. W.); second, McDonald (Central); third, Wilcox (Shoreham). Second heat—Won by Ghormley; second, Snell (W. C. C.). Third finisher disqualified.

100-yard men's free style—First heat—Won by Rote (G. W.); second, Vedder (G. W.); third, Helwig (Amb.). Second heat—Won by Carter (unattached); second, Rait (Shoreham); third, McMullen (G. W.).

R. Dusek-Garibaldi To Wrestle Again

"Villians" Furnish Mat Feature Thursday at Auditorium.

Rudy Dusek, who appears to be on the verge of hanging up a new record for consecutive appearances in Washington, and Gino Garibaldi have been matched for the feature bout on Thursday night's wrestling card at the Auditorium.

Garibaldi came to this country when he discovered that Italy was not large enough for both him and Mussolini—of course Il Duce wasn't moving—and since landing has succeeded in making himself immensely unpopular with the citizens who patronize the wrestling game.

But the olive-skinned Italian cares not a whit what the people think of him as long as he wins, and he has been winning. In Dusek he encounters one of the game's foremost villains, another who can point to a sizeable column of victories. So it looks like a contest to determine which is the more villianous.

Dick Raines, who put himself in solid with the customers while bending Frank Judson all out of shape last week, will meet Casey Berger, another crowd-pleaser, in the semifinal bout, which has been limited to 45 minutes.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH WILL GIVE ORATORIO

Rev. W. C. Bell Funeral to Be Held This Afternoon in Alexandria.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The choir of St. Pauls Episcopal Church will present Stainer's "Crucifixion" at 8 p. m. tomorrow in that church, under the direction of the organist, Sherman B. Fowler.

The soloists will be members of the regular quartet—Mrs. Evelyn Howard Sheridan, soprano; Mrs. Sherman B. Fowler, alto; Stephen H. Field, tenor, and James L. Jones, bass. Bodifer Wilson and C. Philip Heishley will sing the smaller parts for tenor and bass.

The offertory will feature the singing of Gounods "There Is a Green Hill Far Away," by Mrs. Robert F. Gooding. The obligato to soloists will be played by Miss Grace Powell, violinist.

The funeral of the Rev. Dr. Wilbur Cosby Bell, 52, who died on Thursday in a Washington hospital, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today from the chapel of the Episcopal Theological Seminary and will be conducted by the Rev. W. E. Rollins, dean of the seminary, and the Right Rev. H. St. George Tucker, Bishop of the Episcopal Church in Virginia.

The honorary pallbearsr will be the members of the board of trustees of the seminary and also the members of the board of trustees of the Education Society of the Episcopal Church in Virginia, together with the Rev. Dr. Churchill Gibson, of Richmond, and the Rev. Dr. Beverly D. Tucker, rector of St, Paul's Episcopal Church, Richmond. Active pallbearers will be members from the three classes Dr. Bell taught at the seminary.

Mrs. Mildred Harriett Buchan, 35, wife of Merion L. Buchan, of Dahlgren, Va., died Thursday in the Alexandria Hospital and the funeral will be held at 11 a. m. today in Arlington National Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Ruth Johnson Mankin, wife of Harry Mankin, who died in Atlanta, Ga., was held yesterday from the Demaine funeral home. Services were conducted by the Rev. Ernest W. Aaron, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and the Rev. Dr. E. V. Regester, pastor of the Del Ray M. E. Church South. Burial was in Ivy Hill Cemetery. Pallbearers were R. Samuel Luckett, Reuben J. Schooley, Thomas M. Jones, C. Philip Heishley, L. F. Dyson and Merrill C. Lynch.

Miss Frances Hays, research and information secretary of the National Parent-Teacher Association, will be the principal speaker at an educational temperance rally at 3 p. m. Sunday in Trinity Methodist Church. L. W. Ashby, assistant editor of the Journal of the National Education Association, will also make an address.

The local Red Cross chapter yesterday received an additional consignment of flour for distribution to the poor of the city. Eight hundred sacks, weighing 24½ pounds each, was received.

Schoolboy Struck By Hit-Run Auto

Falls Church Youth, Son of Capital Policeman, Not Badly Hurt.

Struck by a hit-and-run driver, James Judy, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Judy, of Falls Church, Va., narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon while returning home frm school. He was taken to Georgetown Hospital by R. C. L. Moncure, of East Falls Church. His condition was pronounced as not serious, but he was detained for further examination.

The accident occurred at the junction of Great Falls street and the Lee highway almost in front of the Madison School, where the youth was a student in the first grade.

The boy stepped from the sidewalk into the road when the car hit him. The boy's father is a Washington policeman.

Dr. Willis Asked To Run for Mayor

Hyattsville Group Urges Him to Make Race as Economist.

A delegation of approximately 100 citizens of Hyattsville, Md., yesterday called on Dr. Hillary T. Willis and requested him to become a candidate for mayor. J. Hodges Carr acted as spokesman. M. H. P. Hoffman, James King and Mrs. John Fainter also urged his candidacy, in the interest of economy.

Dr. Willis thanked the delegation, but asked time to consider the matter. He promised to answer today and the general belief was that he would accept.

Mayor Lemuel L. Gray, the incumbent, is not a candidate to succeed himself, and thus far no one has filed for the mayoralty. The election is on the first Monday in May.

Dr. J. W. Bird Heads Rockville Rotarians

Dr. J. W. Bird, of Sandy Spring, was elected president of the Rockville Rotary Club at its annual meeting in the Hungerford Tavern, Rockville. Other officers elected were Otto W. Anderson, of Rockville, vice president; L. Fletcher Schott, of Rockville, secretary, and Sydney H. Karr, of Gaithersburg, treasurer.

Three directors will be elected at next week's meeting of the club. Harold E. Donnell, superintendent of Maryland prisons, told the club what the penal institutions of the State are doing to rehabilitate prisoners.

STUDY OF BUDGET BEGUN BY BRADEN

Arlington Board Expected to Announce Tax Rate at Early Meeting.

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

County Manager Roy S. Braden said yesterday he has started a study of the figures and the actual effect on the budget of the numerous changes made by the county board recently.

Until this study is completed, Braden said, it would be impossible to give out any figures.

The many changes will affect approximately 30 officers and employes in the way of cuts in salary and reductions in appropriations.

Braden said that with the completion of his study of the budget in detail he will give his findings direct to the board.

With this report before the board it is expected that the tax rate for the county will be made known at the next meeting.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

ALTHOUGH he was not even a prospector, George Walker, in 1886, ran across a $10,000,000,000 strike in Africa when he stubbed his toe on a rock and uncovered an outcrop of the main reef of the Witwatersrand deposit at what is now Johannesburg. Walker just happened to be out for a stroll when he uncovered the immense reef.

The deposit of gold-bearing rock at the Witwatersrand is 70 miles across, shaped like a huge buried mixing bowl. From it about $225,000,000 is mined annually.

The whale is given credit quite properly for being the biggest thing that ever lived on earth, the largest measuring about 100 feet from snout to tail. The size of the whale, however, must be based on bulk and not on length, because the little-heard-of jelly fish outdistances the giant whale in length. Some jellyfish in the North Atlantic grow tentacles that measure 120 feet—which is longer than the record whale length as accepted by modern authorities.

• • • •

The harebell, which grows in the Olympic Mountains in Washington, lives in tiny crevices in the rocks and has the strange ability of extracting minerals for its growth from the solid stone.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE GARBLE SISTERS.

(They're still keeping up, or nearly so, with the news.)

"WELL, I see where Mount Everest has been scaled by Kellsboro Jack."

"It was a wonderful feat. But Mount Everest doesn't look so high on those insurance company calendars."

"You're thinking of Gibraltar, which is in Naples. Mount Everest is in the Polish Corridor."

"Speaking of the Polish Corridor, don't you think Hitler is going too far?"

"He's crazy. Look at the way he's barred all the writings of Harpo Marx. Just because he doesn't believe in the Marx Brothers' political theories is no reason why he should be so high-handed with those that do."

"They say Hitler isn't even a German."

"No, he's a Manchurian. Nobody ever heard of him until he went on those hunger strikes and made salt in the Ganges."

"Germany made a big mistake when she took Jehol in the first place."

"Of course, she did. The Germans never had any right on Chinese territory and should get out at once."

* * * *

"I see where Michigan, the first State to put prohibition repeal to a vote, went by a landslide and voted to cut all pensions to three-point-two."

"I heard the Governor of Michigan, a man named Lehman, over the radio."

"The Governor of Michigan ain't named Lehman. Josephus Daniels is Governor of Michigan. He was just appointed."

* * * *

"What does the Michigan vote mean, anyhow?"

"It means that the State will now send delegates to the Chicago World's Fair, where all the States will vote whether to repeal prohibition or have inflation."

"If prohibition is repealed, how about all the bootleggers and speakeasy proprietors that will be thrown out of work?"

"Congress is going to pass a bill so they can all be put to work planting new forests or something under a plan which extends mortgages and puts the tax on the millers so no more foreign bonds can be floated."

* * * *

"I see where President Roosevelt has asked that all stock and bond flotations be advertised with all the facts in order to stop hoarding."

"It's a good bill. I didn't read it very carefully, but I understand it prohibits the sale of foreign bonds over bars in order to prevent the return of the old saloon."

"But won't the public insist on playing the stock market whether the budget is balanced or not?"

"Sure. But if the people lose money they get it back again."

"How?"

"Through the R. F. C."

SENATORS TO HEAR CITIZENS' PROTESTS OVER BUDGET CUTS

Thomas Declares Subcommittee Will Start Hearings Next Monday.

The District Commissioners, school officials and representative Washington citizens will be given an opportunity to testify on the District budget before the Senate District appropriations subcommittee at hearings opening Monday morning.

This was decided at the initial meeting of the subcommittee yesterday, Senator Elmer Thomas (Democrat), Oklahoma, chairman, announced. Senator Thomas said no policies were shaped at the meeting, and the subcommittee will act in accordance with the testimony laid before it.

Previously, each member of the subcommittee had received a letter from the Washington Board of Trade, expressing "apprehension" at the present local budget situation. Ben T. Webster, president of the board, said he found many instances of "false economy" in the bill that passed the House.

The board urged:

"That the President and Cabinet should differentiate distinctly between the national and the local budgets, and in enacting the 1933-34 District appropriations bill into law should bless the District with a wise, just, well-balanced budget, framed in view of the District's peculiar conditions and relation to the nation, meeting economically, but adequately, the District's vital municipal needs, and so readjusting local taxation as to meet without creating excessive, unusuable surpluses the municipal demands for the Capital's suitable maintenance and development."

Capital Civic Leaders Senators' Guests Today

The Senate District Committee will hold a "get together" meeting with Washington civic leaders at a special session called for 2 p. m. today by Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah, chairman.

The meeting with citizens, a departure in congressional district committee procedure, was ordered primarily to promote "friendly cooperation" between the people of the city and members of the committee, Senator King said.

Commissioners Ready to Depart

Reichelderfer and Crosby Await Successors to Quit Office.

Secretaries to District Commissioners Herbert B. Crosby and Luther H. Reichelderfer were house cleaning yesterday in anticipation of their superiors' departure, but the fact that no word of the new appointments came from the White House indicated that the present administration will continue serving after its term expires.

The appointments of Dr. Reichelderfer and Gen. Crosby expire Sunday, but the law provides that the incumbents shall remain in office until their successors relieve them.

Gen. Crosby submitted his resignation shortly after President Roosevelt took office in hopes that he would be relieved before his term ended. He has since accepted the presidency of the Fort Sam Houston Bank, at San Antonio, Tex.

Young Democrats Deny Farley Break

Rumors that the Young Democrats Club of Washington turned "anti-Farley" in their refusal to indorse proposed changes in the constitution, which would place the national organization under control of the Democratic national committee, was denied last night by Victor Russell, president of the local body.

Mr. Russell declared that in no way has his organization expressed opposition to Postmaster General James A. Farley. Refusal of his club to adopt changes in the constitution should not be construed as such, he added.

A split in the organization occured during debate on the issue Wednesday night. Part of the group withdrew and organized a new club known as the Young Democratic Clubs of America, District of Columbia Division.

Marvin Cox, president of the new body, said his club had been accepted as the official local member of the Young Democratic Clubs of America by Tyre Taylor, of Raleigh, N. C., national president.

In the past, Mr. Russell declared, the older group has always cooperated with local and national Democratic leaders and will cohtinue to do so in the future.

Mrs. Thelma Ross, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, former Governor of Wyoming, was chosen by both sides as recording secretary. She declared yesterday that she would accept election as an officer of the new group.

7 Excursions Planned By Atlantic Coast Line

Seven round-trip excursions from Washington to Florida and other Southern points with rates fixed at 1 cent a mile, were announced yesterday by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

The purpose of the reduced rate, it was stated, was the stimulation of southbound travel. The first excursion will cover the Easter holiday period. Other excursions will be available over Memorial Day, Labor Day, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving Day, August 4-5, and October 6-7.

Hotel Wage Scale Indorsed.

Approval of the existing wage scale was voted at yesterday's meeting of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes Alliance, Local 731. The vote was a reindorsement of the present scale for a one-year period.

Applications Far Exceed Quota; 7 Young Men Are "High Type."

Seven of Washington's unemployed young men left here for Fort Washington to have two weeks of conditioning as the President's forest army began its mobilization here and throughout the Nation.

These seven were the first to be selected from the thousand or more who applied in person at the unemployment relief office on John Marshall place.

The mobilization will swing into faster action today, when it is expected that 50 more of the city's quota of 500 will be selected and sent to the army camp.

The seven who met the qualification yesterday were all high school graduates. One of them had two years of college.

After being examined on the qualifications by the Board of Public Welfare they were sent to the Army recruiting office at 520 Tenth street northwest, where they were examined by recruiting officers.

The Army men described all of the seven as "high type young men" and said that each of them had requested that $25 of the $30 they will receive per month be sent to their dependents.

A hundred men a day will be sent to Fort Washington next week until the city's quota is filled.

L. A. Halbert would not estimate how much the work will lift the burden on local charities. Ostensibly, he said, the recruits will return to Washington about $10,000 a month, or 5 per cent of the money spent in relief here.

After the men have received their conditioning and training at Fort Washington, they will go to The George Washington National Forest, and the Shenandoah National Park, both in the Blue Ridge area.

To exactly which camp in which forest the District men will be sent has not been determined.

Equipment Is Ordered.

Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commander of the Third Corps Area, yesterday ordered equipment to be placed in operation for the reception of 5,400 members of the Civilian Conservation Corps in the area.

The quotas for the four principal cities of the area and the camps to which they will be assigned are as follows:

Washington—500 at Fort Washington.

Pittsburgh—600 at Fort Monroe.

Clothing Will Be Furnished.

Men at the conditioning camps will wear Army clothing consisting of a jacket, slacks, denim work suits and the necessary other clothing.

They will not wear uniforms. Men who wish to wear their own clothing may do so if it is proper for work in the forest. Toilet articles and mess kits—in fact every necessity—will be supplied the recruits.

Robert Fechner, director of the President's program, said yesterday that he expected to have 100,000 men enrolled by the first of May.

Unmarried men from 18 to 25 will comprise the entire membership of the first contingent and will be given preferred classification in later mobilization.

POLICE SHOOT DOWN SUSPECT IN HOLDUP

Woman Victim Fails to Identify Man in Hospital With Two Bullets.

Daniel Courtney, colored, of 807 First street northwest, was in a critical condition at Casualty Hospital last night, suffering bullet wounds in his leg and chest, inflicted by two policemen yesterday morning who believed he held up a laundry branch at 421 H street northeast.

After the man had been shot down and removed to the hospital, Mrs. Ruth Bradley, manager of the laundry, went to the institution, but failed to identify him. She said that the wounded man in certain respects answered the description of the one who robbed her, but that the robber did not have a mustache. Courtney has a mustache.

Responding to the hold-up call about 10 a. m., Policeman J. F. Ryan and R. W. Moyer were given a description of the man who robbed the cash register of about $10. They searched the vicinity, and sighting Courtney at Second and H streets northeast, ordered him to halt. He started to run and the policemen gave chase, firing as they ran. They captured him several blocks away.

A search revealed the fact that the only thing on his persons was a "numbers" book, which, he said, was the reason he ran when the policemen accosted him.

A written report on the incident will be submitted to Maj. and Supt. Ernest W. Brown today.

McGee Issues Warning Against Fake Aid Crews

A warning that racketeers posing as collectors for the Salvation Army are canvassing the city for contributions of clothing, shoes and old furniture was issued yesterday by Brigadier John G. McKee, director of the social service branch of the army.

Brigadier McGee urged all citizens, before making contributions, to make sure the solicitors are authorized agents of the army. Trucks painted with the army's colors but without its insignia are being used by the racketeers, Brigadier McGee said.

WJSV TRANSMITTER IS ORDERED CLOSED ON NAVY PROTESTS

Columbia Unit, However, Is Confident Tests Will End Conflict.

Station WJSV, local outlet of the Columbia Broadcasting System, was ordered by the Federal Radio Commission yesterday to close down its transmitter on Mount Vernon highway between Alexandria and Washington, because of the interference it is causing with the work of the Naval Research Laboratory, located at Bellevue, D. C., a mile opposite the transmitter site. The order is to take effect May 1 unless the condition is remedied meantime.

It is not likely, however, that Washingtonians will be deprived of the program offerings of Station WJSV on that date. The station management hopes, by means of a directional antenna, to eliminate the interference. Experiments are now being carried on nightly.

Long Legal Battle Looms.

If the interference is not minimized and the commission seeks an enforcement of its order, WJSV will immediately ask for an injunction and the case will go to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. WJSV must resort to the courts if it has any hope of collecting from the Government the amount it will cost to move the transmitter to another location. It promises to be a long-drawn-out legal battle if WJSV can not control its signals by means of a directional antenna.

This case is certainly different from any other in which the Radio Commission has had to make a decision. WJSV, after a long and careful search for a transmitter site, which took up most of last summer, finally came to the conclusion that the marshy land along the banks of the Potomac River would be ideal.

Extension Will Be Asked.

Both WJSV and the Federal Radio Commission entirely overlooked the fact that the Naval Research Laboratory's radio plant was so close by. And the Naval Research Laboratory did not look across the river and discover the WJSV antenna towers until too late.

Finally, the Navy Department made a formal complaint to the Federal Radio Commission that experimental work at the Naval Research Laboratory could not proceed until the interference caused by WJSV's ground wave had been cleared up.

Within the next couple of days WJSV will file an application with the Federal Radio Commission asking permission to continue operation experimentally after May 1.

Veterans' Benefit Cuts Explained at Meeting

More than 300 representatives of veterans' organizations gathered in the auditorium of the Interior Building last night and heard explanations of the recent veterans' benefit appropriation slash.

Meeting under the auspices of the Federal Chapter, No. 6, of the Disabled American Veterans, those attending asked questions on the economy measure. Ralph Chambers, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the D. A. V., and Earl Hendricks, member of the Federal Chapter, spoke.

O'Brien Mail Case Is Nolle Prossed

News was received here yesterday that the mail fraud indictment against Daniel J. O'Brien, former managing director of the Hotel Mayflower, has been nolle prossed in the Federal Court at Pittsburgh.

Mr. O'Brien was named with five officers of the American Bond & Mortgage Co. on charges growing out of the 1928 refinancing of the Mayflower in an indictment September 17, 1931. Upon arraignment he was granted a separate trial. This was said to be the single instance where the operating head of the hotel was jointly accused with the same American Bond & Mortgage Co. officials who were indicted in several cities due to Department of Justice activity.

The motion for the nolle prosequi was made by United States Attorney Louis B. Graham under authority of a letter from Attorney General Homer Cummings. Mr. O'Brien resigned his position with the Mayflower following the indictment. He is now the manager of several hotels in Brooklyn. Attorneys William E. Leahy and Edmund M. Toland, of Washington, represented O'Brien. The bond company officials were found guilty in Pittsburgh, but were later granted a new trial.

Suit Asks $15,000 From Hotel Receivers

Myra Collins, of the Wardman Park Hotel, yesterday in the District Supreme Court, brought suit against the receivers of the Shoreham Hotel, John E. Laskey, Spencer Gordon, and Francis E. Duehay, for $15,000 damages.

The suit charged that the complainant fell through a man-hole cover in the garage attached to the Shoreham Hotel in July, 1931. She claimed to have suffered serious injuries.

VIRGINIA BOUNDARY DISPUTE IS AVOIDED ON ADVICE OF BRIDE

City Heads Refuse to Take Jurisdiction on Land Near Highway Span.

The District Commissioners yesterday adopted the recommendation of Corporation Counsel William W. Bride and declined to assume jurisdiction over the territory just south of the Highway Bridge, but they declined to ask Congress for funds at this time to make an exhaustive inquiry into the question.

This stand was taken in rejecting an application from M. I. O'Boyle to operate a gasoline station on land fronting on the Virginia approach to the Highway Bridge. The reason for the application is that the Virginia gasoline tax is twice that of the District.

The application revived the old question of whether the territory on which the Washington-Hoover Airport and minor business places are located is actually a part of the original District of Columbia as ceded to the Federal Government by Maryland.

William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, held that the tract bounded by Roaches Run on the south is properly a part of the District, and the Public Utilities Commission acted accordingly. Mr. Bride admits that the contention may be correct, but he advised the Commissioners not to change the policy of 100 years' standing without legal process.

McCarran Draws Place On District Committee

Senator Patrick McCarran, of Reno, Nev., yesterday was appointed to one of the Democratic vacancies on the Senate District Committee by Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader.

Senator McCarran, who succeeded Tasker L. Oddie, Republican, is just starting a six-year term in the Senate. A former judge of the Nevada Supreme Court, he has already taken an active part in the chamber's proceedings. He will attend his first committee meeting today.

Dr. Gregory to Address Engineer School Dinner

Dr. John H. Gregory, professor of civil and sanitary engineering at Johns Hopkins University, and a member of the engineering advisory board of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, will speak tonight at the annual banquet of the George Washington University School of Engineering at the Mayflower Hotel.

Dr. Gregory, a consulting engineer for more than twenty years and a member of the board of directors of the American Society of Civil Engineers, will have as his subject "Reminiscences of a Consulting Engineer."

2 Washington Women Lose $2,250 Jewelry

A wrist watch and bar pin, totaling $2,250 in value, were reported lost either in the Mayflower Hotel or on the street by two Washington women yesterday.

Mrs. Alexander W. Gregg, 2400 Sixteenth street northwest, reported the loss of the watch, described as being set with diamonds and marquis stones. It was valued at $750.

The bar pin was lost by Mrs. Harriet Kehlinger, of the Highlands Apartments. She said it was a bow-shaped platinum and gold pin, set with diamonds and valued at $1,500.

And in case you don't know who or what Pinkie is get in touch with Dr. J. C. Haley, owner of the store, and he will soon inform you that Pinkie is his 14-year-old cat, the pride of the neighborhood which disappeared several weeks ago.

If the cat is found dead there is a special spot in Aspen Hill Cemetery where it will be buried with ceremony.

AUTOPSY ORDERED IN DEATH AT HOTEL

An autopsy to determine the cause of the death of Mrs. Margaret Teresa Wallace, 51, found dead Thursday in her room at the Wardman Park Hotel, was ordered yesterday by Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald.

Mrs. Wallace, a buyer for the millinery and women's sport wear department of Woodward & Lothrop, was found dead by hotel employes who forced the door to her room after numerous telephone calls went unanswered. No marks of violence were found on her body.

She was last seen alive in the hotel lobby about 7:30 p. m. Thursday. Detective Sergt. George Darnell, investigating the case, reported that Mrs. Wallace's husband is not in Washington.

Mrs. Wallace came to Washington from New York about two years ago. Besides her husband, she is survived by a son, Walter Wallace, of New York. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Benefit Is Success At Sibley Hospital

Mrs. Roosevelt Is Guest of Woman's Guild at Linen Shower.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was the guest of the Woman's Guild of Sibley Memorial Hospital yesterday at the annual linen shower of the guild held in Rust Hall at the hospital.

Mrs. Roosevelt was received by the hospital board of directors and the president of the guild, Mrs. S. A. Mooers. She later was received at tea by the Ministers Wives Association of the Guild.

During the afternoon the guild was entertained by the Filipino Club Orchestra and the Rust Hall Glee Club. Mrs. Earl Klein and Miss Katherine Hand were soloists.

At the night session of the guild the women of the Hyattsville Presbyterian Church presented a play, "The Peabody Pew," by Kate Douglas Wiggins. Contributions of money and linen made during the day will go toward the upkeep of the hospital.

SLAYER OF HENRY WILL DIE JULY 21: PLEAS ARE DENIED

Two Attempts of Lawyers to Set Verdict Aside Futile in Court.

Charles Harris, convicted of the slaying of Milton (Milsie) Henry, small-time Washington gambler, will go to the electric chair in the District Jail on July 21, Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue ruled in District Supreme Court yesterday.

Harris heard the sentence without any visible emotion, though when he was found guilty two weeks ago he made a fervent plea to Justice O'Donoghue to escape being put in a death cell.

Attorneys for Harris made two belated attempts yesterday to have his conviction set aside. They asked for a new trial, which was denied, and they asked that imposition of sentence be deferred for a week to enable them to prepare additional affidavits supporting their request for a new trial.

Justice O'Donoghue refused to let the sentence go over for a week. He had previously allowed Harris an additional week, he said, and no further stay would be granted.

Notice of an appeal from the conviction was filed and indications were that a determined attempt would be made toward a reversal of the conviction in the appellate court.

Son Seeks Earl Tague After Long Separation

The aid of police has been enlisted in the search for Earl Tague, who is believed to have disappeared from his home here 15 years ago.

The search was renewed with vigor recently by his son, Richard J. Tague, 409 I street northeast, when friends reported that they believed they saw the elder Tague driving through Washington in a car bearing Florida license tags. The father and son became separated 22 years ago. In the meantime, the younger Tague married and would like to introduce his 7-month-old son to his grandfather.

Soviet Recognition Protest Organized

Various Groups Meet to Arrange Mass Meeting at Auditorium.

Representatives of numerous patriotic, veterans', religious and labor organizations yesterday met at the headquarters here of the Sons of the American Revolution to discuss plans for the mass meeting April 18 at the Washington Auditorium in protest against the recognition of Soviet Russia by the United States.

At the conclusion of the session it was decided to meet again Tuesday night for further business in connection with the protest gathering.

Admission will be free but will be by ticket, it was decided. Tickets will be obtainable through all of participating organizations and through Lieut. Horace Lineberg, of the Police Department; Traffic Bureau, chairman of the hall arrangements committee and commander of the Police Post of the American Legion.
